Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—[Speal.]—In admonishing the Supreme urt in his message to congress esterday to adopt a more liberal ttitude toward novel legislation, resident Roosevelt, it was learned day, acted in accord with a carelly considered plan for the revival the federal control of agriculture, dustry, and commerce, and other atures of the New Deal outlawed the court.

The President's program calls for e enactment of laws invoking the ower of the federal government to ring about adoption of minimum age standards, the limitation of ours of work, the abolition of child bor, the eradication of unfair competition, the control of volume of roduction, the fixing of prices, and her devices of the planned econmy embraced in the invalidated AA, NRA, and Guffey coal control.

Issue Up to Courts.

Mr. Roosevelt, who is expected to re his program in his second augural address on Jan. 20, intends press for the passage of this leglation in a somewhat different rm from that declared unconstitunal by the Supreme court and en put it squarely up to the court give the New Deal the benefit the doubt.

The President deliberately put the urt "on the spot," in effect servg notice upon the tribunal that less it rules more favorably on ew Deal innovations he will take her steps to remove the present dicial obstacles to the consummaon of his program. He is supreme confident that the people are alost solidly behind him in this acon, that this is the meaning of his election by overwhelming popular ajority. The White House gave it t during the day that several hunred telegrams of commendation aleady have been received.

Recalled today with a significance ot attached to it at the time was r. Roosevelt's inquiry when he arved at the speaker's office yestery to address congress.

REGENTS ORDER HIM TO GIVE UP HIS JOB AT ONCE

Ouster Is Decreed by Vote of 8 to 7.

BULLETIN.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Fraternity house spokesmen on the campus reported late tonight that they had received telephone calls from an anonymous caller urging them to gather at Bascom hall at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning for a demonstration and walkout in protest of the ouster of President Frank. A spokesman for the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house said that reports of the proposed demonstration also had been circulated in the dormitories. He said he could not say whether any members of fraternities would join the demonstration.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Dr. Glenn Frank, nationally known publicist, educator, orator, and writer, was tossed out of his job as president of the University of Wisconsin tonight in a swift and ruthless action by the board of regents dominated by Gov. Philip F. La Follette.

In seven minutes, after two days of so-called hearing of charges against Dr. Frank, the regents, by a vote of 8 to 7, not only refused to renew his contract as president, which expires next June 30, but ordered him to take a leave of absence with pay until that time.

Dr. Frank, in other words, was driven from the university presidency, which he has held since 1925, in a little more than two hours after the regents acted. His enforced leave of absence began at midnight.

Start Seeking Successor.

Dean George C. Sellery of the college of letters and sciences was appointed acting president and the executive committee of the regents was ordered to go to work at the task of selecting a new president.

The narrow little board room just outside the president's office in Bascom hall was the scene of this decapitation. The trustees were surrounded by students who banged away at the windows, pounded at the doors and climbed through transoms to get into the place. A few close friends of the regents and Dr. Frank were permitted inside and the rest of the space was taken by newspaper men and photographers.

The action was taken in open meeting after a day of wrangling. When the full import of the resolution was made known, Dr. Frank asked permission to make a "ten sentence statement." There was a disposition to deny this, but he was finally permitted to speak.

Dr. Frank's Statement.

"This resolution is in perfect keeping with this procedure," he said. "It comes as the climax to an attitude and a desire which has been known to me since the day the news broke in New York. I was lunching at the Players' club with George Middleton, then husband of Fola La Follette. He ran over to me and said, 'Don't get your neck in that. It is not the wishes of the family.'

"It is in perfect keeping with the orgy of deception, intrigue, and secrecy which has dominated this proceeding. They have now offered as acting president the dean of the college of letters and sciences whom I was ordered in effect to discharge from his post as one of my first acts as president. This is obviously a smoke screen to hide their real purpose."

There was little demonstration after the vote. The resolution was moved by Regent Clough Gates and was put through without debate by Harold M. Wilkie, president of the board.

Raises Legal Question.

Regent Daniel H. Grady said that it was illegal to force the president to take a leave of absence, but there was no debate on this.

Dr. Frank had nothing further to say after the ax had fallen. He was apparently unprepared for the leave of absence feature, as he had told the regents earlier that whatever they did he was going to prepare a complete report on the state of the university for their benefit. They had not given him time, he said, to do this.

Gov. La Follette is to hold a press

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 7.—Rumors whirled about London today of a rift between the duke of Kent, youngest brother of King George VI. of England, and his duchess, the former Princess Marina of Greece. It is even stated that Lloyd's is offering betting odds on the possibility of a royal family splitup.

The rumors developed following descriptions printed in the weekly News Review of the duke's New Year's eve visit with Mrs. William Allen to a phrenologist.

Woman Twice Married.

Mrs. Allen, 38 years old, has been twice married. She is the former mannequin, Paula Gellibrand. She was first married to a Cuban, Marquis de Casa Maury, and divorced him to marry William Allen, former member of parliament for West Belfast.

According to the News Review, the Daily Mail and other papers at first tried to make a mystery out of the duke's visit to the phrenologist, Evelyn Bool.

It was reported that the duke's companion was Lady Anglesey, the former Victoria Marjorie Harriet Manners, sister of the duke of Windsor's friend, Lady Diana Manners.

It was two days later that the duke's friend was identified as Mrs. Allen.

Tried to Keep Prank Secret.

Neither the duke of Kent nor Mrs. Allen expected to be observed on their prank to celebrate the last day of the old year. They made the appointment in the name of Allen to conceal the duke's identity.

According to the News Review, they were found out by Ted Bacon, a roving photographer, who was prowling around Fleet street near the phrenologist's office when he spotted the two black sports cars from which emerged the duke and his beauteous blonde friend.

What Happened.

Ensuing events were described by the News Review as follows:

"Up the linoleum covered stairs they hurried through the door bearing the pencil scrawled notice, 'Come In,' into the parlor of the first floor consulting rooms of Mrs. Stackpoole

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, Jan. 7.—One of Japan's famous golden dolphins crowning the roof of the great castle in the city of Nagoya has been despoiled of fifty-eight solid gold scales, valued at 850,000 yen [about $242,000].

The dolphins, which are regarded as a national art treasure, were protected by an iron net. When a city official inspected them this morning he found that the net had been cut and that out of a total of 104 scales only 46 remained.

The dolphins, which are celebrated throughout the world, were placed on the roof of the castle in 1610 by the famous Warrior Kiyomasa Kito. Each scale is a large gold coin of the period. The male fish, which has 126 scales, was found intact.

PAY $4,000 FOR 3 INCHES OF LAND TO CLEAR A TITLE

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Dr. A. B. Culhane, receiver for the Rockford National bank, today paid $4,000 for a strip of land averaging 3 inches in width upon which part of the south wall of the bank building now stands.

Payment was made by the receiver in a move to clear the title of the bank property so the building may be sold. The land, ranging from seven-hundredths of a foot in width on South Main street to a foot on South Wyman street, was used for the bank building wall, Dr. Culhane said, through a contractor's mistake. The deed for the land was obtained from Mrs. Sumner Oliver.

WOOLEN UNDIES PROTECT DUTCH BRIDESMAIDS

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Woolen undershirts protected the bridesmaids at Princess Juliana's wedding today against the none too modern heating system in the Groote kerk [great church].

The woolen undies had specially designed straps and buttons so they could be slipped off easily when the girls returned to the palace for the wedding feast.

Thoughtful Queen Wilhelmina, it was understood, suggested the cold protectors.

Mr. Plese Gets a Following—an Honest One!

With a hole in his pocket and a song in his heart, Matthew Plese strolled through downtown Joliet yesterday. He was happy because he had received $991 for the bond he had just sold, he was thinking of the hot dog he was going to eat, and—

He didn't know about the hole in his pocket.

Mr. Plese was pleased. The universe, including the gentlemen who bought bonds and the gentlemen who sold hot dogs, had his unqualified O. K.

Behind Mr. Plese hurried citizens who were as honest as he was happy, picking up a $100 bill here and chasing $50s and $20s wherever the wind blew them. Mrs. Mary Jackson led the hunt, capturing three $100 bills and a $1 one.

Quite unaware that he hadn't a dime left to pay his check, Mr. Plese was in a department store restaurant at 209 North Chicago street sipping the coffee that went with his sandwich and making a note to include coffee in his approval of things in general when friends, neighbors, and utter strangers began swarming in.

Wait for Late Returns.

They said to guess what he had in his pocket, and it turned out to be the hole in his left side trousers pocket. Then they began giving him back his money and told him to wait until those who had to chase bills quite a distance came in.

Mr. Plese said he didn't know what his wife would think of his carelessness, but they reminded him that he could tell her she shouldn't have let holes get in his pockets in the first place.

The session at the hot dog counter got to be quite a gay affair—what with more and more folk wandering in with money for Mr. Plese.

Worried? Not Mr. Plese!

He had all his money back but $140 when he finally left the restaurant.

And Mr. Plese, who learned more about the human race's honesty in fifteen minutes than he'd learned in all his 61 years, said he knew the finders of the rest would be around to his home at 410½ Vine street, Joliet, just as soon as they discovered whose money they had found.

Head of Title and Trust Co.; Ill Two Years

Abel Davis, chairman of the board of the Chicago Title and Trust company, a soldier, and a leader in many Chicago affairs, died last night in his home, 600 Sheridan road, Glencoe. He had been a victim of anemia for two years and had not been in his office since last May. He had been critically ill since Jan. 1. The immediate cause of his death was pneumonia.

Mr. Davis was 58 years old, a lifelong resident of Chicago. He started his career as an errand boy in the shipping room of a State street department store, at a salary of $1.50 a week. Transferred to the executive offices of the store, he studied law at nights, receiving a bachelor of laws degree from Northwestern university in 1901.

Former County Recorder.

A year later, when he was 24 years old, he was elected a member of the state legislature, and in 1904 he became Cook county recorder. Mr. Davis held this office and practiced law until 1912, when he was elected vice president of the Chicago Title and Trust company. Since 1931 he has been chairman of the board.

Mr. Davis' military record started in the Spanish-American war, in which he served as a private in Cuba. In peace time he rose to become a major in the old Dandy First Infantry, with which he served on the Mexican border, and he went to France in 1918 as colonel of the 132d Infantry.

His regiment saw hot service at the front during the six months before the armistice. It was in front of Amiens in July, engaged in the Meuse-Argonne offensive in September, attacked with the 17th French army corps east of the Meuse in October, and was in the thick of the fighting at St. Hilaire three days before the armistice. For repulsing an enemy attack at this point Mr. Davis was awarded the distinguished service cross. He also received the distinguished service medal.

Active in Civic Affairs.

After the war he became a brigadier general, commander of the 66th infantry brigade, Illinois National Guard. He resigned this command in 1930, and retired from the guard in 1935 as major general.

Mr. Davis engaged in many civic activities. As chairman of the citizens' committee on Cook county's forests he was one of the leaders in the development of the forest preserve system. He served as a member of the Chicago plan commission, of the constitutional convention in 1922, and as a trustee of A Century of Progress Exposition.

In 1922 Mr. Davis married Miss Marjorie Mayer, daughter of the late David Mayer and a niece of the late Levy Mayer, noted attorney. Mrs. Davis survives him, with their three children, Florence, Abel, and Jean.

Mr. Davis is also survived by four brothers and three sisters, all residents of Chicago. They are Dr. H. I., James, Ralph, and Maurice Davis and Mrs. Herman Schur, Mrs. Louis Etshokin and Mrs. Julius Quasser.

MURPHY FIGHTS FOR A TRUCE IN MOTORS STRIKE

Lincoln Body Plant Closed Down.

The Day in the Strike

1. Gov. Murphy ends night peace parleys with company and union officials at 3 a. m. today, unable to end strike tieup, but faintly indicating some hope.
2. Briggs body plant which supplies Lincoln, a Ford division, closed by strike, with more trouble for Ford predicted momentarily.
3. Two riots in Flint, one in the morning in which six men were injured, and one in the evening when 500 marched on the jail demanding release of two arrested. Flying squadrons of strikers stop trucks and impound General Motors cargoes on highways around Toledo.
4. Plants closed or curtailed yesterday included parts and service department of Chevrolet plant at Janesville; 450 men sent home by Bendix at South Bend because of strike-closed outlets; Walker-Ajax accessory plant at Racine crippled by strike of 650 men.
5. Plants to close today include Chevrolet's main plant at Flint, supplying engines to all assemblers; Chevrolet foundry at Saginaw, Mich.; Chevrolet carburetor and small parts plant at Bay City, Mich.; Chevrolet transmission plant at Muncie, Ind.

BY WILLIAM O'NEIL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 8 [Friday].—Tired but not discouraged, Gov. Frank Murphy wound up a night of conferences with company and union leaders at 3 a. m. today, leaving the widespread labor tieup of the General Motors corporation still distant from solution. The governor was not without hope, however.

"I think we are moving toward our objective," he told newspaper men. "We are working toward a settlement and considering a definite formula upon which negotiations for such a settlement can be carried on."

Gov. Murphy refused to elaborate. His immediate objective, it is obvious, is to bring the two disputant sides together in joint conference. He intimated that neither side as yet had "asked" for such a conference. Nevertheless, that is admittedly the first step. That accomplished, an immediate truce, it was assumed, would not be an impossibility. However, nothing definite may be prophesied.

Hastens to Meet Labor Men.

The governor first conferred last night with William S. Knudsen, executive vice president of General Motors. This meeting broke up shortly after 1 a. m. today. Neither Gov. Murphy nor Mr. Knudsen had any comment to make. The governor then hastened to a downtown hotel and closeted himself with Homer Martin, international president of the United Automobile Workers of America, which called the strike, and John Brophy and Adolph Germer, CIO chiefs. Federal Conciliators James Dewey, Edward C. McDonald, and John E. O'Connor sat in. They also attended the Knudsen parley.

The governor abandoned plans for "all-night meetings, if necessary," following these conferences, and announced he would resume the get-togethers this forenoon, starting off with the company officials. His abandonment of his all-night session plans was considered by some observers to indicate stonewall opposition from both sides, but against this the governor mentioned the cheery news "we are moving toward our objective."

Strike Flares in Briggs Plant.

The governor met early yesterday with opposing leaders, and while he was so engaged a "spontaneous" strike flared in the Briggs plant, which supplies bodies for Lincoln, a Ford unit. Mr. Martin denied calling this strike.

Immediately upon hearing of the strike today, Ford officials conferred hurriedly with Martin, then rushed out to the scene of the strike, ejected the men still in the building, and declared the plant closed. Those conversant with the Briggs situation predict confidently that more such "spontaneous" actions are likely to tie up the vast Ford body output at any moment.

"Union Activity" Blamed.

The plant closed yesterday employs between 2,000 and 2,500 men. Reports at union headquarters said the men staged the strike when a group of thirty or forty body finishers were laid off for union activity. Neither Briggs nor Ford authorities would discuss the situation except to say that it was "all a mistake."

"We have never called a sit-down strike," Martin asserted. "What we will do about this one remains to be seen. No, I wouldn't say that this was the opener of a general attack on Ford."

If the plant remains down for any appreciable period it will mean the closing of the Lincoln factory.

Gov. Murphy drove here yesterday morning from Lansing and went into an immediate conference with Knudsen of General Motors. Martin was notified of the governor's presence and left his office in the Fisher building across the street.

After leaving Knudsen's office, the governor and James Dewey, federal conciliator, went to the office where Martin and his Committee for Industrial Organization advisers were waiting. When the governor was forced to leave for Lansing, Martin and his advisers returned to their offices, voicing a smiling: "No comment."

Agrees to "No Removal."

It was learned, however, that Knudsen agreed that no machinery or dies would be removed from closed plants if sit-down strikers are withdrawn from them by the union officials.

President Alfred P. Sloan left last ble there yesterday afternoon.

Shortly after Murphy left for Lansing, Martin notified him that the union was looking to the state to prevent violence that might be caused by a "vigilante" group of irate Flint citizens. It was reported from Flint that Martin's appeals had been too late to prevent an outbreak of trouble there this afternoon.

22,000 More Out Today.

The reports from Flint said that the "vigilantes" were threatening to oust "sit-down" strikers from two Fisher body plants there.

A total of 22,000 men will be added tomorrow to the 56,000 now out of work in General Motors plants, the company announced late yesterday. The plants which will not be in operation today because of lack of supplies, or because of too large a "bank" of material to be shipped out, are as follows:

Chevrolet engine factory—Flint—lack of materials—14,375 men.

The closing of these plants, the company announced, will bring the grand total of those out of work to 72,429 men and women.

Change Injunction Venue.

General Motors' offices announced yesterday afternoon that their petition asking that the injunction suit ordering sit-down strikers out of the Fisher plants in Flint be transferred from the jurisdiction of Judge Edward D. Black of Genesee county, who issued the injunction, had been granted. The announcement said that the case had been reassigned to Judge Paul V. Gadola.

The petition of the union, asking that Judge Black be impeached, was received by George A. Schroeder, speaker of the Michigan house. Schroeder said he would send it to the judiciary committee.

The corporation announcement said their attorneys were unaware that Judge Black was a stockholder in the General Motors corporation.

"Immediately upon learning, from an inspection of the stock records, that Judge Black appeared as a holder of its common stock our legal counsel were instructed to procure a transfer of the case to another circuit judge," the announcement said.

GIMP ROSENBAUM OUT AGAIN.

Sanford [Gimp] Rosenbaum, 44 years old, 5510 Ellis avenue, once a bodyguard of Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, was freed of disorderly conduct charges by Judge Eugene L. McGarry in Town Hall court yesterday when police said an investigation disclosed no evidence against him.

WATCHES STRIKES

Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, kept busy in Washington trying to settle various strikes, including that against General Motors.

HEAR SUIT UNDER DRAMSHOP ACT; 1ST SINCE REPEAL

The first Cook county suit brought under the dramshop act since repeal of the prohibition law went to trial yesterday before a jury and Judge Albert M. Crampton of Mpline, sitting in the Superior court here. The dramshop act makes the owner of a building liable for damages arising from the sale of liquor on his premises.

Frank C. Rathje, a trustee of the Foreman-Becker real estate trust, defendant, is being sued by Mrs. Anna O'Connor, 3344 Congress street, whose son Joseph, 33 years old, was fatally shot on June 20, 1934, during a brawl in a tavern at 3447 Madison street, which is in a building owned by the trust. O'Connor was shot by Richard Rogers, a nephew of former Ald. John Rogers.

Attorney Don Peebles for Rathje told the jurors that he based the defense on the contention that a trustee cannot legally diminish a trust estate.

ACT AT TOP PACE TO PUT END TO MARITIME TIEUP

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Maritime negotiators moved at full speed tonight amid private predictions that the shipping strike would end soon—perhaps in two or three weeks.

Shipowners completed a new agreement with the marine engineers, made a "liberal" offer to the cooks and stewards, and apparently neared an accord with two other unions, the radio telegraphers, and the masters, mates, and pilots.

They previously had reached tentative agreements with the sailors and the marine firemen. The deep sea operators must confer further with the longshoremen.

Flint, Mich., Jan. 8 (Friday).—Union headquarters announced early today that 500 strikers from the Chevrolet motor plant will march on city hall this forenoon.

Flint, Mich., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Trouble of potentially dangerous proportions flared here for a few minutes tonight when 500 jeering strikers, massed in front of the Beach street police headquarters, were driven away by the threat of tear gas bombs. They moved away slowly but orderly on the pleas of their leaders.

It was the second disturbance of the day and was directly related to the first—a riot in which six men were injured. The riot broke out in front of the main gates of the Chevrolet motor plant, following announcement that the huge engine department of the company would be closed down tomorrow night, terminating all Chevrolet operations in Flint.

Nearly 1,000 milled around. Fists struck out indiscriminately. Police and deputy sherifs finally waded into mêlée and arrested Roy Slee of Toledo, a U. A. W. A. volunteer organizer, and Harold Hubbard, a Fisher body employé.

Lock Them Both Up.

The two men were locked up in the city jail, a rear annex of the two story police headquarters building. This building also houses the two Municipal courts.

The riot was precipitated, police said, by Roy Reuther, U. A. W. organizer. Reuther it was who inspired tonight's march on police headquarters. The purpose of the march was to "see Slee and Hubbard." Assembling 500 strikers in the Pengelly building, two blocks from the police building, Reuther, in strident voice, urged all to demand the right to see their jailed associates.

"We don't want trouble," he shouted, "but if they use tear gas bombs or guns, workers from other cities will march on Flint 10,000 strong. The police today rushed in and took two of our men, Slee and Hubbard. And now, on orders of General Motors, they refuse to let anybody see them. We want to see them, now!"

They March on Jail.

Answering cries of "We want Hubbard" and "We want Slee," the 500 echoed Reuther's demand. A few minutes later the strikers assembled outside, and with a semblance of military formation marched the short distance to the police station and jail.

Police were waiting. Service guns, blackjacks, and tear gas bombs were in readiness for immediate use. Doors and windows were barricaded or manned with armed officers. Sherif Thomas W. Wolcott of Genessee county and Police Chief James V. Wills held a hurried council of war.

In another minute the army of strikers pushed upon the opposite side of Beach street. In front of the massed strikers leaders delivered short talks. They spoke from a car equipped with loud speakers. They announced they would appoint a committee of ten to demand an interview with the prisoners, Slee and Hubbard. The committee pounded on the door. Police covered them with guns. They retired.

A few minutes later Sherif Wolcott and Chief Wills stepped out. "I'll give you men five minutes to disperse," Wolcott warned. He made no threat.

As he finished speaking he stepped aside with Wills. Suddenly ten policemen, wearing gas masks and capes, strode through the door with tear gas guns. They held them level with the crowd outside, and advanced slowly. From the loud speaker on the automobile came the plea of an unidentified leader. "Disperse peaceably, men. Return to our headquarters."

The crowd melted. Several score jeered. But no one attempted to stand. By the time the ten policemen reached the opposite side of the street the mob was retreating toward its stronghold.

In addition to the cessation of all its operations here, the Chevrolet Motor company announced that its iron foundry and small parts plants in Saginaw and Bay City, Mich., would be suspended by Friday night. Approximately 7,800 men are employed in the latter two cities.

The Chevrolet engine plant here, which produces power plants for all the company's assembly lines, employs 14,575 men. Its closing will increase to approximately 30,000 the number of General Motors employés idle in Flint.

The Buick Motor company plant, which employs more than 16,000 men, is still operating in some departments, but assembly has been stopped by the closing of Fisher plant No. 1, which supplies Buick bodies.

The organization of an anti-strike movement here was announced by George E. Baysen, former mayor of Flint.

Union leaders charged the movement was financed by General Motors and pointed out that Baysen for 22 years was a paymaster at the Buick company.

A. F. of L. Unions Open Attack on Rebels' Strikes in Ohio

Cleveland, O., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—The dispute between the General Motors corporation and the United Automobile Workers of America, which has thrown more than 50,000 men out of work, was entered today by four labor craft unions of the American Federation of Labor.

The auto workers' union, which is affiliated with John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, was branded by the A. F. of L. affiliates as an "outlaw union" which does not have "jurisdiction to speak for our members."

The intervening unions requested the reopening of General Motors' strike bound Fisher Body plant here where 7,000 workers have been idle for two weeks by a strike called by the U. A. W. A.

Send Letter to Scafe.

A letter sent to L. R. Scafe, general manager of the Fisher Body plant here, was signed by F. M. Harris of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; John Roddy of the United Association of Plumbers and Steamfitters of the United States and Canada; Eric Peterson of the International Association of Machinists, and John W. Jockel of the Bricklayers, Masons, and Plasterers' International union.

The latter stated that the U. A. W. U. "would have the owners of various automobile concerns and the public believe that in one way or another it has been designated to act as the sole collective bargaining agency for all the employés in the industry, but that 'nothing could be farther from the truth.'"

"Never Took Strike Vote."

The four craft unions pointed out that their organizations "have had for a long period of years many thousands of members working in the various plants of the General Motors corporation." It said that "no strike vote has ever been taken in the Fisher Body plant in Cleveland."

It was said similar letters would be sent to managers of all General Motors factories now closed by strikes.

While numerous other strikes in Ohio remained deadlocked, a walkout of 75 union tank truck drivers was ended at Akron. The strikers voted to accept an agreement which terminated a county wide gasoline tieup and had caused hundreds of cars to be stranded without fuel. Akron gasoline station attendants who had walked out in sympathy with the drivers planned to reopen their businesses immediately.

Announcement was made at Toledo that relief committees of both Chevrolet workers, on strike at the Chevrolet Motor Ohio company, and the striking flat glass workers of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company, will go to Columbus tomorrow to seek state relief for men participating in the walkouts.

Flying squadrons of Chevrolet strikers drove into highways around Toledo and stopped trucks carrying General Motors shipments in an attempt to persuade drivers to stop hauling such products.

Police Stop Indiana Searches.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—The seizure by strikers of trucks carrying General Motors parts and products was halted at Anderson today on orders of state and local police after six trucks had been impounded.

Hugh Thompson, organizer for the United Automobile Workers, said he had issued orders that impounding cease and declared that 350 men who had formed a road patrol around Anderson had disbanded.

At Muncie Fred W. Skusa, manager of the Muncie Chevrolet plant announced the plant would suspend operations tomorrow until further notice because of the Fisher strike at Cleveland. Approximately 1,500 employés will be affected. The plant manufactures Chevrolet transmissions and has been running at 24 hour capacity schedule.

At South Bend Walter J. Buettner, official of the Bendix Products corporation, announced that about 450 workers have been laid off because of the crippling effects of the automobile strike.

Chevrolet at Janesville Closes.

Janesville, Wis., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Threats of striking United Automobile Workers to start picketing today caused the shutdown of the parts and service department of the Chevrolet Motor company along with production units.

City Manager Henry Traxler had contended that because the parts and service department was a nonproductive unit it might remain open despite the strike which halted operations at the Fisher Body and Chevrolet assembly plants early in the week.

At Racine a sit-down strike of members of the auto workers union was started at the Walker Ajax company, manufacturers of automobile accessories. About 650 employés are involved.

FLU-PNEUMONIA EPIDEMIC GAINS THROUGHOUT U. S.

Bundesen Calls Chicago Outbreak Mild.

Influenza and pneumonia are on the increase in all parts of the United States and Europe, health authorities reported yesterday. In Chicago the epidemic was described as comparatively mild by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, who said his reports indicated no marked increase in the number of new cases.

Since Jan. 1, however, 189 deaths in Chicago have been attributed to flu and pneumonia, as compared with 77 for the same period last year. In the 24 hours ending at 9 a. m. yesterday 101 new cases were reported in the city, and 31 deaths. These figures, Dr. Bundesen said, are approximately the same as those reported for the last few days.

Affects Whole Nation.

In Washington the public health service reported that the entire nation was affected by the diseases. The Indian bureau announced a special $5,000 allotment to combat a mild outbreak in the Cheyenne river reservation in South Dakota.

New York City reported a slight increase in the number of influenza cases yesterday, with the total cases estimated at 300,000. Eighteen deaths were attributed to flu and 70 to pneumonia. In the last week 299 deaths have been caused in New York by the two diseases.

In the Rocky mountain states deaths from influenza and pneumonia totaled 142 yesterday since the outbreak of the epidemic there on Dec. 12. Schools in Denver and nearby towns have been closed as a precautionary move.

4,000 Under Quarantine.

In Dayton, O., 4,000 residents and employés of the National Military home were placed under quarantine restrictions to prevent the spread of flu.

Reports from Europe said the epidemic started in Germany last fall, and now has spread to nearly all countries. In the greater London area this week there have been 566 deaths from influenza, pneumonia, and bronchitis. In other large cities of England and Wales the diseases took 93 lives.

ASSURES SAFETY TO KIDNAPER IN RETURN OF SON

Father Advises Requests Have Been Met.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—The long awaited "break" in the kidnaping of Charles Mattson appeared near realization tonight as it was disclosed the abductor apparently has satisfactorily identified himself to Dr. W. W. Mattson, the young victim's father.

This new turn in the case was intimated by the appearance of another advertisement in the personal column of the Seattle Times, the fourth in a series believed to be from the family of the 10 year old boy. The ad read:

"Mable—I am getting all the notes. Police are not intercepting them. I accept your method of identification. All requests have been carried out. I will do as instructed without anyone knowing.—Ann."

Law Agencies Inactive.

The bewhiskered, pistol flourishing man who took Charles from his home the night of Dec. 27 has been assured safety by the complete inactivity of all law enforcement agencies. The department of justice, state patrolmen, and city police all have acquiesced to the plea of Dr. Mattson that no action be taken which might endanger the life of his son.

Even the corps of newspapermen and photographers which has been at the Mattson residence during the last eleven days was absent today to give the kidnaper an open road to the family.

Meantime Charles' parents expressed new alarm that he might be suffering from exposure as the coldest weather of the winter enveloped the area where it is supposed he is being held. The thermometer registered 14 above zero during the night.

Fear Boy May Be Cold.

Dr. Mattson was apprehensive that Charles, recovering from a cold the night he was seized, might be seriously affected if he were being kept in an outlying, poorly heated shack as have some other kidnap victims.

The wealthy physician has made careful preparations for the boy's care when and if he is freed. It was expected the child, upon his release, immediately would be placed in a hospital instead of being taken to the large, old English style Mattson home.

Precautions also were being taken to prevent the boy from being excited. It was pointed out he might be released on an open road, as was young George Weyerhaeuser, and found by a resident.

Must Consider Son First.

"I've got to consider the boy first," said Dr. Mattson. "I don't know what condition he will be in when he is found."

While Charles is not delicate, he is of slight stature and never has been robust. When he was taken from the living room of his home he was wearing clothing suitably only indoors—blue knickers, a blue jacket and house slippers.

However, a report yesterday from a merchant in Shelton, Wash., indicated the kidnaper may have bought heavy underwear and a sweater for him.

WINS $2,500 FOR EMBARRASSMENT BY CIGARET AD

New York, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Crawford Burton, New York Stock exchange trader and gentleman jocky, was awarded $2,500 damages by a federal court jury today in his $75,000 libel suit against the Crowell Publishing company.

Burton charged he was subjected to ridicule as a result of the publication of a cigaret testimonial for which he posed. The jury deliberated for five hours.

Two other actions based on the same photograph are pending.

Students Learn "Feeling" in Art by Dancing

Members of new free experimental art class in session at Art institute last night, where students first engaged in classical dancing and then sat down to record the movements through the medium of the brush. Both the dancers and the budding artists are members of the same class.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

TOM-TOM BOOMS IN ART INSTITUTE AS STUDENTS JIG

From All Stations They Get Rhythm.

BY MARCIA WINN.

A society matron and a stevedore, a milkman and a Bible student, a salesgirl and a Filipino cook—art students all—joined hands in the Art institute last night and danced and danced.

The dancing artists, whose antics were led by a semi-nude professional dancer posturing in the shadow of a dusty cast of Hercules, were members of an experimental art class conducted by Miss Helen Beach of Wilmette.

Until ten weeks ago, no member of the class, which includes some 65 Chicagoans from all walks of life, had ever touched a paint brush.

Tom Tom Replaces Brush.

A brazen tom-tom, thumped by a dancer in red tights, furnished the music. The professional dancer, Anne Rudolph, led the way. And jars of paint, brushes, and piles of white paper waited hopefully on the side lines.

"Let's dance red," caroled the leader.

Thump! Thump! Here They Are.

The milkman, whose first work of art was a blue milk bottle covered with frost designs, rolled up into a Tarzan attitude. A society matron went native with a ladylike skip.

"Let's get in pairs," commanded the leader. "The one on the left will be the dominating male. Now, just follow me . . ."

The resultant din, as the tom-tom still sounded, caused even cracked Hercules to shake. A lithe young colored boy, center on his high school basketball team, pranced merrily around, four jumps to a beat.

The Ferocity of Rhythm.

A young farmer, studying at the Moody Bible institute to be a missionary to India, loosened the collar of his bright blue shirt as he dragged his partner by leaps and jerks. A gray haired manufacturer stretched his arms heavenward with ferocious abandon.

Limp, perspiring, wan, they at last sat down to paint. As "swoops" [bold, big streaks of brush dipped in at least two colors] are the only painting movements officially permitted, they painted "swoops." But all painted dancers—all except the basketball player, who painted basketball players, and the Art institute director, who painted the jungle with a front gate to it.

INDICTMENTS AGAINST GEN. ROBERT E. LEE ARE DUG UP BY WPA

Richmond, Va., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Worn and all but forgotten indictments for treason against Gen. Robert E. Lee and other leaders of the confederacy were uncovered at the postoffice here today by WPA archives project workers.

Thirty-three indictments were found in wooden boxes along with other records of the United States District court of 1865-'68. The indictments are signed by C. H. Chandler, then United States attorney for the district of Virginia.

The faded papers charge that the confederate leaders "not having the fear of God before their eyes, nor weighing the duty of . . . allegiance, but being moved and seduced by the instigation of the devil . . . armed and arrayed in a warlike manner . . . did maliciously and traitorously assemble and gather themselves together . . . did ordain and carry on war against the said United States of America . . . against the constitution, government, peace, and dignity . . . against the form and statute . . . in such case made and provided."

Although the charges against Gen. Lee and the other southern leaders ultimately were nolle prossed, the chief of the confederate forces never received the presidential pardon he requested.

BOY TAKES DARE TO SHOOT, AND SO HIS CHUM IS DEAD

A playful scuffle and a boyish dare to shoot resulted in the death last evening of Michael Palmeri, 13 years old, 5722 South Richmond street. He was shot by his chum, Thomas Bruno, 14 years old, in young Bruno's home at 5738 South Richmond street.

The two boys were pupils in the Gage Park school, 55th and Rockwell streets. After school they went to the Bruno home. As they played in the basement Michael playfully struck Thomas with a dog leash. Angry over the blow, Thomas got his father's pistol out of a medicine chest and heard his friend's taunt: "I bet you're afraid to shoot."

He fired and the bullet passed through his friend's abdomen. The boy died while being taken to the Holy Cross hospital. Thomas told several conflicting versions of the tragedy to Chicago Lawn police, but he insisted he did not intend to kill the boy. He was held and was to be questioned further by Assistant State's Attorney Charles McNamara.

FOUND DEAD IN VACANT HOUSE.

The body of an unidentified man about 55 years old, who apparently had been dead about three days, was found yesterday in a vacant house at 4551 South Justine street.

TREASURER ACTS TO CLEAR UP TAX COLLECTION JAM

Steps to enforce collection of taxes on thousands of pieces of property were taken yesterday by County Treasurer Horace G. Lindheimer. He instructed his office force to get to work on several shelves full of court orders, which have been gathering dust for five years. The orders are all records of tax objections, which have been dismissed by County Judge Jarecki, but because they have never been recorded on the tax books, no steps could be taken to compel payment of the taxes involved.

Treasurer Lindheimer, who took office a month ago, said members of his staf, questioned as to why the orders had not been entered on the tax books as they were received from the country court, explained that in many cases action was withheld because of uncertainty that the dismissal order would stand.

AUTOIST GETS 10 DAYS IN DEATH OF POLICE SERGEANT

George Levinson, 31 years old, 941 Lakeside place, driver of an automobile which struck and killed Sergt. Frederick Fischer of the parks police, was sentenced to ten days in the county jail yesterday by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in the Safety court. Levinson was released on a $100 cash bond and given 60 days to perfect an appeal.

Levinson testified he was forced to swerve in order to avoid colliding with another car at Fullerton parkway and Lake Shore drive on Oct. 21. In doing so, he said, he struck the policeman. Judge Dougherty held that Levinson should have slowed down instead of swerving.

James Vedral, 25 years old, 2225 South Scoville avenue, Berwyn, was sentenced to five days for reckless driving. He also was released on $100 cash bond and given 60 days to appeal.

EJECT ALL ALIEN SOLDIERS FROM SPAIN—HITLER

Makes Own Condition for Ban on Troops.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 7.—Germany tonight informed Great Britain and France of her willingness to stop the enlistment of foreign volunteers in the Spanish civil war with a big "if" attached to her note.

To diplomatic observers the answer of Adolf Hitler's government was more of a defiant rejection of the plea of London and Paris than it was an acceptance.

Takes Jab at Bolsheviks.

In plain language Germany announced she would agree to keep foreign volunteers out of Spain on her own conditions. The Nazis even went further. They demanded the ejection of all foreign warriors from Spain and stressed that this demand "included political agitators."

The Hitler government took the occasion to take a dig at Britain and France by maintaining the Nazis originally urged an embargo on foreign volunteers, but that London and Paris merely shrugged at Berlin's suggestion.

While Germany was making its stand known, Italy submitted its reply to the pleas of France to keep foreigners out of the civil war. The Italian government's notes to the two powers were not identical, but were very similar. The Italians also demanded the removal of all foreign soldiers and agitators from Spain as their price for adhering to an effective ban on foreign volunteers in the war.

Text of German Note.

The text of Germany's reply follows:

"1. The German government must first of all express her unhappy astonishment over the fact that the British and French governments have considered it a necessary parallel with proceedings of the London nonintervention committee, to address for a second time a special and direct appeal to other governments represented on this committee.

"The question of prohibiting participation of foreign volunteers in the Spanish fighting, which constitutes the subject matter of this appeal, is now up for deliberation in the London committee.

"It is not evident in what way these deliberations can be furthered by a resort to such diplomatic actions by individual governments.

Urges Committee Be Discarded.

"If, however, the committee's method of deliberation in the Spanish question is regarded insufficient or inappropriate, then, in the interest of clarity and conformity in the treatment of this question, it would be better to discontinue the committee method altogether.

"2. Germany must take exception to the fact that through the new demarche of the British and French governments the impression was created that Germany was to blame for or falsely understood the problem of volunteers in the Spanish civil war.

"The German government therefore again points out it was she and the Italian government which from the very beginning urged prevention of the departure of volunteer participants in the Spanish fighting, and that it was, on the other hand, the British and French governments which rejected such an embargo.

Sees Switch in Attitude.

"3. The preliminary attitude of the British and French governments on this question could only be understood in the sense that both governments saw in the influx of volunteers no illegitimate interference in Spanish affairs.

"If both governments now take a different viewpoint, the German government must seriously ask herself whether the proposed embargo at the present moment would not actually amount to a one-sided advantage for the elements fighting against the Nationalist [insurgent] Spanish government.

"After the months' long unrestricted stream of bolshevist elements to Spain it is, indeed, difficult to avoid the impression that the embargo now would profit only the bolshevist side in Spain, which obviously is already sufficiently filled out with foreign volunteers.

"4. Inasmuch as the German government from the very beginning has advocated prevention of the flow of volunteers to Spain, she still is prepared to support all measures serving this purpose.

"She must, nevertheless, voice the expectation that now at least all the possibilities for direct and indirect intervention in Spanish fighting be once and for all excluded.

Lists Following Conditions.

"Therefore she makes her agreement contingent on the following conditions:

"[a] That other participating states shall decide to adopt the same attitude.

"[b] That the solution of any other problems connected with indirect intervention be immediately undertaken.

"[c] That all participating governments agree to unconditionally effective supervision of agreed upon prohibitions, which are to be carried out on the spot.

"The German government will instruct her representative on the London committee to conduct further representations on this basis. If agreement cannot be reached in the matter of preventing other forms of indirect intervention, the German government must reserve the right to reconsider her attitude toward the volunteers question.

Hits Political Agitators.

"The best solution for the volunteers problem would, in the opinion of the German government, be achieved if it would be possible to eject from Spain all non-Spanish participants in the fighting—that is, including political agitators and propagandists—in order to thus reëstablish the situation of last August.

"The German government would be sincerely gratified if the London committee would immediately consider how such a measure could effectively be carried out.

"On her part the German government is prepared to coöperate in every way toward this end."

France Hurries 34 Warships to Spain "in Case of Trouble"

PARIS, Jan. 7.—(AP)—France will concentrate 34 warships and an undetermined number of submarines near Spain within two weeks "in case they are needed in connection with the Spanish crisis," officials disclosed today.

The Atlantic fleet—including the battleships Lorraine, Provence, and Bretagne—will be the first to take the new positions, arriving off Casablanca, French Morocco, Saturday, officials declared.

They said the French ships, besides the three battleships, include one cruiser, 23 destroyers, four torpedo boats, two transports, and the depot ship Jules Verne, which will be acompanied by submarines.

Although French officials said the movements were part of annual maneuvers, authorities pointed out the vessels would be in "a strategic position" in relation to Spain.

Britain Warns Germans.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 7.—No great enthusiasm was manifested in British official circles tonight about the German and Italian replies to the Anglo-French request to stop sending volunteers to Spain.

This idea apparently was conveyed to Germany tonight when Capt. Anthony Eden, foreign secretary, called Dr. Ernest Woermann, German chargé d'affaires, to the foreign office. Eden is reported to have warned him that the British policy in the Spanish crisis might be changed quickly unless Italy and Germany cease their horseplay about nonintervention.

The British viewpoint is that neither a Fascist dictatorship nor a communist régime directed from Moscow would be established by the Spanish people if left to settle the civil war among themselves.

Replies Stir Suspicions.

The reaction of official quarters seems to be that Germany and Italy by the conditional nature of their replies aim to gain time to pursue their own ends and defeat the Anglo-French plan for an early ban on sending further volunteers.

The admiralty announced tonight that the British home fleet will sail Jan. 18 for the annual spring cruise. It is intended that the usual combined exercises with the Mediterranean fleet will start March 1 and end five days later when the combined fleets will assemble at Gibraltar.

Gen. Francisco Franco, leader of the Spanish rebels, lost temporarily, at least, the services of 500 Irish volunteers today. The men assembled at Waterford last night with the object of boarding a steamer this morning for Spain, but the vessel for some unexplained reason failed to appear. The volunteers were ordered to return to their homes to await further orders.

Stops Norwegian Steamer.

GIBRALTAR, Jan. 7.—A Spanish Fascist insurgent gunboat halted the Norwegian steamer Ibis in the Strait of Gibraltar tonight. The Ibis was ordered to proceed to Algeciras, where it was searched by rebel authorities.

MEXICO MODIFIES ITS STAND; WILL RESHIP U. S. ARMS TO SPAIN

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Ernesto Hidalgo, acting secretary of state, tonight announced modification of the Mexican government's policy prohibiting reshipment of United States arms to Spain.

The government official said that events of the past week caused the government to alter its policy, intimating that six American manufactured airplanes now at Vera Cruz will be shipped to Spain for the Socialist forces.

GERMAN TROOPS ARE HURLED AT MADRID'S ARMY

FierceBattle Rages; Loyal Troops Fall Back.

BULLETIN.

WITH FASCISTS OUTSIDE MADRID, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Fascist insurgents tonight announced the capture of Pozuelo de Alarcon and Humera, about three miles west of Madrid, and declared they had a virtual stranglehold on the capital. The insurgents are reported to have advanced to the outskirts of the village of Aravaca, which lies just north of the captured points.

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

MADRID, Jan. 7.—The battle that has raged for five days northwest of Madrid is the most sanguinary and bitterly fought battle since the start of Spain's civil war.

Government communiques have frankly admitted the necessity of retiring before the fury of an insurgent attack that has been made possible only by the use of heavy German reinforcements by Gen. Francisco Franco, Fascist commander-in-chief.

Guns Roar Continuously.

Out at the front today one could hear the heaviest artillery barrage by government batteries that this conflict has yet witnessed. For the first time a genuine comparison with world war conditions is valid, for there was no letup in the guns' steady roar.

Dr. Norman Bethune of the Canadian blood transfusion unit, who witnessed an aerial raid, saw one German-made pursuit plane shot down by a loyalist aviator.

It is a nip-and-tuck struggle, with the situation shifting from hour to hour. The present moment is certainly the most critical since Gen. Franco reached the gates of Madrid exactly two months ago.

What makes the situation critical is the fact that Gen. Franco had attacked in great force and with German reinforcements. Madrid's defenders realize such an attack must be stopped at all costs.

Report Madrid Drive Repulsed.

WITH FASCISTS, OUTSIDE MADRID, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Insurgent commanders reported today they had beaten off a determined government counter attack to relieve isolated loyalist comrades in the snow-peaked Guadarramas.

The government drive, centered on the recently captured town of Las Rozas, vital junction point on the Madrid highway to the mountain positions, was repulsed with heavy artillery and machine gun fire. Fascist battalions pressed their advantage and forced the Socialists to withdraw to Aravaca village, northwest of Madrid.

Insurgent troop movements were reported on the northern fork of the Guadarrama road toward Torrelodones, forming a deep pocket around the government stronghold of El Escorial. The Fascist tactics appeared designed to isolate the government forces in the Escorial sector, at the same time encircling Madrid.

Drop 15 Tons of Bombs.

Sunny weather dispelled fog that had shrouded the trenches for days and brought renewed aerial activity.

A fleet of government bombing planes was driven off by anti-aircraft batteries shortly before a massed insurgent raid on government lines. Accompanied by 30 pursuit planes, 14 bombers scattered at least 15 tons of bombs on the government's lines in the northwest corner of Madrid from University City to Cuatro Caminos.

Red Tape Delays Operation of Arms Shipment Embargo

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—A knot of parliamentary red tape today blocked the operation of the Spanish arms embargo jammed through congress yesterday to preserve American neutrality in the Spanish civil war.

In speeding the resolution through both houses of congress in a race with Robert Cuse, New Jersey arms exporter, to halt a shipment of war planes to Spain, leaders forgot to include an authorization which would permit Vice President Garner to sign the resolution immediately.

Congress lost the race with Cuse, who was able to get eight planes off for Spain on the Mar Cantabrico, and at the same time committed the oversight which forced the day's delay in the signing of the bill.

State Department Disturbed.

The delay disturbed the state department because without the President's signature arms exports can be started any time until his name is affixed to the document. The bill is expected to be signed tomorrow.

For a time it was feared that Richard L. Dineley, San Francisco arms dealer, who holds a license to export $4,500,000 worth of implements of war, might attempt to rush a cargo before the resolution becomes a law. Dineley gave rise to the fear when he told the department he was awaiting merely an inspection of part of his shipment by Spanish agents to begin shipment.

Later in the day at his hotel here he confessed there was no chance for a planned shipment from the west coast. After he waited in vain for word from the Spanish agents he said it would be impossible for him to make a shipment in compliance with the law before the resolution is signed.

Law Requires Declaration.

The present law requires a shipping declaration be filed within 24 hours of the sailing of a cargo. Dineley pointed out that within twenty-four hours his license will cease to exist, as it will be automatically canceled when the President signs the arms resolution. The balance of Cuse's license also will be canceled.

Although Cuse was able to get one ship on its way to Spain the state department congratulated itself that the speedy action of congress on the arms resolution forced his hand so that he was able only to get off $700,000 of war materials where his license permitted him to send $2,700,000 worth of munitions. He still has on hand 10 planes and 600 motors for which he has a license.

Dineley took news of the impending abrogation good humoredly. All is not so bad for him, he said, because he still has a contract for the exportation of $4,500,000 in such war materials as gas masks which are not covered by the neutrality act.

TURKEY MAY RESIGN FROM LEAGUE; TALKS OF WAR WITH FRANCE

ANKARA, Turkey, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Turkey may withdraw from the league of nations unless it obtains a favorable settlement of its dispute with France over administration of the Syrian cities of Antioch and Alexandretta, it was reported here tonight.

Turkey has demanded that the two cities, near the Turkish frontier, be administered separately from the remainder of Syria, controlled by France under a league mandate. By a treaty signed last Sept. 9, Syria is to become independent by 1939.

France Protests War Talk.

PARIS, Jan. 7.—(AP)—France protested to Turkey tonight over what it called "violent" anti-French articles in the Turkish press concerning the dispute on administration of Antioch and Alexandretta.

Pierre Vienot, an undersecretary in the French foreign office, told the Tukish ambassador, Suad Davaz, that an article which talked of war between Turkey and France made a friendly solution of the problem "very difficult."

He said France was willing to ask postponement of the league of nations' council meeting on Jan. 18, when the question is slated for consideration, if Turkey would continue bilateral negotiations with France.

Manufacturers' Wife Asks $200 Alimony; Gets $22.50

Mrs. Alice Hope Buckley, 35 years old, of the Great Northern hotel, yesterday was awarded $22.50 a week by Judge John C. Lewe in the Superior court from William Buckley, 43 years old, of the Graemere hotel. She had asked $200 a week. Buckley is president of the Simplex Ejector and Aerator corporation, 2400 Madison street.

U. S. NEUTRALITY STIRS NAZIS; LOOK BACK 20 YEARS

BERLIN, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The German foreign office, reading of the United States congress' speedy action to bar arms shipments to Spain, looked backward twenty years and wondered if the outcome of the world war would not have been different had the United States then held its present conception of neutrality.

[Both houses of congress acted Wednesday to extend the neutrality act to prevent arms shipments to countries at civil war, but a technicality delayed the President's signature.]

The Nazi press praised "the historical and dramatic" action of congress. The organ of the foreign office, Deutsche Diplomatische Korrespondenz, said:

"The fundamental change of American policy from its old style prewar neutrality—which, because of its insufficiency, dragged the American nation against its will into the war catastrophe—to its present form of neutrality is an important symptom of a large general evolutionary process.

"It is futile now to go back into the question of what would have been the result if American policy twenty years earlier had recognized the ringing conception of neutrals' duties and rights which it now deems necessary. However, America's consciousness of responsibility serves the cause of general peace as well as its own interests."

TWO DESTROYERS CONVOY CARGO OF ARMS TO SPAIN

New York, Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Keeping a date far at sea with two destroyers, presumably Spanish, the freighter Mar Cantabrico ploughed southward today with a fortune in airplanes destined for the Spanish loyalist army.

In New York, agents of Robert Cuse, who shipped the planes, were scheming ways to dispose of the remaining ten planes which Cuse received a license to export.

From a friend of Cuse, who knew of the destroyer convoy, it also was learned that the remaining planes would be exported before the end of the month. But to whom no one would tell.

Cuse held a license to export eighteen ships all told. There were reports that eight planes which left for Havre, France, aboard the President Harding, Dec. 31, were his property. But at the custom house it was said that these machines, consigned to a Netherlands' firm, were handled by Charles Babb, a broker, and formed part of a shipment of nineteen planes.

REPORT GERMAN MILITARY GRAB I SPANISH MOROCC

PARIS, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The Frenc Moroccan administration in a repo has informed the French governme that Germany is conducting a larg scale military and commercial inv sion of Spanish Morocco, a high lef ist authority said tonight.

The report, this authority asserte said German marines had landed a the Spanish Moroccan port of Ceut and preparations were being speede for the arrival of "large bodies" o German troops.

It continued to report, he said, tha German engineers are supervising th construction of heavy fortifications i Ceuta which will make it a seriou rival to Gibraltar and that many com mercial concessions were granted t Germans.

DUTCH PRINCESS AND PRINCE BEGIN HONEYMOON TRIP

Millions Cheer Marriage of Juliana.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Jan. 7.—Princess Juliana, blue eyed heiress apparent to the throne of The Netherlands, was married here today in the fifteenth century "Groote Kerk" to German Prince Bernhard zu Lippe-Biesterfeld, henceforth to be known as his royal highness Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands.

Tonight they were on their way to a secret destination for their honeymoon, slipping out of the palace by a rear entrance shortly after 4 p. m. and speeding away in an automobile. It was reported they are bound for the Austrian Tyrol to join in the winter sports there.

All The Hague celebrated the wedding tonight in carnival spirit. Police reserves patroled as best they could. Shop windows were boarded over for protection. Hundreds of boys and girls linked arms and in great crowds paraded uproariously up and down the streets, colliding with other bands of celebrants already packing them to capacity. Trafic gave up.

Top Hats Go Down.

Top hats of solemn gentlemen going to the various official receptions were pushed over their eyes. Paper caps were clapped on the heads of the astonished women the top-hatted personages were escorting.

The crowds laughed and sang. Loud speakers in every square blared forth American jaz from American phonograph records with frequent interspersions of the Dutch anthem, "Wilhelmus."

Streets were gaudy with bunting, imitation oranges, and flags. Portraits of the royal newlyweds bedecked every building.

The Procession Starts.

This morning, starting at 11 o'clock, the wedding procession had wound through these same streets, cheered vigorously by at least 2,000,000 subjects of this lowlands nation of tulips and picturesque windmills.

The route was lined by 1,500 young officers, each of whom was born the same year as either the prince, who is 25 years old, or the princess, who is 27.

Members of the Blue Hussars, Bernhard's chosen regiment in the Dutch army, rode as a guard of honor before and behind the famous "golden coach" in which the bridal pair rode and the "glass coach" which bore Queen Wilhelmina, Juliana's mother, and Princess Armgard, Bernhard's mother.

Ceremony at Town Hall.

The first stop was at the town hall, where the burgomaster performed a brief civil marriage ceremony before a few relatives.

The bridal party arrived at the church 25 minutes late, and the royal guests were growing restive.

The duke of Kent, sitting in the front row, already had removed and replaced his white gloves five times, then devoted himself to strumming with his fingernails on his gold braided cuffs. Some diplomats were passing a box of chocolates along the row.

As the wedding march was struck up, the 2,000 guests who packed the church suddenly ceased chattering and waited expectantly, but three full verses were played before the bride, tall and radiant, appeared.

The Wedding Described.

The wedding in the centuries old church was a bizare mixture of bourgeoisie simplicity and regal pageantry.

Against the severe church background was an array of gold and silver braid, orders, decorations, medals, and bright uniforms sufficient to dazzle a Hollywood director.

The duke of Kent, representative of his brother, King George VI. of England, sat with the royal guests behind the bridal pair, wearing a British naval captain's uniform. And there were Knights of Malta, with their long black capes and scarlet tunics, and Dutch East Indian subject rulers in colorful native garb, come to pay homage at Juliana's wedding.

Nearly all the women wore resplendent gowns well splashed with color, since Juliana had let it be known she preferred this to the somber, though more formal, black.

Mother Married There, Too.

Before that pulpit, the same at which Queen Wilhelmina was married 35 years ago to the late Prince Henry of Mecklenburg, Juliana knelt with Prince Bernhard before the Rev. W. L. Welter, and there swore to "obey, serve, and help" her husband and "to act in all things as a godly and faithful wife is bound toward her husband."

To Bernhard was presented a Bible, a symbol that he is head of the household and responsible for its spiritual health.

During the ceremony as Juliana, who seemed deeply affected, knelt on the cushion before the pastor, she swayed and seemed about to fall. For a moment she leaned heavily on the prince, then straightened up.

Just as the service ended Juliana dropped a heavy platinum bracelet with 1,700 brilliants in her lap. Bernhard, sitting beside her in their twin tapestried armchairs, leaned over and fastened the bracelet, a gift of one of the East Indian princes, for her.

The princess wore an ivory satin gown with a six yard long train. She carried white orchids and orange blossoms with a girdle of blossoms about her waist. Her prince wore the full dress uniform of a captain of the Blue Hussars. The ten bridesmaids formed a resplendent circular medley of lilac, orange, and blue.

Refers to Nazi Trouble.

Only one reminder of the recent spat with the Nazis over the omission of Nazi music in honor of the prince's German nationality crept into the ceremony. At the end of the opening prayer Prof. H. T. Obbink, court chaplain, added, "and may God lend his strength and support to our queen in these difficult days."

It was taken as a reference to the anxiety here over the Nazi hostility which it is hoped has come to an end with the belated playing of the Nazi "Horst Wessel" song and Reichsfuehrer Hitler's personal note of congratulations to the queen.

There was only one other wedding today in all The Netherlands, and that was in the hamlet of Oetsgeest. There Petronella van der Meer, "the other Juliana," was married to Martinus van Stijn, a peddler of vegetables on Holland's canals. The honor of marriage on the same day as the crown princess was reserved for her because she was born the same hour, day, and year as Juliana.

YAWNING FOR NINE DAYS

MRS. EMILY PATERNOSTER.

Has Sleep Ailment

Suffering from a form of encephalitis, or sleeping sickness, Mrs. Emily Paternoster, 23 years old, entered her ninth day of continuous yawning at Westlake hospital in Melrose Park yesterday. Dr. Charles M. Weinberg, her physician, said she has been yawning at the rate of four to six times a minute since she was first stricken in her home, 903 North 21st avenue, Melrose Park.

During the first days of the illness, Mrs. Paternoster could not sleep but now she averages ten hours a day of sleep through the use of sedatives. Mrs. Paternoster is the wife of John Paternoster, a special policeman, and is the mother of three children.

GOV. CURLEY AND WIDOW WED AS HIS TERM CLOSES

Roosevelt Sends Message to Outgoing Executive.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Two hours before his tenure as governor of Massachusetts expired today, James M. Curley married Mrs. Gertrude M. Dennis, attractive Brookline widow.

The ceremony was performed in St. Mary's chapel of Boston college in suburban Newton with Bishop Francis J. Spellman officiating.

Only a small group of invited guests were present. Among them were the governor's four sons, a daughter-in-law of a few weeks, Mrs. Paul Curley, and the governor's son-in-law and daughter, Col. and Mrs. Edward C. Donnelly.

Roosevelt Sends Telegram.

Mrs. Dennis, herself the mother of two young sons, gave her age as 44 in applying for a marriage license. She has been a widow 10 years. Curley gave his age as 62 and his occupation as banker. He is president of the Hibernian bank of Boston.

President Roosevelt sent his congratulations to Curley in a telegram which read: "My greeting to you and your bride on your wedding day. All the happiness and good luck in the world."

May Get Philippine Post.

Curley, who was defeated for a seat in the United States senate at the last election by Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., a Republican, declined to comment on a rumor that the President may appoint him high commissioner of the Philipine Islands within the next month.

It was reported that James Roosevelt, eldest son of the President, has urged Curley's appointment to succeed Frank Murphy as commissioner of the islands. Murphy recently was elected governor of Michigan.

Clarence Eddy, Noted as Organist, Is Seriously Ill

Clarence Eddy, 86 years old, widely known organist, is seriously ill in his apartment at 33 East Elm street, it became known last night. He lives there with his foster daughter, Miss Ingeborg Christensen, an artist. He is under the care of Dr. John McKinlock. Mr. Eddy has given organ recitals in every music capital of Europe and in most of the states of America. He played the first notes sounded in the Chicago Auditorium, opening the dedication program. His last concert was given in St. James Episcopal church during the Century of Progres exposition.

GUNMAN SEIZED AFTER BATTLE IS ESCAPED CONVICT

A man captured by Flossmoor police after a three mile chase in which several shots were fired was identified at the detective bureau yesterday as Clarence Higginbothan, 30 years old, an escaped convict from Alabama.

When arrested Wednesday night by Police Chief Joseph Dineen of Flossmoor, Higginbothan gave his name as Edward Lindsey and said he had been making his living selling bank night guarantee tickets. These tickets purported to guarantee against loss of theater prizes because of absence when the drawings were held.

Police department records showed Higginbothan was sentenced May 7, 1934, to 42 years in the Alabama state prision on a charge of second degree murder. He escaped last Oct. 9.

WIFE'S STORY OF DRIVING TRUCK WINS HER CASH

Mrs. Helen Gold's story that she has worked 75 hours a week for five years to support her three children won her a court order yesterday for support. Mrs. Gold, who is 31 years old, told Judge Stephen Adamowski that she drove a truck by day and worked in a factory by night in Worcester, Mass., after her husband, Samuel, 33 years old, of 1525 South Turner avenue, deserted her.

Learning that he was in Chicago, she said, she loaded the children into truck, drove here, and traced her husband. Judge Adamowski ordered Gold to pay $7 a week to her and the children, William, 5 years old; Betty, 6 years old, and Herbert, 9 years old.

Program Framed Despite Court's Rulings.

the constitutionality of the Wagner labor disputes act, which will be argued next month. Many New Dealers have conceded that the court's reasoning in previous cases dooms the Wagner act on the ground that the regulation of labor is a state, not a federal function.

If the court holds the Wagner act constitutional, the New Deal will be victorious and will have reason to believe that its entire future program will receive judicial approval. If, however, the decision should be adverse to the New Deal, the result will be, in effect, a challenge by the court to the President to carry out the purpose he declared in his message.

"Means must be found," he said, "to adapt our legal forms and our judicial interpretation to the actual present national needs of the largest progressive democracy in the world."

Court Might Be Enlarged.

There are numerous ways to achieve this end. If the court should fail to modify its opinion of the New Deal, congress might enlarge the tribunal and the President pack it with New Dealers. Or congress might prohibit the invalidation of its acts by the court or provide that no act could be annulled save by the vote of two-thirds or more of the justices.

While the rank and file of Democrats in congress are ready to back the President, it was evident that many Democratic leaders disagree with him. Senator Henry F. Ashurst [Dem., Ariz.], chairman of the senate judiciary committee, believes the only solution is an amendment of the constitution. He has framed one, declaring such a step the only honest one to take.

In Doubt About Meaning.

Asked what he thought the President meant by declaring that the people looked to the judiciary to do its part, Senator Ashurst said he did not know. Then asked whether he would be in favor of legislation to enlarge the membership of the court he said absolutely not, but he added, "I can tell you that the President has no such intentions."

Asked whether he would favor legislation to restrict the powers of the court, Senator Ashurst said absolutely not.

Representative Hatton W. Sumners [Dem., Tex.], chairman of the house judiciary committee to which all bills affecting the Supreme court are referred, clings to his solution—the retirement of judges at the age of 65 or perhaps 70.

Speaker William B. Bankhead [Dem., Ala.] said: "I am in thorough sympathy with the President's views and objectives. I hope a way can be found to effectuate them without resort to a constitutional amendment but am still doubtful that it can be done with the personnel of the Supreme court as it now stands."

Representative Sam D. McReynolds [Dem., Tenn.], chairman of the committee on foreign affairs, believes an act requiring the concurrence of six of the nine judges in declaring an act of congress unconstitutional would be the best solution and have the best chance of passage.

Congressmen Tell Views.

The group of congressmen who have introduced a wide variety of bills dealing with the court were jubilant over the President's speech. Here are the views of some of them:

James L. Quinn [Dem., Pa.]—"I think the membership of the court should be raised to 14. That is the fastest way to remedy the situation. Let the President appoint five more liberal judges. These five-four decisions are not fair and are too damn close for comfort."

R. T. Buckler [F.-L., Minn.]—"If the court does not liberalize, extra members should be added. The court must not be allowed to stand in the way of progress."

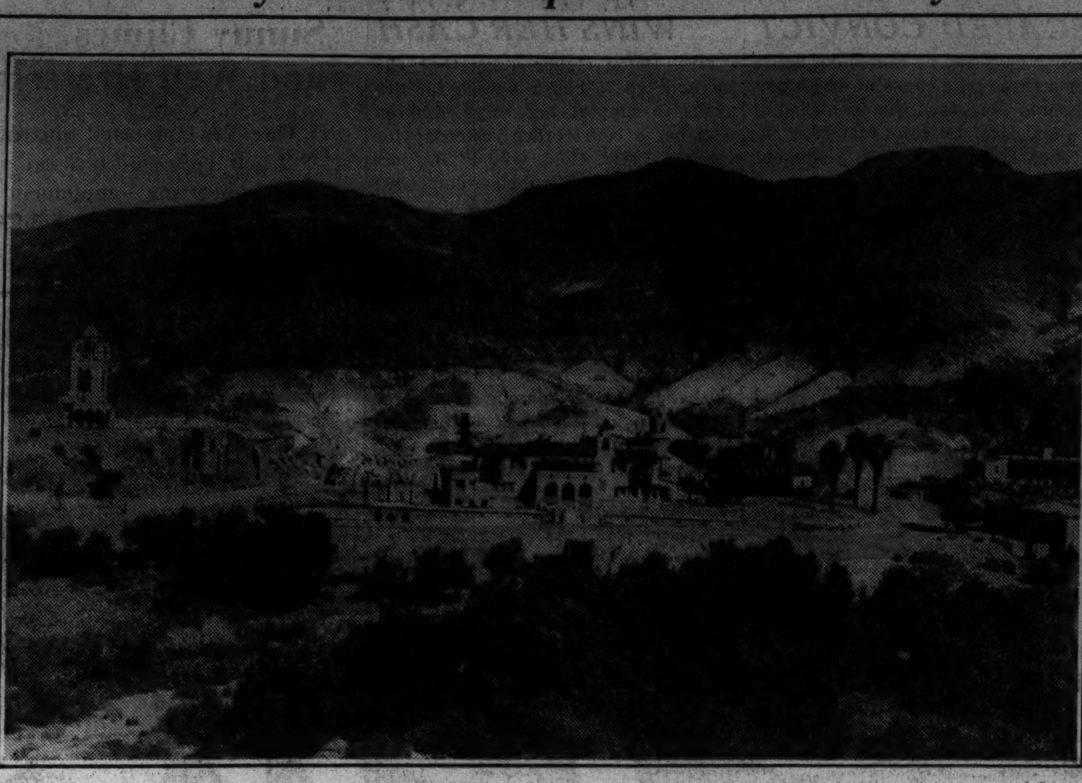
John A. Martin [Dem., Colo.]—"In my opinion, the President's speech was a pretty smooth way of warning the court to change its attitude or find its power curbed. I have reintroduced at this session a constitutional amendment regulating hours and working conditions in industry and some such amendment will undoubtedly be passed if the court does not change."

Senator Sherman Minton [Dem., Ind.]—Came out in favor of legislation to curb the Supreme court. Minton said: "I believe the court's opinion can be liberalized by placing the balance of power in the hands of the liberals. This can be done by a simple act of congress requiring the vote of at least seven members to invalidate an act of congress."

Black Favors Speed.

Senator Hugo L. Black [Dem., Ala.], one of the radicals who have been most vociferous in assailing the powers of the judiciary, said he would favor any course necessary to accomplish the objectives of regulating wages and hours and abolishing child labor. Black said such a bill should be accompanied by a provision to expedite its consideration by the Supreme court.

Death Valley Castle of Prospector Who Is Sued by Wife



The main buildings of home built in Grapevine canyon, Death Valley, Cal., by Walter (Death Valley) Scott, picturesque figure of the old wild west, who was sued for separation yesterday in Long Beach, Cal. The castle cost $2,381,000.

'DEATH VALLEY' SCOTT IS SUED FOR SEPARATION

Broke Vow to 'Raise Babies,' Says Wife.

Long Beach, Cal., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Walter [Death Valley] Scott's wife, a little heralded figure in the mysterious gold prospector's spectacular career, thrust into the forefront today with a suit for separate maintenance.

Ella Josephine Scott, whom the dashing wild westerner wooed out of a New York candy store, long has realized, she said after filing the legal action, that her husband would not keep his pledge to "settle down and raise a lot of babies."

Mrs. Scott charged in her suit she has been forced to live apart from her husband, whose $2,381,000 mansion in Grapevine Canyon, northern death valley, is world famous. She came to Long Beach a year ago from Reno, Nev., where she lived in retirement many years. She is 60 years old.

Seeks $1,000 a Month.

She seeks $1,000 a month for living expenses and medical care, $25,000 for legal expenses and an accounting and division of community property which she estimated at not less than $1,000,000.

For more than 20 years, Mrs. Scott said today, she lived in hope of a promise she said he often made to her:

"Wait until I get my stake. Then we'll settle down and raise a lot of babies."

But Mrs. Scott, who produced records to show she married the mysterious king of the valley in Cincinnati in 1900, said she finally came to the realization that this pledge would never be kept.

Meet Him as Show Rider.

"Long ago, I knew that he had given up the last vestige of his love for me," she said. "When I read of his plans to build that fantastic castle in the desert, I knew that gold and notoriety and his business deals had finally wiped me out of his heart."

"Scotty" was 28, and the star rider with Buffalo Bill's Wild West show, when she met him in the New York candy store at 26th street and Broadway thirty-six years ago, she related.

They were married in Cincinnati and have a 22 year old son in the navy.

"Jackie is a fine woman," the prospector said cheerfully today.

"I haven't heard from her for three years, but have been sending her $100 a month.

"The castle is open; she knows where it is, and can come home any time she wants.

"Gold is the root of all evil. Twenty-five thousand dollars attorneys' fees! That's what's back of it. Somebody wants to see my hole card. They've been trying for thirty-five years to see my hole card, all sorts of people in all sorts of ways."

"DEATH VALLEY" SCOTTY AND HIS WIFE.

Carol Dietrich to Drop Name; Resembles Marlene

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Carol Dietrich, who is 22, and looks enough like Marlene Dietrich to serve as her namesake's movie double, today filed a petition in Superior court to drop the name of Dietrich and be known as Carol Carroll. The petition said "Your petitioner resembles Marlene Dietrich both in facial contour and figure. By reason of this resemblance your petitioner is continually given public acclaim to which she is not entitled. The similarity of the petitioner's name to that of Marlene Dietrich is largely responsible for this confusion."

LANDON INVITED TO INAUGURAL; CANNOT ATTEND

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas has been invited to attend the inauguration of President Roosevelt on Jan. 20, United States Senator M. M. Neely [Dem., W. Va.], head of the inaugural committee, announced today.

The 1935 Republican presidential nominee said in Topeka, Kas., however, that he will be unable to attend the ceremonies. Former President Hoover declined a similar bid yesterday.

In addition to the two Republican leaders and their wives, the inaugural committee also extended invitations to all widows of former Presidents.

U. OF W. REGENTS OUST DR. FRANK BY 8 TO 7 VOTE

Order Departure at Once; Name Dean Sellery.

conference at 11 o'clock tomorrow on the subject of Dr. Frank's removal. The hearing placed the anti-Frank movement at the governor's doorstep and he has so far refused to discuss the question.

Calls Proceeding Farcical.

Prof. A. J. Carlson of the University of Chicago, who has been observing the Frank case and who may be depended upon to report on it at the next meeting of the American Association of University Professors, of which he is president, said tonight:

"This is the most extraordinary and farcical proceeding I have seen in forty years of American education. I could imagine such a thing happening only in the early days of the Russian revolution by a committee of soldiers and peasants. It has happened here."

As today's tense hearing progressed, renewed demands were heard for a student strike in support of Dr. Frank.

In presenting his final appeal to the regents today Dr. Frank spoke first of the university's administration, stating that when he became president there was a certain group in the state who wanted a "Fascist" kind of university administration. The president was expected to be an "expert in firing," with the assumption that there was a mass of "deadwood" to be removed, he charged.

"Certain forces wanted a dictator," he said. "My concept was the opposite, and I made this clear from the start. I do not believe in a barrack room drill sergeant type of university."

In reply to the charge that the university was slipping in scholastic standing, especially in undergraduate work, Dr. Frank presented charts showing a high grade point achievement by Wisconsin students in comparison with other universities.

Discusses School's Ratings.

He discussed the ratings of the American Education society, the work of the graduate school, and lifting of standards. He called on Dean Edwin Fred of the graduate school to tell of the high grade point averages of fellows, scholars, and assistants, and then demonstrated by charts the growth of various activities of the university during his régime.

His administration, Dr. Frank said, had been democratic in every way. The case against the undergraduate instruction could not be proved, he asserted, and in graduate instruction he could offer one of the most brilliant chapters in university history. In research the scope was never wider or more vital, he declared. State service, too, had widened out to touch more people than at any time in the history of the administration, he pointed out. The only down curve, he said, was in legislative support, and this was due to the depression.

"I have never questioned," he said, "the right of the board of regents to take a critical attitude toward the administration. The only thing I protest is the attempt to place judgment on a university administration in terms of hastily trumped up charges, which, even if true in detail, could not be the real answer.

Protests Outside Control.

"I also protest that you cannot control a great state university from outside the board of regents. It is unwholesome, anti-American, anti-educational, for one or two men to take control of the board and to sit in caucus with political leaders for one or two hours preceding each meeting of the board."

Students broke into applause at this. Don Traux, a student, came forward to assert that 80 to 90 per cent of the student groups that he approached with a petition were against the board and for Dr. Frank.

James Doyle, president of the senior class, said, however, that Truax was taking on too much of a burden in his statement and that it was impossible to tell how the students were divided.

Grady Makes His Plea.

Regent Grady, a white haired attorney who had been a friend and battler for all the La Follettes until the present issue between Dr. Frank and Gov. La Follette came to a head, made an impassioned plea in defense of Dr. Frank.

"You have the power of votes," he told the regents gathered in the small board room with students and other spectators perching on window sills and crowding the room to the bursting point. "You have the power but not the right. And if it is done [the removal of Frank] there will come a day when other men will remove the stigma and the shadow that has fallen upon this state this day."

In injecting the political issue, Grady said he had served under five governors.

"I regret far more than I can tell that the question of political interference [by Gov. La Follette] should be mentioned in this case," he said. "I have never before seen any evidence of attempted political control or the formation of a political bloc.

Sees Political Interference.

"I cannot agree that there has been no political interference in this case."

Grady made much of the fact that Dr. Frank has been president for eleven years and that until last spring there was no movement to oust him, that the regents had known most of the facts alleged in the charges for many years.

"What has happened since last spring?" asked Grady, after telling of how he had battled with the La Follettes and had supported the governor in many ways. "Two things happened. There has been a political campaign and an election. This thing was stalled for months prior to the election. Then it sprung up at the first board meeting after the election.

"It seems they have gone through eleven years of administration with a fine rake, trying to assemble a case here. It is disgusting that a great issue should be involved with such items as the cleaning of paint in the president's house, the items of mattresses and bed sheets, and second hand rugs at $1,500."

Regents Voting to Oust.

The regents voting against Dr. Frank were:

Kenneth Hones, Colfax, farmer, president of the Farmers' Equity union and member of the state central committee of the Progressive party.

Robert V. Baker Jr., Kenosha, attorney, Progressive.

Mrs. Clara T. Runge, Baraboo, housewife, former teacher, Progressive.

Edward J. Brown, Milwaukee, business agent of the Electric Workers' union, Progressive.

A. M. Miller, Kaukauna, farmer, farm leader in the Wisconsin house for ten years and four years in the senate, Progressive.

Harold M. Wilkie, Madison, attorney, Progressive.

The following regents supported Dr. Frank:

Gunnar Gundersen, La Crosse, physician, Progressive.

Daniel H. Grady, Portage, attorney, Democrat.

John Callahan, Madison, state superintendent of public instruction, Independent.

A. C. Backus, Milwaukee, former judge, Republican.

Mrs. Jessie C. Combs, Oshkosh, housewife, Republican.

George W. Mead, Wisconsin Rapids, manufacturer, Republican.

E. B. Christopherson, Pigeon Falls, minister, Progressive.

All the regents were appointed by Gov. La Follette except Mrs. Combs, Mead, and Backus, who were named by Gov. A. G. Schmedeman.

DR. FRANK NOTED FOR HIS ELOQUENCE AND AS AUTHOR OF BOOKS

Dr. Glenn Frank, ousted last night as president of the University of Wisconsin, early in life manifested the speechmaking ability for which he became famous. As a child, friends recalled, he would climb on a chair and deliver an oration for a coin, and at the age of 16 he was riding a Methodist church circuit in his own right.

Frank was born at Queen City, Mo., Oct. 1, 1887, one of three sons of Gordon and Nancy Elizabeth Frank. Frank's father was a rural school teacher for about fifty years preceding his death in 1934.

As a youth Frank spent three years in the State Normal school at Kirksville, Mo. He received his A. B. degree from Northwestern university in 1912 and his M. A. there in 1921.

The skill of Frank's rhetoric increased as he rose from lecturer to secretary of the International Lyceum association in 1914-'15, to associate of Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant philanthropist, in 1916-'19, and to editor of Century magazine, 1921-'25.

Dr. Frank went to the University of Wisconsin in 1925, at the age of 38, and was widely heralded as the "boy president" of a great university.

He was the author of "The Politics of Industry" and "An American Looks at His World" and was co-author of other books. While at the University of Wisconsin he published "Thunder and Dawn" and "America's Hour of Decision."

SEEKS TO PROVE PATERNITY AND SHARE $200,000

New York, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Seeking to establish his claim to being the son of Putnam Bradlee Strong and May Yohe, Robert E. Thomas, 28, Hollywood actor, today appeared before Referee Jeremiah F. Connor.

He satisfied Referee Connor that he was the son of May Yohe, prominent actress of yesteryear and former owner of the Hope diamond, but male parentage is still in doubt. At a previous hearing Strong denied being Thomas' father.

Thomas, seeking to establish his right to share in a $200,000 trust fund created by Strong's mother, sought a declaratory judgment recognizing him as Strong's son.

Thomas' foster mother, Mrs. Rosa M. Thomas of Hollywood, testified May Yohe placed a 4 day old child in her arms on Oct. 4, 1908, and left for Australia after telling her the child was her son. Mrs. Thomas adopted the infant several months later, she testified.

May Yohe, who later became the wife of Jan Smuts, Australian statesman, was then the wife of Putnam Bradlee Strong, Mrs. Thomas testified.

250,000 JOIN TO CREATE SOVIET STATE IN CHINA

Report U.S. Woman Leads Red Movement.

SIANFU, Shensi Province, Jan. 7.—(AP)—A quarter-million armed men were reported today to have joined in a movement to create a great communist state in northwest China. An American woman was said to be playing a spectacular rôle in the uprising.

Agnes Smedley, former Colorado school teacher and long associated with radical movements in Asia, was described as conducting radio propaganda to unite large disaffected military units in Shensi and Kansu provinces under the Red banner in defiance of the Nanking government.

Some 200,000 soldiers formerly belonging to the "northwest communist suppression" army of Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, reliable reports said, joined 50,000 of their Red ex-enemies to make the two northwestern provinces one large communist ruled community.

See Recurrence of Revolt.

Sianfu seemd doomed, observers feared, to recurrence of the disorders of the Dec. 12 uprising, when Marshal Chang and his followers mutinied, seized Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and demanded readmission of communists to Chinese political life to form a common front for war against Japan.

The generalissimo was freed Christmas day. Chang was sentenced to ten years imprisonment, then pardoned.

Fresh resurgence of the communist movement in Shensi and Kansu was signalized by a sudden outburst of communist flags in Sianfu. Chinese papers were filled with exhortations. Radio stations launched an intensive campaign to spread the Red gospel.

Miss Smedley Broadcasts.

In the forefront of this campaign, said reliable sources, is Miss Smedley, who is believed to have come to Sianfu from Shanghai about the time of the Dec. 12 uprising. Every few hours she has been broadcasting—in English—appeals for recruits for the Red uprising against Nanking.

The author of three books lauding the Chinese communist movement, Miss Smedley, has lived in Shanghai nearly ten years.

Miss Smedley is understood to be a close friend of Mme. Sun Yat-sen, widow of the "father of the Chinese revolution." Mme. Sun is a sister of Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, but long has been estranged from her brother-in-law, the generalissimo. It was Chiang who expelled the Reds from the Nationalist party and government in 1927.

One report, still unconfirmed, said Gen. Yang Yu-chen, leading Shensi militarist, had declared himself dictator of the province. Gen. Yang was the chief lieutenant of Marshal Chang in the Dec. 12 uprising.

The national government canceled orders under which portions of the punitive expedition sent against rebellious Shensi last month were withdrawing.

PEIPING'S OPIUM DENS RAIDED; 100 ADDICTS SEIZED

Captives Expected to Be Shot Today.

PEIPING, Jan. 7.—(AP)—One hundred prisoners, mostly coolies and beggars, were dragged out of Peiping's opium dens tonight as the government began active enforcement of its much advertised campaign against users and sellers of narcotics.

Gen. Sung Cheh-Yuan, chairman of the Hopei-Chahar political council, assumed personal charge of the campaign and sent raiding squads through Peiping's noisome lanes.

May Be Shot Today.

Informed sources said the captives probably would be executed by shooting tomorrow, but city officials were silent.

The raid was the first action taken thus far in Peiping to give effect to the government's edict to narcotics users, "Be cured by New Year's or die!"

It was, however, admittedly a small beginning, for official estimates have placed the total of users of opium or other narcotics in Peiping alone at 100,000.

Inclined to Be Lenient.

Persons close to Gen. Sung, highest ranking official in North China, represented him as inclined to be lenient toward addicts who express willingness to undergo treatment. Such penitents, it was said, may receive prison sentences instead of being executed.

However, officials predicted, sellers of narcotics probably will be shot summarily when, and if, captured.

UPHOLDS POLICE REFUSAL TO BAN PARKING AT NIGHT

The police department was successful yesterday in opposing an effort to compel it to enforce the city ordinance prohibiting all night street parking of automobiles. Judge George W. Bristow of Paris, Ill., sitting in the Cook county Superior court, denied a petition for a writ of mandamus to force operation of the ordinance.

He upheld the contention of the state's attorney's office that the court lacked jurisdiction to supervise the acts of any administrative department of the city. The suit was brought against the police on behalf of James L. McManus, 352 West 64th street, a real estate broker. The petition alleged that nonenforcement of the ordinance created a fire hazard and aided automobile thieves.

At about the time of the hearing, a plaint similar to Mr. McManus' was being heard in Joliet. That city's street sweepers declared overnight parking hampers their efforts; that trash they can't reach collects under cars.

SANITARY BOARD BUDGET FOR 1937 IS CUT $14,094,680

The 1937 budget of the sanitary district will be $14,094,680 less than that of 1936, Ross A. Woodhull, president of the district board, announced yesterday. The total estimated budget for the new year is $57,130,526, compared with $71,225,206 for 1936.

Most of the decrease is in the fund maintained by the district for all money received from the federal public works administration for construction. This fund has been reduced from $24,185,762 in 1936 to $11,925,057. The budget shows the district expects to receive $12,343,497 in PWA money this year as compared with $16,592,000 received during 1936.

The corporate operating budget for 1937 is $5,107,007, or $751,164 lower than last year. The tax levy for all funds is $15,169,923, a reduction of $1,029,226.

SEIZE PUBLISHER ON WIFE'S CHARGE; FREED BY EX-WIFE

Cecil R. Francis, 41 years old, secretary of the Trade Periodical company and publisher of the cheerful Embalmers' Monthly and National Funeral Director, met his present wife early today and landed in a Summerdale police cell, and later met his ex-wife and landed outside free. Here's how it happened:

Francis called at 1252 Albion avenue to get, he said, his clothing and personal belongings, but his wife, Mrs. Florence Francis, 28 years old, his former secretary, wouldn't let him in. The brief background is that she sued him for separate maintenance last August, won an order for $15 weekly temporary alimony, and then made up with him. Two weeks ago they separated again. And so, he said, he returned home to get his clothes.

Mrs. Francis called police. They found him pounding at the door, took him to the station, and charged him with disorderly conduct. The bail was $25, which Francis didn't have ready. Not long afterward Mrs. Irma Francis, his first wife, who twice divorced him, appeared at the station, produced the $25 bail, and procured his freedom. He will appear in Town Hall court today.

COP PHONES IN THE NEWS, THEN HE GETS SOME

Policeman Fred Wright of the Fillmore station parked his automobile at Hamlin avenue and Wilcox street last night. Leaving his partner, Policeman George Armbuster on guard, Wright walked to Hamlin avenue and Madison street to report to his station. Before he could leave the call box Policeman Armbuster appeared, looking dejected.

"Excuse me," he said, "but I've got to call the station, too. Soon after you left me two guys with guns got in the car and drove with me to an alley near Adams street and Keeler avenue. They made me take off my overcoat, they took my pistol and $30, and then they drove off with your car. They said it would be gone for about a month."

"And I had a new hat in the back seat of that car," said Wright.

SCRUBWOMAN TO RICHES

By CALEB

CAMERON BECK, Director of the New York Stock Exchange Institute, told us that several years ago a scrubwoman outside his office said to him, "Good evening, Mr. Beck. Tell me, please, the name of the young man who just left your office."

Half expecting a complaint, he said, "That is J—— B——. Why? What has he done?"

"Done? It's nothin' he's done, sir; I just want to tell you he's the finest young gentleman that has been around here in all the sixteen years I've been on the job, and I've seen 'em come and go, hundreds and hundreds."

Mr. Beck retraced his steps to his office and wrote on the personnel file card of J—— B——, "Scrubwoman called this boy a gentleman."

Three months later a member of the Stock Exchange said, "Mr. Beck, what page wears badge No. 118?"

"That is J—— B——. Why do you ask?"

"Yesterday noon I saw one of our uniformed boys step up to a woman just down the street. She seemed confused. He listened to her difficulties, led her into a near-at-hand building, asked several questions of the elevator starter, saw her difficulties dissolved—and a smile replace her expression of confusion. Then he excused himself and went on about his business."

Mr. Beck made another entry on the card.

SOME TIME later this page came to Mr. Beck's office and said, "I have been offered a job in the Stock Exchange firm of Mr. So-and-So (and he named the member who had reported the incident noted above). Shall I take the job?"

Mr. Beck put his hand on the boy's shoulder and said, "Get over to his office as fast as you can get. That's the opportunity you have been waiting for."

●

RECENTLY So-and-So said, "Mr. Beck, you remember J—— B——?"

"Very well, indeed."

"He is headed for a partnership in my firm."

●

THE story of J—— B—— is that of a boy who was a part of the world instead of apart from the world. J—— B—— had the fortunate faculty—cheap to cultivate but priceless to possess—of wanting to serve and help others—all others. It may not have occurred to many people that this same homey, homely quality which endears a boy to people in a small community helps and aids him in downtown New York—or anywhere else.

CLAIMS VENETIAN OLIGARCHY NOW RULES IN BRITAIN

English Weekly Points to Abdication Events.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 7.—The abdication last month of King Edward VIII. of England, now the duke of Windsor, was a veritable coup d'état, with the forces behind Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin ready, if necessary, to go as far as civil war, the New English Weekly charged today. The publication asserted that the events leading to the abdication showed Great Britain is ruled by a "Venetian oligarchy."

The article gave stimulus to what appears to be a renewed tendency here to try to get at the inside facts in the abdication. Another version of the affair now heard is that the skids had originally been prepared for Edward for this month, but because of favorable circumstances in November the abdication was forced earlier.

The Weekly's Article.

The article in the New English Weekly said:

"The events of recent months, culminating in the enforced abdication of King Edward, are a terrifying example of the lengths to which the secret Venetian oligarchy which controls England, with the house of commons as a formal register of its decrees, is prepared to push matters to maintain influence and authority.

"In this case the oligarchy has the powerful support of two archbishops, as King Edward was a man who disliked religious observance.

"King Edward made the great mistake of announcing his intention to marry a lady when she was still in married status. Whether this was done to affront the archbishops so that they would voluntarily surrender their statutory duty and right to attend the coronation can only be a matter of speculation.

Gave Foes Weapon.

"But the unwisdom of this act of King Edward cannot be gainsaid, as it provided his enemies with their own great weapon against him.

"The drama passed from the stage of gossip to action about the end of September when it was known in aristocratic circles that in the official visiting carried out by King Edward at the conclusion of his holiday, Mrs. Wallis Simpson was being treated by the rulers of Turkey and Greece as though she were queen of England.

"The only two facts which Mr. Baldwin disclosed in his speech were that he had decided to interview the king on the subject of his marriage intentions when he was staying in a house in the neighborhood of Fort Belvedere and that he had not consulted any member of the cabinet at that point.

"If one knew at whose house Baldwin was when he was directed to undertake that mission, one might identify the personnel of the oligarchy which has manipulated this crisis on quite medieval lines, fearing the activities of King Edward as an unconventional personality inspired with real indignation at the poverty of people living in rat holes, from which the aristocracy and prelatry of England profit so exceedingly.

Hits U. S. "Plutocrats."

"American plutocratic influence, represented by the Morgan-Astor gang, was thrown into the scale against King Edward, Mr. Pierpont Morgan being a close friend of the archbishop of Canterbury.

"Ladies of the English aristocracy were pressing their husbands and relatives hard as King Edward gave no sign of getting rid of Mrs. Simpson. He was relying, mistakenly as it turned out, on his general popularity.

"But he underrated the forces against him and never prepared himself for the tactics which were adopted. The ridiculous story spread that he was a Fascist and Mrs. Simpson was a Nazi agent! This was done to silence the Labor party, which might not be inclined to sacrifice the monarch to the ravening wolves of the aristocracy and prelatry.

"The Trick Works."

"The trick worked very successfully. If the Labor party reflected for a moment they might have asked themselves whether such a report could be reconciled with King Edward's actions in Vienna after the suppression of the Socialist revolt, signing the book in a Socialist house and interceding with the Austrian government on behalf of the Socialist rebels.

"The way in which Baldwin can swallow the Labor party whole is one of the amazing facts of English politics.

"The working classes are in a state of bewilderment at the attitude of the Labor party, a bewilderment increased by the remarkable stories afloat concerning a deal between the Labor inner chamber and Baldwin on the subject of the abdication bill.

"The house of commons never was permitted to discuss the cardinal issue, namely, whether the legal right of the king of England to marry the lady of his choice was to be taken away from him partly because the lady's legal status was doubtful, but chiefly because she was disliked by the ladies of the artistocracy and the prelates.

Edward's Error.

"The king legally need not consult any one on his marital choice. He could marry a person of any nationality, color, station in life, creed, or character, provided the lady was not a Roman Catholic. The error Edward committed was in choosing a lady who is in married status, until April next, and announcing his determination to marry her before her divorce decree had been made absolute.

"The country should recognize that Edward was jockyed out of his rights as a king by a conspiracy quite medieval in character and method. The people behind Baldwin were prepared to force the issue to the point of civil war, setting up a king of a conservative republic if the royal family maintained its original position supporting Edward.

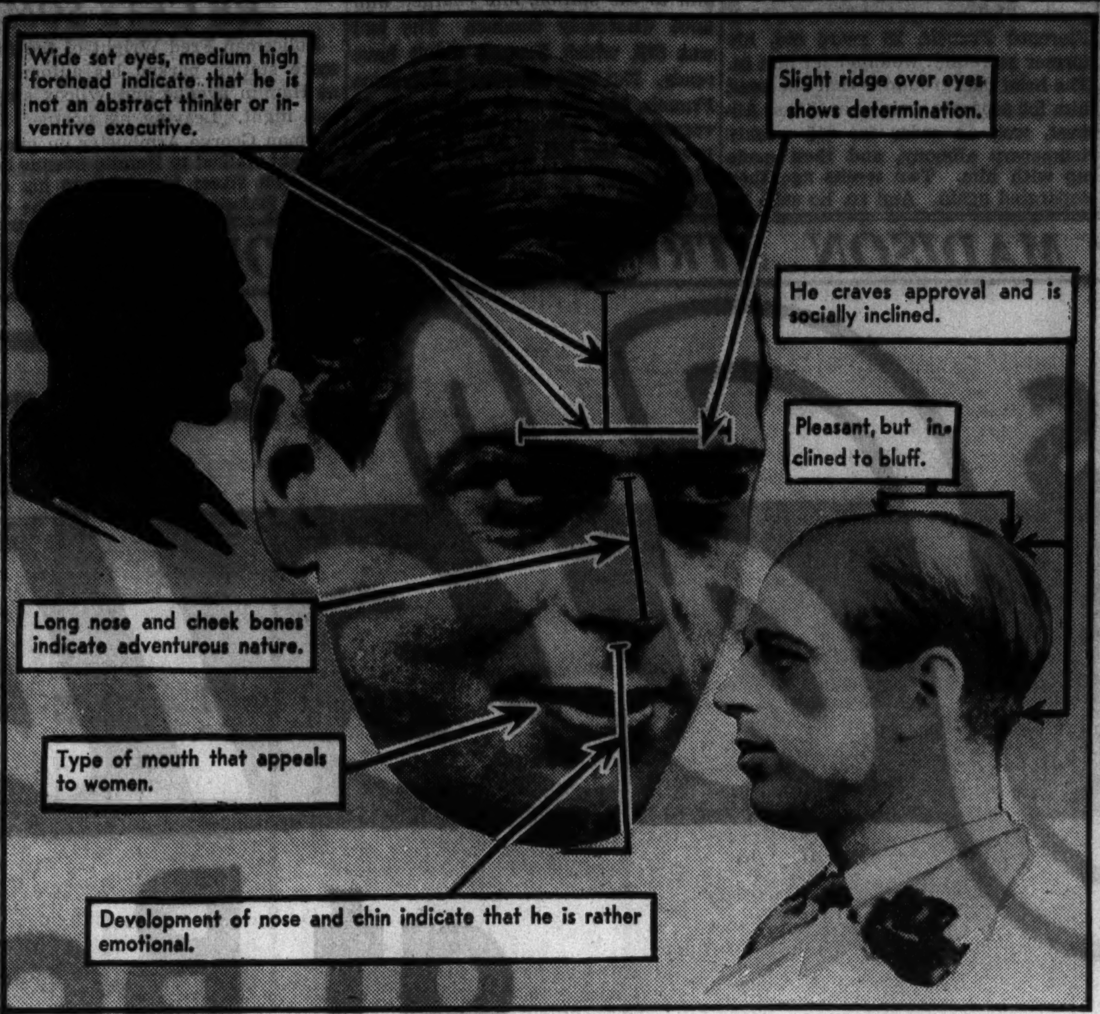
"It was thanks to Edward's moderation in the face of the violence of his opponents in the aristocracy and the church that the dispute did not develop into a civil war. Treason prospered and the king abdicated.

"It is rather interesting to note that Oscar Wilde's story, 'The Young King,' contained an excellent forecast of what was likely to happen to any unconventional king who was disliked by the bishops and the aristocracy."

IDENTIFY MAN HIT BY STREET CAR.

The pedestrian seriously injured Wednesday night when he was struck by a street car at Division street and Kedvale avenue was identified yesterday at St. Ann's hospital as Oscar Olson, 60 years old, 1156 North Kedvale avenue, a musical instrument maker.

Frank Phrenologist Reads Bumps on Head of Duke



Wide set eyes, medium high forehead indicate that he is not an abstract thinker or inventive executive.
Slight ridge over eyes shows determination.
He craves approval and is socially inclined.
Pleasant, but inclined to bluff.
Long nose and cheek bones indicate adventurous nature.
Type of mouth that appeals to women.
Development of nose and chin indicate that he is rather emotional.

Above diagram is the result of a candid examination of the bumps on the head of the duke of Kent by Dr. J. M. Fitzgerald of Chicago. Since the duke visited a Ludgate phrenologist all London has been wondering what his royal highness had learned about himself. Dr. Fitzgerald tells what he would have told the youngest brother of King George VI.

EDWARD AND ALFONSO MEET; BUY FILM ROLL AND SHAVING CREAM

VIENNA, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Two ex-kings—Edward VIII. of England and Alfonso of Spain — lunched and chatted today at the Imperial hotel. The duke of Windsor motored from Enzesfeld to the capital where he met Alfonso in the latter's hotel room. Later they joined a small luncheon party.

After the group broke up, the former kings went walking together. Alfonso stopped to buy some shaving cream. Edward purchased a roll of film at a drug store.

When the former Spanish monarch took his train to Munich, Edward spent the rest of the afternoon in the famous Diana bath, where he was treated by a chiropodist. The duke showed interest in the establishment, employés reported, and made arrangements to come back for another visit.

LONDONERS HEAR ALL IS NOT WELL WITH THE KENTS

Rift Rumored Between Duke and Duchess.

Odell's London phrenological institution. They were greeted by the stout receptionist known to regular Odell customers merely as Kate.

"Not unprepared for the consultation were Kate and the lean fingered Miss Bool.

"To Kate's disconcerting question, 'What name, sir?' the duke promptly responded, 'Mr. Allen,' but did not deceive the disarming receptionist."

"I knew he was tre duke of Kent all the time," she said afterward, according to the News Review.

"He came in laughing, holding his handkerchief over his face and with his coat collar turned up," she was quoted as saying. "The lady looked older than him. I should say she was about 36."

The News Review continued: "After the reading, flustered but still inquisitive, Kate once more asked her male client for his name. 'Mr. Allen,' he insisted and, according to Kate, ran downstairs laughing fit to bust.' The lady shook hands and followed him.

After describing the phrenological visit, the News Review said:

"Reckoned to be the best dancer in the royal family, the duke of Kent was a frequent partner before his marriage of the brunette "Poppy" Baring, now the wife of the parson's son, Peter Thursby, who is also honored by the duke's friendship.

Mayfair rumors also have connected Edythe Baker, American born pianist and actress, now the wife of Gerald d'Erlanger of the wealthy banking family, with the duke of Kent, particularly when he was Prince George. The News Review devoted an entire paragraph to the fact that the actress and the duke have "one great taste in common, an expertness at the piano."

[The duke of Kent attended the wedding in The Hague yesterday of Princess Juliana of the Netherlands and the German prince, Bernhard zu Lippe-Biesterfeld. The duchess, who gave birth to her second child, a girl, on Christmas day, is resting at the Kent town house, Belgrave square.]

Sentence Still Owner After Blast Fatal to Two

Otto Bonato, 41 years old, 10761 South Western avenue, was fined $500 and sentenced to six months in the county jail by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday on his plea of guilty to a charge of violating the internal revenue law. Bonato was arrested after his wife and daughter, Virginia, 14 years old, were fatally burned in an explosion of a still in the Bonato home last July 3.

CHICAGOAN PUTS KING'S BROTHER OVER THE BUMPS

Here's What Phrenologist Told Him—Maybe!

When the duke of Kent visited a Ludgate phrenologist the other day to learn what the bumps on his head indicate about his personality, his royal highness set all London talking. And fashionable Mayfair society is still talking; wondering, too, what the young man learned. The duke of Kent is the second member of England's royal family to cause talk in recent months—he is the youngest brother of the duke of Windsor and of King George VI.

If the phrenologist, whom he visited, flattered the duke, then there's no way of guessing what the authority on bumps really said.

What Chicago Expert Says.

But if the phrenologist's a candid fellow, here's what he should have told Kent, in the opinion of Dr. J. M. Fitzgerald, a vocational counselor at 7 West Madison street who was for many years a phrenologist:

The duke's a trifle inclined to do as he pleases, he likes approbation, and he'll shock people, if necessary, to get it.

Dr. Fitzgerald took what the phrenologist said he said with a grain of salt. The Chicago man began with the duke's chin and went right up to the top of his head and then down the back to his ears, to determine the characteristics of the duke.

He's Emotional, Too.

A look at the duke's photograph, Dr. Fitzgerald said, would show any one that the duke is rather emotional, because of the ample development from his chin to his nose.

Kent's long nose and the shape of his cheek bones show that he's adventurous, said Dr. Fitzgerald. What's more, he has decidedly kissable lips and a tremendous appeal to women.

The wide set eyes and the not-too-high forehead are indications to phrenologists that the duke is not an abstract thinker or an inventive executive, in Dr. Fitzgerald's opinion. But for all that, he is a critical analyst. In the forehead Dr. Fitzgerald sees also a tendency to suspect strangers. The slight ridge above the eyes is interpreted as indication that Kent would be a good athlete, for it shows determination.

"I Do as I Please."

If the upper frontal part of the head is not overly developed, the back of the head is. And in that development Dr. Fitzgerald sees social inclinations, a craving for approval. There, too, Dr. Fitzgerald sees the spirit of "I do as I please."

In the contour of the head there is evidence of timidity, according to Dr. Fitzgerald, timidity that the duke tries to conceal by a blustery air.

If the duke is anything like his head would indicate, he knows what he wants and will make himself a nuisance sometimes to get it, Dr. Fitzgerald believes.

While the Kent's visit to a phrenologist surprised London, Dr. Fitzgerald said, phrenology is still very popular there. In this country, he said, it has developed into organic psychology.

TWO YOUTHS CLINGING TO SIDE OF MOUNTAIN SAVED AFTER 6 DAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 7.—Crack mountaineers and a daring doctor won a race with death today when they rescued two Bavarian cousins, both named Franz Frey, who had clung to the eastern wall of Watzmann mountain in Bavaria almost since New Year's day.

The rescue party for six days fought avalanches, blinding snowstorms and heavy rain squalls in a desperate struggle to save the two mountain climbers.

This morning 12 picked mountaineers, including a doctor, made the final ascent in a drenching rain. Then one of them descended a rope toward the two youths 50 feet below the summit. He succeeded in passing a rope to the two boys, nearly unconscious from exposure and strain. The three then were hauled to safety.

Bakery Head Will Pay Ex-Wife $10,000 Alimony

Alfred N. Sommer, 48 years old, 3750 Lake Shore drive, president of the Vienna Model bakery, has agreed to pay $10,000 alimony to Mrs. Dorothy McConnell Sommer, 34 years old, a former model. This was revealed yesterday when Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan signed Mrs. Sommer's divorce decree. Sommer will pay the alimony at the rate of $40 a week, the decree provides. At her divorce hearing on Monday Mrs. Sommer testified that her husband struck her twice. They were married in 1931 and separated last Aug. 28.

Court Refuses to Block Raids on Cigaret Machine

Judge Walter T. Stanton in the Superior court yesterday denied a temporary injunction to restrain the cit police from continuing their seizur of cigaret vending machines. NECESSITY
"With two small children in the house, a cough remedy like REM is a necessity. Both of them take it without coaxing."
Mr. Cliff C. Drier
5124 A, Riverview Blvd., St. Louis
Lots of people feel the way Mr. Drier does about REM. That's how good a cough medicine it is . . . delighted users are glad to pass the good word along. There are definite reasons why REM is so very effective:
(1) REM is a real cough medicine, not just a "tickle stopper."
(2) REM clings--and clings--and clings to the throat, soothes the irritation, quiets the cough.
(3) REM works two ways . . . not only in the throat, but also systemically. That's what makes it so very much more effective.
So if you have a cough, resulting from a cold, don't fool around with it! Go after it with a real cough medicine like REM.

POPE DECIDES TO LEAVE SICKBED FOR WHEEL CHAIR

Pontiff May Attempt to Use It Today.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 7.—Though he knows himself to be a dying man, Pope Pius XI. has decided to leave his sick bed to move about his apartment in a wheel chair, it was learned today.

A specially constructed apparatus, resembling a hospital trundle more than the usual wheel chair, built in such a way that the pope's partially paralyzed left leg can be held straight, arrived at the Vatican today. The pontiff will try to use it shortly, perhaps tomorrow, if the slight improvement in his condition which was noted again this morning continues.

Pain in Leg Diminishes.

The pope's state was described as having "a slight tendency toward improvement," rather than showing absolute improvement. In plain language it means that the pain in his left leg continues to abate slightly as circulation is bettered and the 79 year old invalid becomes a little less feeble. His heart rhythm, too, is responding to rest and skillfully administered doses of digitalis and now is less irregular. The pope's breathing also is less labored.

Hardening of the arteries, however, is an irreversible process which can only end in death. At the advanced stage of the process reached by the pope this condition cannot even be substantially delayed nor can his kidney or bladder functions be entirely restored.

Pope Pius is perfectly aware of this, but wishes all the same to leave his bed, which is extremely irksome for a man of his active temperament. He particularly dislikes receiving important visitors in bed. Perhaps at the back of his mind is the idea that some day, when he feels particularly strong, he might have himself wheeled to the library for a last look at the rows of venerable tomes which as papal librarian he lovingly tended for so many years.

Repeats Latin Motto.

When visitors ask after the pope's health he frequently answers by the Latin motto he coined: "Ne recuso dolorem, peto laborem," and in fact declares he supports pain much better than enforced idleness.

The pope's mind remains entirely lucid and his memory, if anything, is clearer than usual, Vatican circles declare. They add that particularly in the afternoon, when he is strongest, he loves to reminisce about his early life, even recalling the minutest details of his childhood.

Nearly all the pope's time which is not devoted to dealing with problems of church administration or prayer, however, is spent listening to his secretary read from Ludwig Pastor's monumental work, the History of Popes.

Snow Falls in San Pedro, Cal.; First in 25 Years

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Snow, for the first time in a quarter of a century, fell in San Pedro tonight as a storm, which brought hail, rain squalls, and strong winds to various parts of the southland, moved gradually inland, leaving southern California and most other sections of the state in the grip of a cold wave. Snow also fell in Long Beach. The mercury dropped to 28 above zero in the citrus belt and touched a season's low record of 38 in the downtown area of Los Angeles.

Skull Cracked as Result of Standing Near Tracks

James A. Wolf, 52 years old, 5640 North Mulligan avenue, was critically injured early today when he was struck by a North Western railroad train at the Nagel avenue crossing, near Avondale avenue. F. Crighton of Crystal Lake, the engineer, said Wolf was standing close to the rails and may have been sucked in by the rush of air as the train swept past him. Wolf was taken to the Belmont hospital, suffering from a double skull fracture. He is an employé in the composing room of THE TRIBUNE.

Lock Baby in Car While They See Show; Arrested

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—(AP)—A couple said by police to have locked their 8 month old baby in a parked automobile while they attended a movie was confronted today with a charge of cruelty to children. Franklin Moore, 41, relief worker, and his wife, Lucille, 26, were released under bond for a grand jury hearing. Police said they were summoned to the car by a passerby who heard the wailing of the baby, Franklin Jr. They testified the child was choking on a string of beads at the time.

Plane Crash Victim

Lieut. Richard H. Gorsline, 25 years old, a graduate of Lake View High school and of the United States Naval academy, was killed on Wednesday when the stunting plane in which he was flying crashed into a mudflat in Honolulu. Petty Officer Harvey J. Combs, who was with him, was seriously injured. The two men were attached to the U. S. S. Louisville.

Gorsline was the son of Samuel G. Gorsline, who for nine years was Boy Scout commissioner of Chicago. The Gorsline family lived at 4052 Greenview avenue, River Forest, until last September when its members moved to Battle Creek, Mich.

Young Gorsline is survived by his widow, the former Jeanne West of Washington, D. C.; his parents, and a brother and sister.

Death of Schoolboy, 8, Is Laid to Heart Attack

Dr. George O'Brien, coroner's physician, said after an examination yesterday that the death of Robert Plum, 8 years old, who was stricken suddenly Wednesday afternoon in the second grade classroom of Roosevelt elementary school in South Hampton, was caused by a heart attack. The police at first believed he might have been a victim of food poisoning.

FARLEY REPORTS POSTAL DEFICIT OF $16,909,676

Claims Revenue Increase of 34½ Millions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Postmaster General James A. Farley, also chairman of the Democratic national committee, was unable to show a surplus in the operations of his department in his annual report made public today.

The net deficit of operations for the fiscal year which ended last June 30 is set at 16 million dollars in a stewardship letter to the President. The exact figure given in the report is $16,909,676.50.

Farley pointed with pride to an increase in postal revenues of "35 million dollars over the fiscal year of 1935." The report reveals the increase to be $34,548,054.51. This, he said, is the second such increase since 1930.

Claim Deficit Is Greater.

Where Farley's two previous reports pointed to actual surpluses and the present report admits a deficit, critics have declared his department was run at a deficit in the 1934 and 1935 fiscal years and was operated at a deficit of 89 million dollars in the year covered by the present report.

The difference of opinion lies in Farley's interpretation of expenditures. Farley charges off air and ocean mail subsidies and all free mail—an item of $71,316,324 in the present report—from the department's expenditures as "nonpostal items."

This year, his letter to the President said, he would have been able to show a surplus, except for the additional costs of the forty hour week, fixed Oct. 1, 1935, and the extended building program. This item, he said, caused an outlay of 30 million dollars, "not previously carried in our budget."

First Surplus in 1934.

Farley showed his first surplus in the 1934 fiscal year when he claimed a 12 million dollar surplus as the greatest on record except that of 1918. It subsequently developed he was taking advantage of an act of June 9, 1930, and there was actually a deficit of 44 million dollars.

The act provided that estimated amounts that would have been collected on congressional and government franked mail, penalty mail, and all free mail, such as that received by the blind, could be charged off the deficiency. Farley also took credits for air and steamship mail contracts.

To achieve another surplus—of approximately 5 million dollars—Farley in his report of the 1935 fiscal year charged off items which would have totaled $69,537,252. Inclusion of these items would have given his department a deficit of 64 million dollars.

Differs from the Treasury.

In his bookkeeping system Farley differs with the phraseology of the treasury department. The treasury, in its daily statement, always carries a postal deficiency, which at present is up to 22 million dollars.

Farley departs from his "surplus" bookkeeping system in his estimates for the present fiscal year, which begins next July 1. He said that for the fiscal year to end next June 30 the department estimates its revenues at 715 million dollars and its expenditures, including nonpostal items, at 785 millions. The revenue for the fiscal year which ended last June 30 was 665 million dollars, so that the department expects a 50 million increase in business in the present year.

POWER FAILS IN STORM; 200 IN MINE 7 HRS.

Sleet Covers Springfield and Central Illinois.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Two hundred miners marooned 185 feet underground because of power failure due to a sleet storm, were brought to the surface at 11:30 tonight. None suffered ill effects.

The miners, stranded in mine A of the Central Illinois Coal company, a mile west of Springfield, were taken several miles underground to the cage shaft of mine B, where a lift was working.

Others Remain Below.

The electric power failed in mine A at 2:30 p. m., but resumed about 4 p. m., long enough to bring the two cageloads to the surface. The others, without food since noon, remained below.

The sleet storm caused widespread damage and inconvenience at Springfield and other cities in mid-Illinois. Tree branches littered the streets and poles toppled, pulling down wires.

Police urged the people to remain indoors if possible. Both walking and motoring were reported dangerous due to crashing limbs and wires.

Treat 33 Emergency Cases.

St. Joseph's hospital reported it treated 33 emergency cases resulting from the storm, but said none was seriously injured. City hospital reported its emergency facilities were taxed.

Intercity communication was available only to Chicago, St. Louis, and Peoria, all connected by cables, and the village of Illiopolis.

Jacksonville was reported virtually isolated. Wires were down in all directions and the city was without light or power. Reports from New Berlin, 15 miles west of Springfield, were that 100 poles were down.

FOG OVER CHICAGO

A heavy smoke laden fog lay over Chicago all day yesterday, crippling both surface and air trafic. Air line officials said the murky skies extended from Detroit to Omaha, and that as a result nearly all planes were grounded.

Last night, as the fog turned into a light rain, a Milwaukee road suburban train skidded on an ice covered track and went off a derail two and a half miles southeast of Elgin. The engine, tender, and two of the three coaches left the rails, jolting some 250 passengers. The engineer and firemen were bruised as they leaped from the cab.

Forecaster J. R. Lloyd said today is likely to continue rainy and that tomorrow will bring snow and much colder weather.

MYSTERY WOMAN OF MORGUE FOUND TO BE A NURSE

The young woman found unconscious on a bench in the county morgue Wednesday evening was identified yesterday as Miss Marjorie Harris, 30 years old, a nurse at the Illinois Central hospital.

Identification was made in the County hospital by her father, Paul R. Harris of 803 Bellforte avenue, Oak Park, a former investment broker.

Harris explained that his daughter had suffered from nervousness since a hip affliction forced her to remain for six months in a cast extending from her neck to her ankles. Physicians said she had taken an overdose of sleeping powder, but would recover.

THE STATE OF THE UNION.

President Roosevelt cannot be allowed a monopoly of desiring that democracy have strength and durability for its preservation. There would be hardly a dissenting voice raised in the country. It is the desire of all Americans and exceptions need not be considered. Democracy was the greatest gift we received. To pass it on is the greatest duty. Its value has been enhanced year by year as other peoples of great countries have lost its privileges.

It is natural for older Americans, citizens whose minds were trained in earlier days, to be more cautious and probably more conservative in their views than younger people, especially those so young as to have received their most vivid impressions out of depression years. People who have struggled through several periods of demoralized economic conditions may have more faith in the order which they have found to survive triumphantly than other peoples whose one experience has been the present.

The wiser conservatives, if they are to be so termed, do not look for a world without change. They hope that changes, as they come, will be made without sacrifice of values which can be lost only with injuries the effect of which they cannot calculate. President Roosevelt continues to doubt the sincerity of many honest people who in truth have an entirely disinterested purpose in trying to keep intact what they think are the essentials of the democracy they hope will continue. The sacrifice of these principles has proved in other countries, in this and other times, to be the sacrifice of democracy itself.

If it can proudly raise its head here in these troubled times, is it not because thus far it has adhered to the ideas which are its breath of life? In no country in which democracy has been sacrificed has the argument of justification been other than the common good. No government abroad which Mr. Roosevelt views with alarm has said that its purpose was to benefit a powerful self-seeking class. Each such government proclaims its intention to help all the people and bring them the benefit of its wise and just rule.

We think it indisputable that the very great majority of the American people are guided by an enlightened self-interest which recognizes that the common good is the most important consideration. Predatory men do not make the composite photograph of the American people. America, it may be truly said, is a land of good intention. If it were not it would not be itself and it could hardly have arrived at its present stature among nations.

What changes are in store for the democracy in its natural progress may not be clearly perceivable at any one time. It is every well intentioned person's wish that there should be a steady and progressive improvement in the security, dependability, and comfort of American life. No group of men can claim distinction by arrogating a superior humanity to themselves. Their feelings are generally shared.

Where injustice is done, the American people want it corrected. Where people suffer when relief could be given them, it is the hope of the American people as a whole that relief will be found. The most considerate champions of American democracy ask that nothing be done rashly or intemperately. They would ask that the testing ground be used and that changes as they come should be thoughtfully adjusted to the long time needs of the American republic. With the new legislation already in the law, America is conducting a series of experiments and inevitably time will show what is wrong and what is right.

President Roosevelt has been returned to office with a great popular vote, with only two states against him in the electoral college, and his party has full control of the national legislature. The party's power is great and its responsibilities are correspondingly large. The President's address on the state of the Union, although more rhetorical than definitive, reveals him as still in the aggressive spirit. He proposes later to give congress more specific recommendations.

Later, then, the discussions will become sharp and shall it be necessary to remind Americans that opposition is the check which democracy, for its own preservation, sets up against its government?

THE SCOTTISH CHICAGO.

A commentator in the Spectator of London says that Glasgow cannot afford the reputation of the Scottish Chicago. This admonition is not only an open animadversion thrown at our fair city but also a covert dig at the Scottish city, brought forth by an account of its gang fighting.

A book with the title "No Mean City" described the fights in which broken bottles and razors were used, and the Spectator found corroboration in the police reports and court records. A witness in a murder trial said he saw one gangster jabbing a dead man with a broken bottle while a second hit him over the head with a hatchet. A third was using a poker. One of the gangs had taken the pastoral name of The Arcadians. Another was more appropriately known as the Billy Boys. A member of one of the gangs confessed that their fights were frequent and that they usually found an excuse in religion.

The Scottish city can be left to defend its own name. It may be that the English have grown too timid to provide their northern neighbors with the outlet their combativeness requires in foreign lands and consequently they have to let off steam at home. Anyway, they are able to defend themselves, and these remarks will concern themselves merely with the Chicago reference. In the gangiest days Chicago ever had, and it has almost completely put them in the past, none of the gangsters would have gone after another for anything except what he regarded as an enlightened self-interest. He would have thought it infantile to gang any one for the fun of it, or with a broken bottle, a hatchet, or a razor.

Chicago gangs operated along well recognized business lines and it was big business. They used the most modern weapons they could procure and they fought for territory and profit in an imperialistic fashion. Fortunately for the peace of the city, they are nearly all dead or in prison or in protective retirement. Bad characters still remain, as in any large city, and no doubt they group together in some instances, but an exception must be taken to a comparison which hooks up Chicago with such events as are alleged to disturb the Glasgow peace.

And in Scotland, you may be sure, these happenings do not represent the generally accepted and commended way of combining Scotch and a bottle.

THE SUICIDE MANIA.

According to President Downs of the Illinois Central, 179 crossing gates were smashed by motorists during the year 1936. To the thoughtless operator the statement is merely another statistical item, but to the sane, honest, law abiding citizen whom we like to regard as the average American the assertion is appalling. Along a single line of railroad 179 persons disregarded bells, flashing lights, and other warning signals in crazy attempts to kill themselves and murder those riding with them by smashing the barriers dropped across the highway for their protection.

The red light crashers present a similar psychology—that insane desire to get to the head of the procession. They account for a substantial proportion of the 800 dead and nearly 20,000 injured on Chicago streets during the last year. City engineers and the police, armed with exact statistics to indicate the hazards of the intersection, have decided that signal protection is necessary. The motorist with a very limited vision substitutes his judgment for that of experts, and a crash occurs because he was not nearly as good as he thought he was.

Until elevated highways are constructed there is nothing that can be done about it except to appeal constantly to the reason of the driver. Police and trafic courts are functioning at top speed, but their number is insufficient, and even if increased tenfold would still be inadequate. This the expert driver well knows, because one cannot proceed a mile without encountering several of these crazy fools dodging through the trafic with continual risk of life and limb to accomplish—absolutely nothing.

ON THE OTHER FOOT.

With both Britain and Germany protesting against interference with their merchant ships in the Spanish war zone the time is ripe for recalling the positions on the same matter taken by these nations twenty years ago.

There were legalistic differences between them at the time, but they were not very important. In effect, England said that it was contrary to the best interest of mankind, the law of nations, and the decalog that any supplies of any sort reach Germany. Accordingly, the British navy undertook to halt all ships bound for European ports, seize the mails, remove passengers, seize the cargoes if desired, and seize even the ships themselves.

Germany's position was roughly the same. As a belligerent, Germany proclaimed her right under the law of nations, the Sermon on the Mount, and the higher freedom of the seas to interfere to the best of her ability with any ship anywhere within sailing distance of an allied port. Germany proclaimed the right not only to seize the ship and its contents but to sink both and to do so without warning.

At present German officials are in high dudgeon because the Spanish government halted a German ship for a few hours, removed certain war supplies and a suspected Spaniard and then allowed the ship to go on its way. British officials are in a slightly lower dudgeon because a Spanish insurgent ship fired a warning shot at a British merchant vessel which declined to take the hint and fled.

If the Spanish government is looking for arguments to send to Berlin we suggest that a brief search through the notes sent by the German government to President Wilson will produce them, and if the Spanish insurgents are looking for diplomatic defenses they will find none better than those sent from London at about the same time.

Editorial of the Day

[Arkansas Gazette.]

It is now about 2,000 years since Lucretius exhorted the human race to trust its reason and forget its superstitious fears. But in this year 1936 Englishmen are talking of the "omens" which foretold a brief, unhappy reign for King Edward VIII.

These suppositional portents consisted of such things as the falling of the Maltese cross from the imperial crown as the body of Edward's father was being taken to Westminster hall to lie in state; the temporary breakdown of police arrangements to protect the crowds gathered to watch the royal funeral procession, and the incident on Constitution hill when a loaded revolver was thrown at the feet of the new king's horse. But that is not all. Dark powers of nature conspired to deny Edward "king's weather." It rained on almost every one of his first public appearances. It snowed when he went to Portland to inspect the home fleet. The state procession to open his first and only session of parliament had to be hurriedly canceled because of the heaviest rain for weeks.

Savages think it is to their advantage to propitiate the rain gods and sun gods. In medieval England great importance would have been attached to trivial incidents into which a portentous significance might be read, either before or after the event. Apparently some modern English people are not so far away in their thinking from the savages or from their own medieval ancestors.

HOW MAKE 'EM THINK?

I rise in indignation as I read "Please Let 'Em Think" in the Line of Jan. 4. We teachers are forced to take an authoritative attitude. The majority of students won't think, and many can't. It is with great joy that we occasionally discover an adolescent who can answer our leading questions—one who is interested in something more than movies and dates.

We admit many shortcomings in our teaching, but we are limited far more by the quality of the minds we are trying to train than by our own lack of progressive methods. We do try to "compel the young mind to think," but it is nearly a hopeless task. H. S. Teacher.

AND SO THE ISSUE is raised. It is far from settled. The minds of high school pupils, current model, probably are similar to the minds of their parents; hence not too good and probably resistant to education. But we feel that the question is begged when mind quality is blamed for the school systems' poor turnouts of material. Our own feeling is that child minds are good enough to make better, and that the methods in the primary grades fail to accomplish enough improvement. Is there not too much parroting, and should not instruction be devoted more fully to appreciation of the values of learning? Is there no way to create among the youngsters of 6 to 14 an enthusiasm for knowledge, and wouldn't that enthusiasm carry over into high school? We are not sure enough to be pontifical, and crave more information and opinion.

THE FAT BOY OR GIRL.

MOST children, if left to themselves, will present a rather hopeless picture of health protection. Occasionally we will see, however, a motherly lass of 10 years whose chief interest in life seemingly is to make sure that Johnny, aged 8, and Betty, aged 5, are properly bundled up. But it is surprising how few children, even when shivering, will bother to put on extra wraps.

Appetite is another factor that is rarely controled by the child himself, even though there is a marked tendency to a grotesque type of obesity. The very fat boy or girl is often so unhappy over his or her physical condition one would assume that anything which would help to keep the weight within bounds would be adopted without argument.

Some of those who have studied the problem of the overweight child have come to the conclusion that the tendency to stoutness is an individual characteristic. We cannot overlook the fact, however, that the great majority include those who eat far more than they can possibly use or eliminate. The result is a piling up of a reserve in various parts of the body. We see children—girls, usually—who remind us of the gross female figures depicted by the painter Rubens. They are the roly-poly sort—good-natured, but not likely to be leaders either in games or in other types of school activity.

Many of these chubby youngsters will change abruptly about the period of puberty. Sometimes the weight will hang on until the age of 16 or 18, when, within a few months, growth will be observed to be very rapid, with a melting away of excess fat. In such circumstances physicians are likely to attribute the change to increased activity on the part of the pituitary gland.

When the problem is approached from a common sense point of view most of these young persons will coöperate, as many can be made to realize how much extra food they are taking. Not so with parents, who are inclined to minimize the rôle of food. They are more desirous that the patient be given some glandular extract instead of following a sensible reducing regimen.

The best and safest type of management is a reduction diet and, at the outset, the child must take part in the effort. The desirability of possessing normal muscles is not a difficult lesson to teach. The menu should be that of the average height and age, at the same time enough being added to provide for growth. Green vegetables, meat, fish, eggs, but very little starches and sugars and little or no fat should be the rule.

In many instances water is a factor, as the tissues have been conditioned to hold more water than they can eliminate. If the victim is told to drink freely early in the morning and to use but little fluid during the balance of the day weight will sometimes disappear due to the reëstablishment of a normal fluid balance.

Another substance is common salt. The habit of using salt is as old as civilization and we need a certain amount, but most of us use entirely too much. It is not necessary to go on a salt free diet, but as little as possible should be used in the preparation of food. Potassium chloride may be substituted at the table. If there is a craving for sweets, saccharin in small doses may be utilized.

Good posture must be emphasized, as otherwise many of these obese boys and girls will become swaybacked. They can be taught to breathe correctly by means of exercises in which the abdominal muscles are contracted tightly.

Three out of four will respond to a carefully controled diet regimen, but there are some exceptions in which a peculiar glandular syndrome seems to be unable to burn up either tissues or foods.

SCIATICA.

Mrs. H. C. F. writes:

1. What causes sciatica?

2. Is it a nervous ailment, or does it signify some deficiency in the physical condition?

3. Can it be cured?

4. What can a sufferer from this affliction do to help get rid of it?

5. Do heat applications help?

6. Is a change of climate necessary to cure?

REPLY.

1. Sciatica occurs most commonly in males and is generally a disease of adult life. It may appear in the course of or subsequent to infections—gout, rheumatism, and diabetes; in pelvic disturbances such as inflammation of the uterus or the prostate. Exposure, especially chilling, is frequently given as the immediate cause.

2. It is a nervous ailment in that it attacks the sciatic nerve.

3. Yes. However, it may endure for weeks, months, or years, depending on the underlying cause, the age, the general condition of the patient, the treatment, etc.

4. Treatment consists first and foremost in rest. Stay in bed until you are free from pain on standing and walking. Avoid sitting or lying on hard surfaces.

5. Yes. The application of warm packs, dry heat, or an electric pad often gives great comfort. Hot sitz baths and diathermy are of benefit.

6. Removal to a warm climate or treatment at spas has been of value.

SURGERY IS BEST.

C. L. writes: Is surgery the only way to cure piles? How about the shrinking method by injections?

REPLY.

The injection treatment is unsuitable for external hemorrhoids. They will persist unless removed surgically. Internal hemorrhoids may be treated by injection.

MANILA.—American merchants in Manila accuse Japan of "sharp practice" in pushing its economic penetration of the Philippines at the expense of the United States.

The cotton goods market here, once practically an American monopoly, is now fast becoming Japan's, and one reason, it is charged, is Japan's "violation" of a "gentlemen's agreement" made two years ago with the United States.

Under this accord the Japanese bound themselves to limit their exports of cotton cloth to the Philippines to 90,000,000 square yards for two years, or an average of 45,000,000 square yards a year. The agreement went into effect in November, 1935.

As President Manuel L. Quezon had announced his intention of introducing a bill in the legislature providing for increased duties on Japanese cloth, the state department's action was supposed to have been inspired by a fear of diplomatic complications with Japan.

The Japanese have observed the pact from the standpoint of their "direct" exports from Osaka mills to the Philippines, but they have "beaten the game" by transshipping large quantities of cotton cloth to the Philippines from other far eastern ports, including British Hongkong, Singapore, Shanghai, and even from Dairen, Manchukuo, and the ports of Corea.

The Nipponese have brought in tens of thousands of yards labeled "Made in Hongkong," or "Made in China." In the case of imports from Chinese ports such as Shanghai, Tsingtao or Tientsin, the product has come directly from Japanese-owned mills in those cities, while in the case of Hongkong it is alleged the Japanese imports have deliberately been misbranded in order to get around the "gentlemen's pact."

Another weak point in Secretary Hull's deal with Japan was the failure to include rayon, which the Japanese are now dumping on the Manila market in large quantities and at prices which enable the Filipinos to use it in place of higher-priced American cotton cloth. Japan's sales of rayon in the Manila market from January to September, 1936, amounted to 18,171,189 square meters. American sales were less than 300,000 square meters.

The following table covering imports of cotton cloth shows how the Japanese have succeeded in circumventing the "gentlemen's agreement."

	Sept. 1936.	Jan. to Sept. 1936.
From Japan [direct]....	2,409,103	25,054,414
From Japan [via Hongkong].......	860,174	9,162,365
From Japan [via Singapore]........	9,147	9,147
From Hongkong [origin unstated]......	574,933	5,774,086
From China [probably Japanese mills]........	192,129	3,851,898
From United States.....	1,823,293	20,540,605
Total imports........	5,958,779	64,393,515

While numerous other Japanese products have made great inroads into the Philippine market, the cotton goods situation is most serious and indicative of disastrous tendencies unless steps are taken to restore the American position through increased Philippine tarif rates.

HATS IN THE THEATER.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—There is a statute on the books here in Chicago which I should like to see taken out and dusted and enforced. It is the one making it compulsory for women to remove their hats in all theaters and opera. It used to be enforced, but theaters no longer pay any attention to it.

I have been seriously inconvenienced every time I have been to the theater this fall. There is no hat that does not obstruct the view of the person behind more than the human head, and in these days when theater tickets cost so much seeing is an object. Cannot we arouse some public sentiment behind such a movement and have this ordinance enforced?

ELFLEDA [MRS. EDGAR J.] GOODSPEED.

CAN CONGRESS GRANT A DIVORCE?

Chicago, Jan. 4.—One of your correspondents has objected to my statement that sovereign governments have power over the civil contracts of their citizens, including that of marriage, and advances the theory that congress is unable to legislate regarding this form of contract without a constitutional amendment.

Marriages between citizens of a state are subject to the laws of that state. Marriages between citizens of territories of the United States are subject to laws enacted by the congress.

If shipping captains are empowered by congress to perform marriages on the high seas, in the discretion of congress, they could as well be delegated power to annul marriages.

A citizen of a state possesses the right to petition the legislature of that state, as a sovereign, to annul a marriage. A citizen of a territory of the United States, or resident in foreign land, possesses the right to petition congress to take like action. In neither case is any constitutional right involved.

Your correspondent appears to have become confused by the movement to extend the powers of congress over civil contracts in its own territories to include that of marriage in the territories of the several states, this movement being known as one for a uniform divorce law. This will require a constitutional amendment, for the states must relinquish the present rights to congress. There is not involved, however, any question of the legislative powers of congress in territories outside the several states.

SPANISH IN THE COMIC STRIPS.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—I read the letter titled "Spanish in the Comic Strips" sent in by "Bonita se rie" of Boyceville, Wis.

Spain having been the country of my birth, and having used Spanish all my life, I wish to defend Mr. Zack Mosley in the use he makes of "felices Pascuas" and "piloto."

"Felices Pascuas" is the correct greeting for Christmas. Easter is "Pascuas de resurreccion," but "Pascuas" usually means Christmas.

"Piloto" is correct and not "pilota," though perhaps more commonly used for a ship's pilot. "Aviador" is another word for pilot in an airship.

CHRISTMAS CARDS FROM UNCLE SAM.

New York, Jan. 2.—I read with interest your editorial criticism on business cards at Christmas. One might add that there is even less excuse for a growing custom of federal bureaus of mailing to all and sundry [franked of course] ads concerning their work under the guise of Christmas greetings. One seen recently was from the United States coast and geodetic survey, a mapping organization: more ornate than a valentine its three pages of intricate and multi-colored design must have cost several hundred dollars in time and material.

The fear of losing identity in the face of coming reorganization is doubtless behind these efforts to keep before the people; but government units which take personnel off public business in order to construct such pretties are unwittingly presenting a fine counter-argument.

BOTH.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—We students want to abolish the old-fashioned history teacher who requires students to write everything they learn. So far this semester in a history class at our high school the pupils have been required to write more than forty pages of written work in answering questions from mimeographed sheets.

In another class not a bit of writing has been done except for periodic tests. The instructor has the students read an assignment in the textbook and then recite on it. He then picks out the high spots, etc., and lectures on them. To our minds, and to the minds of a majority of our fellow students, the latter method is better. Which method do you think is better? AL AND WALLY.

MONEY OWED ESTATE.

Chicago, Jan. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Last July my mother died leaving no will. There are three heirs, two brothers and a sister. The estate consists of a small amount of life insurance and some unimproved land in Missouri. The insurance is not sufficient to pay all hospital, doctor and funeral expenses, and the land, if it can be sold, would not bring very much.

1. If the land cannot be sold can the debtors sue the heirs for the unpaid bills?

2. Must the estate be probated before it is possible to sell the land?

3. What steps must be taken to settle the estate?

4. One of the sons and his wife signed a note for $500 which was loaned them by mother. Since her death they claim she advised them they did not need to pay it. The note is still with her papers and nothing is shown on it as to the cancelation. What steps, if any, can be taken to care for this? L. E.

1. No.

2. Yes.

3. The ordinary course would be to employ an attorney for probate proceedings.

4. One course would be for the administrator of her estate to bring an ordinary suit to collect the note. This is on the assumption that its amount would exceed the share of the maker. If the amount is less than his share then the administrator could present a final account setting off the debt against the share, and the maker would have an opportunity to be heard on objections to such final account.

MARCHING ON

	Lines
1936	21,755,814
1935	19,420,969
Gain	2,334,845

These impressive records are achieved because advertisers realize The New York Times is the basic advertising medium in New York—the foundation stone of successful advertising effort in this market.

This great volume of advertising becomes particularly significant—in total and by classifications—because it has been achieved without extra inducements, without special concessions of commercialized publicity, without extraneous advertising promotion schemes and without extra runs. All copy, moreover, has been subject to a strict censorship and published rates have been uniformly maintained.

Thus, in 1936, another stone was added to a strong foundation of advertising leadership. The Times keeps marching steadily ahead and we look forward to 1937 with enthusiasm.

2 DIE IN CHAIR, FOUR GET LIFE IN $240 KILLING

Three Saved by Court, Other by Governor.

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Both declaring their innocence, two men, instead of the originally scheduled six, were put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison tonight for the $240 holdup murder of Edwin Esposito, 22, subway coin collector.

After a day of dramatic excitement, Theodore Didonne, 31, and Joseph Bolognia, 24, followed one another to the chair while their four fellow gangsters, saved by executive clemency almost at the last moment, began serving life terms.

Didonne, a former longshoreman, shuffled into the death chamber with a half leer on his swarthy face. He kissed the cross proferred by the Rev. John P. McCaffrey, Catholic chaplain. Then, facing the two score witnesses, he said: "This is where injustice triumphs." Three minutes later he was dead.

Assails Newspaper Men.

While Didonne's body was being wheeled into the autopsy room two guards disappeared behind an oak paneled door marked "silence." Then the door opened noisily and Bolognia appeared between the two guards. He eyed the witnesses soberly as they led him toward the chair.

"These gentlemen, the newspapermen?" he asked. Without waiting for an answer he went on: "You made a fine mess of things," he said, "putting it in the paper that I was a tough guy and all that stuff. It is not true. I have always been a good kid."

Dead in Four Minutes.

Then he sat down and kissed the cross. In four minutes he, too, was dead.

The four who were saved by Gov. H. H. Lehman—three because the Court of Appeals disagreed as to the validity of their convictions by a vote of five to two—and one because he gave the state evidence—waited on their cots only a few feet away from the death chamber to which they had been consigned so recently.

Salvatore Scata, 19, Hartford, Conn., received a commutation of sentence shortly before he was to die. His head had been shaved and he was dressed in the shirt and trousers with slit leg for the chair. The three others received commutations yesterday.

Victim Follows Robber and Has Him Arrested

James Holley, 23 years old, 1205 North La Salle street, robbed Ira Blair, 3506 Franklin boulevard, a cab driver, of $1.80 early yesterday in Lincoln park. Blair followed him in his cab until he found a policeman, then had him arrested. Holley admitted the charge. He said he had come here five weeks ago from Charleston, W. Va.

Sues for Support

MRS. HARRIET S. LEBENSOHN

Mrs. Harriet S. Lebensohn, 30 years old, 5563 Jackson boulevard, asked Judge Donald S. McKinlay in the Superior court to award her temporary alimony from Dr. James E. Lebensohn, 42 years old, 20 East Delaware place, whom she is suing for divorce.

Questioned by her attorney, Harry X. Cole, Mrs. Lebensohn testified that her husband, who is an eye specialist and a member of the staf of the Northwestern university medical school, has a monthly income of $1,100. Dr. Lebensohn estimated his income at $400 a month. The wife's bill charges that she left the physician last Dec. 30, a year after their marriage, because he struck her for calling his mother, Mrs. Rose Lapine, 1028 North Harding avenue, a "trouble maker."

RIVALRY STARTED BY MAYOR SAVES CHICAGO $1,800

Competition inspired by Mayor Kelly between two contractors will save the city $1,800 this year in the cost of disposing of animals killed on Chicago streets. Bids opened yesterday by Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, showed the Municipal Western Removal company bidding $18,000 and the Canal Melting company, $19,800, the same price for which he had the contract in 1936.

While the saving in 1937 will be slight under the 1936 cost, this year's price is considerably less than has been paid by the city in other years. The cost to the city in 1935 and 1934 was $36,000 each year, $49,500 in 1933, $40,000 in 1932, and $70,000 annually for 1931, 1930, and 1929.

The annual report of the health department shows that 72,134 animals were removed from the streets last year, the largest number in the history of the city with the exception of 1928. Comparative figures show, Mr. Hewitt said, that the number of dead horses decreases as the number of automobiles increases. The number of dead dogs and cats increases.

HEART ATTACK IS FATAL.

SHEPPARD URGES WAR DRAFT AND PROFIT CURB BILL

Part of Legion Program in His Measure.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Senator Morris Sheppard [Dem., Tex.], chairman of the military affairs committee, today urged action at this session on a drastic war financing and industrial mobilization program which would authorize the President to draft man power and industrial management and fix prices.

Senator Sheppard's bill combines the recommendations of the American Legion with some provisions of the administration's "war profits" bill, which passed the house last year, and the industrial mobilization plan recently submitted by the war department.

"The taxing provision is severe in that upon the declaration of any war there would be imposed, for the duration of such emergency, a tax of 95 per cent of all income above the previous three year period, with proper adjustments for capital expenditures for war purposes by existing or new industries," Senator Sheppard said.

Provides Graduated Tax.

The tax proposed differs somewhat from that recommended by the senate finance committee at the last session, which would, in effect, limit a married man's retention of income to $9,920 on $21,000 and take in normal and surtaxes 99 per cent of the excess. The finance committee bill also provides for a graduated corporation tax reaching a maximum of 100 per cent on all net income in excess of 6 per cent of the adjusted declared value. The graduated scheme would allow corporations to retain only 4.7 per cent of their adjusted declared value.

Senator Sheppard's bill, prepared in coöperation with Representative Lister Hill [Dem., Ala.], chairman of the house military affairs committee, is to be urged at this session, he said, because "the American Legion has requested its friends in congress to press for early action so that it may be considered as a companion law to the expected neutrality legislation."

The chief advocates of legislation to "take the profits out of war," members of the defunct senate munitions committee, favor an even more drastic measure than Senator Sheppard's so that a compromise may be expected when it reaches the senate floor. However, war profits and industrial mobilization legislation is expected at this session.

Sheppard Explains Bill.

Explaining the measure, Senator Sheppard said:

"The bill proposes, upon the declaration of war or of a national emergency due to the imminence of war, to authorize the President to determine and publicly proclaim and limit prices; to give him the authority to adjust these prices, when necessary, by public proclamation; to draft man power between the ages of 21 and 31, subject to such conditions, exemptions, rules, and regulations as the President may prescribe; and to take into the military service, as civilians, any persons engaged in the management or control of industrial or manufacturing establishments designated by the President.

"It also proposes to license those classes determined by the President as necessary for the successful prosecution of war; fix priorities of the filling of orders by any manufacturer, dealer, producer, exporter, importer, or public service in the United States, and to grant to the President the power to create agencies, boards and commissions, and to employ the necessary personnel, all in time of war.

Would Halt Profiteering.

"A severe taxing provision in any 'universal service' or 'industrial mobilization plan' is regarded as absolutely necessary by the sponsors of the proposal. When a similar plan was reported from the house military affairs committee in February, 1935, it was pointed out that while it is not possible to attain the ideal, yet the committee should not be deterred in an honest effort to prevent the 'conscienceless, wasteful, and outrageously extravagant profiteering that went on during the world war period.'

"At that time it was pointed out that 22,000 individuals 'climbed out of financial obscurity into the class of millionaires, and hundreds of those who were already millionaires saw their fortunes mount higher and higher by the tens of millions, and even hundreds of millions.'

"Bernard M. Baruch, war time chairman of the war industries board, in submitting his conclusions to the war policies commission, pointed out that the adoption of a proper plan would allow for the passing of this nation from a peace to a war status, and at the end of the war back to a peace status, with a 'minimum of confusion, waste, and loss'; also that it would reduce the cost of war by 50 per cent and possibly a greater figure."

WALLACE TELLS NEW DEAL PLAN TO RULE FARMS

Never Intended States to Act, He Admits.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace today revealed the administration will abandon plans to turn over administration of the soil conservation program to the states and will seek continuance of federal control of the 500 million dollar farm subsidy program.

In effect the Wallace announcement served notice that while the government bowed to the Supreme court decision invalidating the AAA a year ago, the New Deal proposes to continue to exercise crop control under the AAA substitute. The secretary indicated that the department was encouraged to put a chip on its shoulder before the eyes of the Supreme court by President Roosevelt's message calling upon the court to go along with the New Deal.

Provision Only Subterfuge.

Under the soil conservation act, which was drawn after the Supreme court outlawed the AAA Jan. 5, 1936, it was provided that the states take over the administration of the act after Jan. 1, 1938. In the department the provision never was taken seriously because New Dealers had no intention of relinquishing control of farm subsidies.

The provision was introduced by Senator Ellison D. [Cotton Ed] Smith [Dem., S. C.]. Wallace refused to say today whether he had discussed plans to abandon the highly advertised state compact sections of the act, but said Representative Marvin Jones [Dem., Tex.], chairman of the house agricultural committee, probably would do so.

Asked whether anything had happened recently to convince him that a constitutional amendment was not necessary to exercise crop control, Wallace laughed heartily. He refused to leap to other questions seeking to pin the action to election results and the President's message. He confined himself to a formal statement, the gist of which was that operation of a farm program under 48 different sets of laws is impractical.

Seeks a Better AAA.

Wallace said his department will continue to work with farmers and others to devise a better substitute for the AAA than the soil conservation act. Asked if this did not mean that he will work for a substitute which would be stronger in its delegation of powers to the federal government than the outlawed AAA, Wallace smiled and answered that he could only say he would seek a better AAA.

Under the soil conservation act the department spent approximately 470 million dollars in 1936. Payments are to be increased in certain sections so that the full 500 million dollars will be spent in 1937.

The department is also working to increase its control over agriculture under the administration bill which would set aside 50 million dollars a year for ten years to enable tenants to purchase farms. The fund would be administered by the department.

DUNHAM OPPOSES SURFACE LINES' TERMINAL PLAN

Robert J. Dunham, president of the park district, said yesterday that he did not favor a plan for the use of park land at Chicago avenue and Lake Shore drive as a terminal for the Chicago avenue line of the Chicago Surface Lines. His statement followed a suggestion by Surface Lines engineers that park district property be used for a loop for the Chicago avenue line to replace the present terminal at Navy pier.

A recent order of the Illinois commerce commission requires that the street car tracks in Lake Shore drive be removed to make way for the north approach to the new outer link bridge.

Dunham said that finding a new terminal was the problem of the Surface Lines and not of the park district.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Stover for Bedding.

January 7, 1936.

SCARCITY of bedding for horses on the Tribune's experimental farms has forced the managers to scratch around for material that can be used as a substitute for wheat and oat straw. Cornstalks are solving the problem.

There is an abundance of corn stover [stalks with ears removed] on the farms but cornstalks make a coarse bedding. Horses do not like them. A horse can sleep standing up, but every horse likes to lie down, double his feet under him or stretch out full length for a long rest during the night.

Every horse likes to take a beauty nap, but even an old plug knows that cornstalks leave marks on his side and put marcel waves in his coat if he stays on one side for a few minutes. Workers on the farms know that, too, so they set to work to see how they could make comfortable "mattresses" for the horses' stalls.

Mixed and Chopped Up.

At the Wheaton farm this week the workers chopped up twenty shocks of stover to be used as bedding after the horses have eaten all they want of it. The chopped stalks make good roughage for horses and mules. It is fed at the farm along with alfalfa hay which forms about one-third of the roughage mixture.

The stalks are run through a hay chopper. The horses eat about half the stalks and the other half is thrown into the stalls for bedding.

"The horses sleeping on chopped cornstalks seem to be comfortable," said the farm manager. "The stalks not only make satisfactory bedding for the horses but they trap the liquid manure which is a valuable fertilizer. They are thrown out each day and later spread on the fields with the manure."

Fodder for the Lambs.

This week men at the Wheaton farm have been hauling in some of the fifty-four shocks of corn that had been left in the field. These stalks, with the ears still attached, will be run through a hay chopper and fed to lambs.

Before the recent freeze workers were unable to haul fodder and stover out of the fields. Recent rains transformed the cornfields into loblollies, preventing the hauling of fodder during December as originally planned.

The ground was so muddy after the recent big rains that it was necessary to keep hogs and cattle out of the stalk fields on the Yorkville farm. The farm manager finds it advisable to lock the live stock out of the muddy stalk fields because the animals not only tramp valuable feed into the mud but leave the fields cloddy when they are worked in the spring.

JAS. WIGGINTON ESTATE RISES TO $350,000 VALUE

Inventory Lists Evanston Realty Holdings.

The estate of James D. Wigginton Sr., Evanston contractor, which was estimated at $175,000 when the will was admitted to probate on May 4, 1936, is actually worth $350,000, according to an inventory filed yesterday in the Probate court.

Mr. Wiggington, who retired several years ago, died last April 24 at the age of 88. His will divided his estate among his son, James D. Wigginton, 1115 Oak avenue, and two grandsons, James H. Wigginton, 2108 Pioneer road, and Wesley Wigginton, 1010 Main street, all in Evanston. The grandsons were left $50,000 each in trust, and the residue to the son.

Real Estate Is Listed.

Twenty-two unencumbered pieces of real estate, all except two of them in Evanston, are listed in the inventory. This includes the Wigginton home at 1118 Oak avenue in Evanston, the home of his son, and apartment buildings at 418 Hamilton street, 2014 Noyes street, 1020 Wesley avenue, 1044 Dewey avenue, 435 Sherman avenue, 732 Oakton street, 1043 Sherman avenue, and 604 Davis street, all in Evanston.

Also listed are business properties at 1854 Ridge avenue and 1224 Emerson street, and vacant industrial property at Livingston street and Railroad avenue and at Greenleaf street and Hartray avenue in the suburb.

Cash of $21,140 is listed, as well as 290 shares of sound stocks, $23,000 in sound bonds, and $6,000 of insurance.

George H. Leslie Will Filed.

The will of George H. Leslie, which makes specific bequests totaling $182,000, was filed during the day. Mr. Leslie, head of the brokerage concern bearing his name at 308 Washington street, died last Sunday at the age of 76.

A daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Keith of Lake Forest, was left $100,000 and most of the residue. Her daughters, Shirley and Mrs. Robert S. MacDonald of Lake Forest, will receive $15,000 each. Mr. Leslie's sister, Mrs. Agnes Alton of Winnetka, will receive $12,000; her son, Robert, $25,000, and her daughter, Mrs. Wellington Coolidge of Winnetka, $12,000, and they also will share in the residue.

Peter Grossman Leaves $74,000.

Peter A. Grossman, president of M. Born & Co., wholesale tailors, left an estate estimated at $74,000 to several relatives, it was learned when his will was admitted to probate. Mr. Grossman died in Memphis, Tenn., on Nov. 25, at the age of 65, of injuries incurred in an automobile accident. The entire estate is to be placed in trust. The widow, Celestine, of the Windermere East hotel, will receive $500 a month. Two children, Mrs. Blanche Redel of Chicago and Edwin P. Grossman of Great Neck, N. Y., will divide the remaining income and also the principal upon their mother's death.

MRS. E. O. BROWN, MOTHER OF BANK PRESIDENT, DIES

Mrs. Helen Eagle Brown, widow of Judge Edward Osgood Brown, mother of Edward Eagle Brown, president of the First National bank of Chicago, died yesterday in her home in the Whitehall Apartment hotel, 105 East Delaware place. She was 75 years old.

Mrs. Brown was active in social welfare work for many years. She was a former president of the Chicago Alumnæ association of the Sacred Heart convent and was for many years a trustee of the Chicago Industrial School for Girls, formerly on the south side. Her husband, who served for many years as judge of the Superior and Appellate courts, died in 1923.

Besides her son Edward, Mrs. Brown is survived by four other children, Mrs. Lawrence W. Haggerty of Westport, Conn.; Commander Walter Elliott Brown, U. S. N., of Washington, D. C.; Dr. Robert Osgood Brown of Santa Fe, N. M., and Mrs. John W. Brown of Winnetka.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. today in the Holy Name cathedral. Burial will be at Mackinac Island, where the family has had a summer home for many years, and where Judge Brown is buried.

DR. KARL MEYER'S MOTHER IS DEAD; HERE 75 YEARS

Mrs. Katherine Meyer, 87 years old, mother of Dr. Karl Meyer, medical superintendent of the Cook County hospital, died early today in Dr. Meyer's apartment in the hospital. She made her home with him. She had been ill several weeks.

Mrs. Meyer was born in Germany and was brought to the United States before she was one year old. She came to Chicago when she was 12 and had lived here since. She was a second cousin of the late Fred Busse, a former mayor of Chicago.

Surviving Mrs. Meyer are three sons and one daughter, Dr. Karl Meyer and Dr. A. C. Meyer, a dentist, both of Chicago, and Mrs. A. A. Grant and Edward W. Meyer, both of Gilman, Ill. The body will remain in the chapel at Ogden avenue and Harrison street until tomorrow, when it will be sent to Gilman for funeral services and burial Sunday.

CROWDS IN LOOP SEE PEDESTRIAN KILLED BY BUS

Victim Fails to Heed Warning Cries.

Scores of homeward bound loop workers looked on last evening as Peter Hill, 70 years old, 1525 North La Salle street, was struck and fatally injured by a Ravenswood-Lake Shore drive bus at State and Washington streets.

Witnesses said that Hill stepped from the curb into the path of the crowded bus, which was driven by Earle Joyner, 35 years old. Apparently Hill did not hear the warning cries of several bystanders. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

Injuries Prove Fatal.

Russell C. King, 52 years old, 7343 Rhodes avenue, died in the Jackson Park hospital from injuries received on Dec. 19 when he was struck by an automobile in Cottage Grove avenue at 78th street. The driver of the car was Nathan Cooper, 62 years old, 744 East 80th street. Mr. King was chief clerk in the trafic department of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

Frank Nemec, 54 years old, 2615 South Turner avenue, was killed by a hit and run automobile at Fullerton and Austin avenues.

Mounted Policeman Hurt.

Mounted Policeman John Moore, 53 years old, incurred minor injuries when his horse was struck by a Yellow cab at Ohio street and Fairbanks court. The horse, Bob, was only slightly hurt. Frank Fineran, 27 years old, 1716 North 15th avenue, Melrose Park, driver of the cab, was booked on a charge of reckless driving.

Up to 4 p. m. 20 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 17 were killed in Chicago. During the same period 321 were injured in trafic accidents within the city.

EDWARD DUNN KILLED; MAYOR OF LAKE GENEVA

Kenosha, Wis., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Edward Dunn, mayor of Lake Geneva and a widely known Wisconsin lumberman, was fatally injured and two other men were crtically hurt yesterday when two automobiles collided at the intersection of highways 50 and 41 west of Kenosha. Mayor Dunn died several hours later in a hospital here. He was 74 years old.

The other victims were Albert Brown of Lake Geneva, who was riding with Mr. Dunn, and Norman Rose of 609 Stratford place, Chicago, driver of the other car.

Walter O. Birk Funeral Services Will Be Today

Private funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today for Walter O. Birk, president of the Walter Birk Candy company, in the family apartment at 3750 Lake Shore drive. Mr. Birk, who was 53 years old, ended his life on Wednesday. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. May Birk; a daughter, Betty Jane, 19 years old; a brother, Edward J. Birk of the Chicago Athletic association, and three sisters.

HENRY COOK, 65 years old, 1439 Garden street, Park Ridge, a widower, died in his home yesterday of a heart attack. He was a chemist in the dental office of Dr. Grover C. Weeks, 326 South State street.

Angelo Caliendo Funeral Rites Will Be Tomorrow

Funeral services for Angelo Caliendo, a band leader for 40 years, will be held at 11 a. m. tomorrow in Our Lady of Pompeii church. Burial will be in Mount Carmel cemetery. Mr. Caliendo, who was 65 years old, died Wednesday night in West Side hospital. Surviving are five sons, Dr. Joseph Anthony, Jack, Clement, and Peter Caliendo, and two daughters, Dora Caliendo and Mrs. Emelia Fiocca. The family home is at 924 South Marshfield avenue.

MARTHA H. BOGUE DIES; CHRISTIAN SCIENCE TEACHER

Chicago friends learned last night of the death in Detroit on Wednesday of Mrs. Martha Harris Bogue, C. S. D., a pioneer teacher of Christian Science in Chicago and an organizer of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, 4017 Drexel boulevard, the earliest church of its denomination in the middle west.

Mrs. Bogue was born near Grand Rapids, Mich., about eighty years ago. She came to Chicago in 1875. She joined the Christian Science movement in the late '80s. She studied under Mary Baker Eddy in 1888 and 1889. As a result of this tutelage she was granted the rare degree of C. S. D. [Christian Science doctor]. She became a Christian Science teacher in Chicago, remaining here until 1905 when she went to Detroit.

Surviving are a son, Myron, of Detroit, two grandsons and three great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held in Detroit tomorrow.

MAGGIE B. REED, 98, DIES; PIONEER IN Y. W. C. A. HERE

Mrs. Maggie Bell Reed, member of a pioneer Indiana family and an early worker in the Young Women's Christian association movement here, died Wednesday in her home at 4201 Drexel boulevard. She was 98 years old.

Mrs. Reed was born on a farm near Kokomo, Ind. She entered Y. W. C. A. work shortly after coming to Chicago in 1893 from Peru, Ind., where her husband, the late G. I. Reed, had been a newspaper editor. She retired in 1923 after having been superintendent of the Y. W. C. A. at 830 South Michigan avenue. A son, the late Hal Reed, was formerly sports editor of the Indianapolis Star. A grandnephew, Robert Summerbell, of Evanston, survives.

Funeral services will be held in the chapel at 4227 Cottage Grove avenue at 4 p. m. today.

[ADVERTISMENT]

AID TO RELIEF OF PSORIASIS SYMPTOMS

The itching and irritation of psoriasis is readily relieved by Resinol Ointment, an old formula containing ingredients well known to physicians for their effectiveness.

To get best results, wash off the scales with a pure, mild soap. Resinol Soap is gently medicated and free from excess alkali. Use it with warm water, then rinse and pat dry.

Spread Resinol Ointment evenly over the surface, letting it remain for several hours during the day and overnight. Note how quickly its oily base enables the Resinol medication to soothe the angry skin.

Even when the rash begins to fade, do not stop using Resinol too soon. The eruptions of psoriasis have a tendency to recur. For this reason it is advisable to continue Resinol applications to soothe the irritation, as long as any trace of it remains.

Get Resinol Ointment and Soap at any drug store. Sample free. Write Resinol, Dept. 19, Balto., Md.

MRS. P. J. HARRINGTON DIES; LONG ACTIVE IN WOMEN'S CLUB WORK

MRS. P. J. HARRINGTON.

Mrs. P. J. Harrington, who for more than thirty years was active in club and civic work, died in her home at 7843 Essex avenue yesterday after a brief illness. She was 58 years old. For twenty years she was president of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd. She also had served as president of the South Side Catholic Women's club and St. Joseph's Ladies' Aid society. A daughter, Mary, and a son, Attorney Thomas G. Harrington, survive. Funeral services will be held in St. Bride's church at 10 a. m. tomorrow. Burial will be in Mount Olivet cemetery.

A. SOUTHWORTH IS DEAD; FOUNDER OF PRINTING FIRM

Arthur St. Elmo Southworth, founder and former president of Munroe & Southworth, Chicago printing firm, died yesterday at the North Shore hotel in Evanston. He was 69 years old.

Born in Algonquin, Henry county, Mr. Southworth learned the printer's trade and, coming to Chicago, became a member of the firm of Southworth & Truax in 1895. Two years later he founded Munroe & Southworth. He was president of Chicago Typothetæ in 1909 and 1910 and served as treasurer of United Typothetæ and Franklin clubs of America for several years. He retired from business 15 years ago.

Mr. Southworth is survived by his widow, a son, A. Bodine Southworth of Evanston, and a sister, Mrs. William S. McConnell of Woodstock. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the McConnell home, with burial in Woodstock cemetery.

Hold Funeral Rites Today for August F. Juthmann

Funeral services for August F. Juthmann, paymaster in the Chicago general offices of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, will be held at 2:30 p. m. today in the West Side Masonic temple, 12 South Oakley boulevard. Burial will be in Waldheim cemetery. Mr. Juthmann, who was 60 years old, died Wednesday in his home at 1156 South Humphrey avenue, Oak Park. He had been employed by the oil company for forty-three years. His widow, Emma, and a daughter, Mrs. Audrey Thompson, survive.

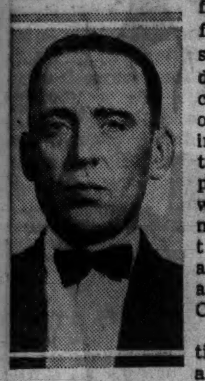
EX-CONVICT GUN GANG SENT BACK TO PENITENTIARY

Escaped Parolee Caught in Denver.

Three paroled convicts who formed a robbery gang after their release from Pontiac reformatory were sentenced yesterday in Criminal court to serve one year to life in the penitentiary. A fourth paroled felon who escaped a month ago from two parole agents was under arrest in Denver, Col.



RAYMOND CUNNINGHAM.
[Captured parolee.]

At the same time records of a subcommittee of the parole board sitting at Joliet disclosed that during the last two months 22 other paroled convicts have been returned to prison from Cook county for parole violation.

3 Parolees Plead Guilty.

The three paroled men sentenced to prison yesterday are: Cyrenean Noeth, 25 years old; Louis Ferraro, 24, years old, and Victor Noel, 26 years old. The sentences were imposed by Judge Robert J. Dunne after all three defendants pleaded guilty to robbery.

Police records showed that they were sent to Pontiac for robbery. Noeth was paroled last March 4 after serving five years; Ferraro was paroled last July 3 after serving four years and two months, and Noel was released Nov. 6, 1933, after he had served three years and four months.

Wilbert Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, said the men had committed more than twenty-five holdups recently. Crowley said the police records would be sent to the parole board with the recommendation that the gunmen be kept in prison for the rest of their lives.

The fugitive parolee seized in Denver, according to T. P. Sullivan, state supervisor of paroles, is Raymond Cunningham, alias Robert Layton, 44 years old, of Decatur. Cunningham escaped Dec. 8 by threatening two parole agents with a revolver as they were taking him from Springfield to Joliet penitentiary for parole violation.

Fingerprints Reveal Identity.

He forced the agents, Paul Starne of Springfield and D. B. Kelly of Peoria to drive him to Chicago and then fled on foot after their car had collided with a truck at Fulton and Wood streets.

As the result of his escape both Kelly and Starne were discharged.

Sullivan declared that the manner of Cunningham's capture was not known, but that his identity was disclosed after Denver authorities had sent a copy of his fingerprints to the federal bureau of identification at Washington.

Cunningham, a notorious forger, has a record dating to 1914. He was last convicted in 1930 on a burglary charge and was sent to the prison at Menard from which he was paroled last Nov. 30. A week later he was arrested in Decatur for carrying a pistol and was turned over to the parole agents from whom he escaped the day following.

Firemen Revive Youth Overcome by Fumes

When William Bethke, 18 years old, an errand boy, failed to emerge from the garage at the rear of his home, 5252 South Union avenue, early yesterday, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bethke, investigated and found him overcome by exhaust fumes. Inhalator squad No. 3 of the fire department, under the command of Lieut. Joseph Shevlin, revived the youth after working over him an hour. He said he had been repairing his car.

Falling Sign Kills Two; Chicagoans Barely Escape

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Pink, 4535 Washington boulevard, Chicago, missed death or injury here today by ten feet while they were walking on a street with their daughter, Marcella, 11 years old. A windstorm caused a huge sign to fall from a 10 story office building, hurling down a great pile of bricks and killing Mr. and Mrs. Phin Fisher and injuring two others.

$2,000 for Injuries

Miss Victoria Peters, 25 years old, a professional dancer of 409 South 8th avenue, Maywood, yesterday was awarded $2,000 by a jury in the Superior court of Judge Charles A. Williams for injuries she said she received in an elevated lines accident on Sept. 28, 1934.

On Wednesday Arthur H. Matsen, 28 years old, an investigator for the Elevated Lines, testified that he had taken Miss Peters to a night club and had danced with her a few months after the accident, despite her claim that her injuries had made it impossible for her to follow her profession as a dancer.

Miss Peters, who had asked $20,000 in her suit refused to enter the courtroom while the verdict was being read. When she was told of the award in a corridor she said:

"That's swell!"

SEND 'ONE MAN BURGLARY GANG' TO PENITENTIARY

CRIMINAL COURT.

George Elliott, confidence game, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Robert C. O'Connell.

Louis Ferraro, Victor Noel, and Cyrenean Noeth, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each on four charges by Judge Robert Jerome Dunne.

Paul Petri, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Douglas Jones, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge John Prystalski.

Frank Quatrino, Edward Ross, and Pasquale Tufano, confidence game, sentenced to 2 years each in the Bridewell; Burress Gladney, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Rudolph F. Desort.

Paul Petri, 28 years old, 459 St. James place, pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary and was sentenced by Judge John Prystalski in the Criminal court yesterday to serve one year to life in prison. Assistant State's Attorney Robert L. Donigan agreed to the dismissal of two other burglary charges against him.

Petri, known to the police as a "one man burglary gang," escaped Nov. 18 from two policemen who had taken him to the flat he then occupied to gather up loot. He smashed a chair to which he was handcuffed and knocked down one of the policemen with the leg of the chair.

On Dec. 12 Petri was recaptured by Policeman John Ellis of the Sheffield avenue station in a hand to hand fight witnessed by Ellis' 5 year old daughter, Anna Lee. Petri confessed 300 burglaries.

Health Resort Is Sued After Patient's Leap

Suit seeking $50,000 damages from the North Shore Health resort in Winnetka was brought in the Circuit court yesterday in behalf of Mrs. Joseph Wedeles, 60 years old, 3156 Sheridan road, wife of a member of the Wedeles Tobacco company, 321 West Lake street. The suit charges that on Dec. 29, 1935, while Mrs. Wedeles was a patient in the resort, she was improperly guarded and was injured in a leap from the window of her room in an attempt to escape.

DEPORTATION IS FACED BY 'MR. A'S' FORMER SWEETIE

Maude Robinson Involved in Blackmail Plot.

New York, Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Mrs. Maude Robinson, central figure in a scandal involving an Indian rajah which shook the British empire in the early 1920's, is being "detained" here pending decision in deporation proceedings, it was learned today.

Mrs. Robinson is accused of overstaying a four week's visa, and was taken into custody by department of justice agents in Jersey City Dec. 23. Federal officials said she had been in this country a year.

There is no criminal charge against her, and she may be permitted to return to England of her free will, immigration authorities said. Late this afternoon she was released in $500 bail from Ellis island pending disposition of her case.

Sir Hari Singh Was "Mr. A."

Sir Hari Singh, one of India's wealthiest rajahs, became enamored of Mrs. Robinson, and in the discussion of the blackmail plot which followed, he was known as "Mr. A." Sir Hari became the maharajah of Kashmi in 1926 and wed his third wife in 1927 when he was 35 years old.

Mrs. Robinson has been living in Tenafly, N. J. A Charles E. Robinson, said by federal officials to be her husband, was arrested there Dec. 5 in connection with a race track swindle.

Mrs. Robinson met the rajah at the Victory ball in London in 1919. The rajah was reported to have had a considerable harem at that time, which he neglected after meeting her.

Two Involved in Plot.

Eventually Montague Noel Newton and one William Cooper Hobbs, a law clerk, got together on what was then described as the greatest blackmail plot in history.

Newton, according to subsequent court testimony, broke into a Paris hotel room in which Mrs. Robinson and the rajah were staying and posed as her husband.

The rajah was said to have made out two $750,000 checks to hush up the matter.

Robinson Loses $600,000.

Payment was stopped on one of these. Robinson, though he did not appear in the plot as it was depicted in the court room, complained that more than $600,000 of the second check had been withdrawn from a bank account in his name by a mysterious person.

During the trial which the rajah caused by charging blackmail, there was talk at the time that should his name be associated with that of Mrs. Robinson in India, there might be revolution. Eventually Mrs. Robinson was cleared.

Capital of Soviet Armenia Shaken by 4 Earthquakes

MOSCOW, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Four severe earthquake tremors shook Erivan, capital of soviet Armenia, this morning, Tass [Russian] news agency reported. There was no damage to the city of 64,000 population, it was said. The first two shocks lasted 12 seconds each, the others were of lesser duration.

Walter F. Boye Installed as Kiwanis President

Walter F. Boye was installed as president of the Kiwanis club at its first 1937 meeting in the Hotel Sherman yesterday. Others installed were: G. Walter Rodine, vice president; Herbert S. Simpson, secretary, and Gus A. Meyer, treasurer. L. M. Jones, lieutenant governor of the Illinois and eastern Iowa district, was the installing officer.

BIRD OF PARADISE GETS RIDE THAT'S TOO GOOD FOR IT

A feathered native of New Guinea which rode first class to Chicago yesterday on the Commodore Vanderbilt of the New York Central railway on the assumption it was one of the greater birds of paradise, got the ride on false pretenses, said officials of the Chicago Zoölogical park at Brookfield.

It turned out, instead, to be a lesser bird of paradise. The zoo has one, so this one will return to New York when the traveling canary salesman who obligingly acted as Pullman companion to the bird, returns.

A shipment of a number of rare birds will arrive this morning, bound for the zoo at Brookfield, which now has as wide a variety of birds as any zoo in America. Of the lot the giant oriole of Venezuela is the most valuable, the Indian wandering tree pie the most intriguingly named, and the African long tailed whydah has the most interesting habits.

The why of the whydah's elaborate courtship is considered a most absorbing study by zoölogists and ethnologists. A little bird not much larger than a canary, he grows a long and impressive nuptial tail during his courtship period when he tramps down grass and dances in a wide circle.

Company Settles with Woman Carried to Court

The $25,000 personal injury damage suit of Mrs. Joanna Murphy, 60 years old, 6650 Cottage Grove avenue against the Schuber Automotive Supply company, 7630 South Halsted street, was settled out of court yesterday for a reported $5,000. The suit went to trial before Circuit Judge Denis J. Normoyle on Wednesday. Mrs. Murphy, who was carried into court, testified under the questioning of her attorney, Murphy O. Tate, that she was permanently injured in November, 1934, when she was run down by a truck owned by the company.

CARSON PIRIE SCOTT & Co

The New Tailored Suits Are Prophetic of Spring

$16.95 and $29.75

As indicative of spring as the first thaw is the classic softly tailored suit of a lustretone fabric. Buttons down the front and high lapels give a softer line. The shaded check jacket is a smart contrast to the plain color skirt. In sun drenched shades of St. James' rose, green, sun tan, gold. 12 to 20. $29.75.

Spring can't be too far hence when a suit as smart as this one makes its appearance. Casual in its tailored lines with a plain back, notched lapels and link fastening. You will wear it now under your fur coat and on through spring. Gray, brown, or blue worsted. 12 to 44. $16.95.

Suits, Fourth Floor.

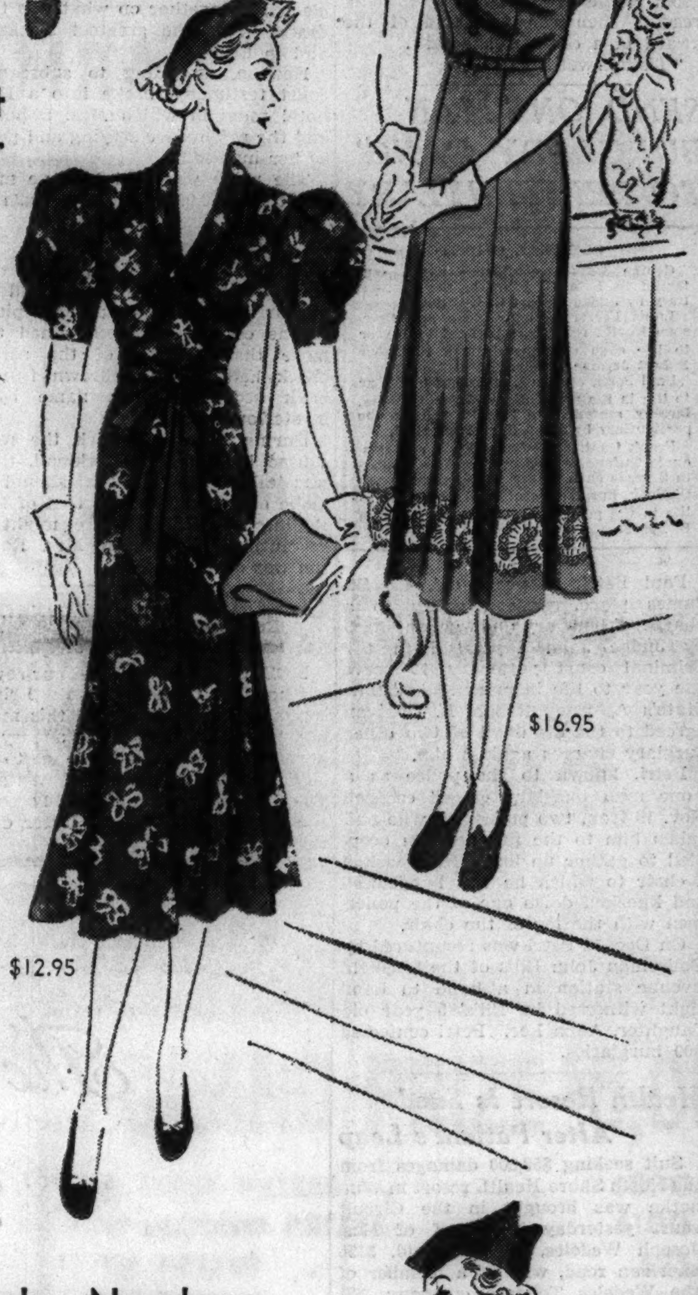
Frocks That Suggest Escape from Winter

$12.95 and $16.95

The bowknot print dress is so fascinated with its design it carries it still further by twisting the print material into a bowknot neckline. The gay sash is lined in two tones of crepe to harmonize with the color of the frock. Navy, black, or brown. Sizes 14 to 20. At $12.95.

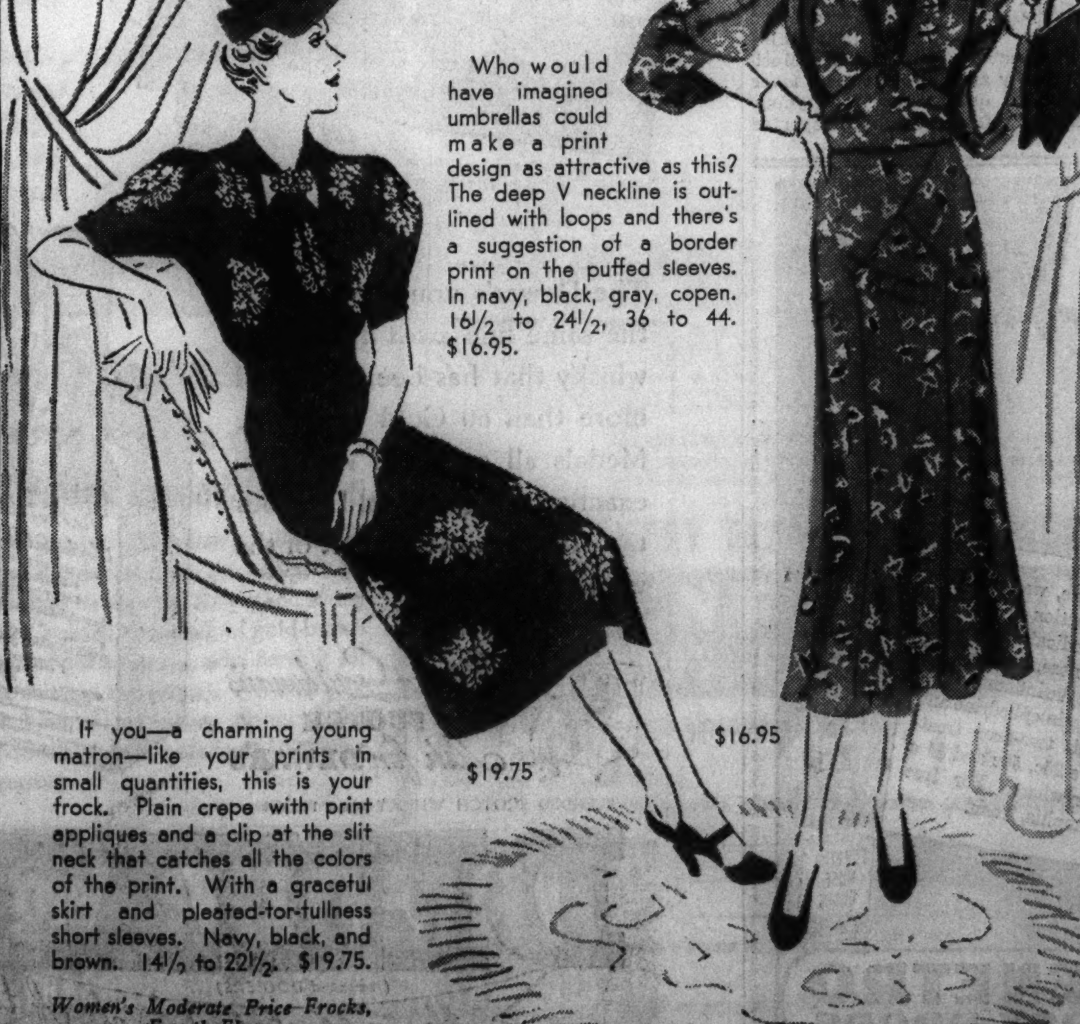
Lace dyed to match the color of the frock adds a fresh and dainty fillip to this youthful sheer. The lace flower matches the inset borders on the sleeves and the band in the skirt. Buttons from the square shirred neck clear down to the waist. Pink lady, blue moon, champagne or aqua. 12 to 20. Priced at $16.95.

Misses' Moderate Price Frocks, Fourth Floor.



Every Spring Wardrobe Needs At Least a Dash of Gay Print

$16.95 and $19.75



Who would have imagined umbrellas could make a print design as attractive as this? The deep V neckline is outlined with loops and there's a suggestion of a border print on the puffed sleeves. In navy, black, gray, copen. 16½ to 24½, 36 to 44. $16.95.

If you—a charming young matron—like your prints in small quantities, this is your frock. Plain crepe with print appliques and a clip at the slit neck that catches all the colors of the print. With a graceful skirt and pleated-for-fullness short sleeves. Navy, black, and brown. 14½ to 22½. $19.75.

Women's Moderate Price Frocks, Fourth Floor.

INSANE HOSPITAL BETTERMENTS TO BE FINISHED SOON

$750,000 Is Spent on Building and Grounds.

The building improvement program of the Chicago state hospital for the insane, which was begun last March, will be completed within a month, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Edward F. Dombrowski, managing officer of the institution.

The improvement project is costing $750,000, of which $450,000 was furnished by the state and the remaining $300,000 by the federal Public Works administration. A two and a half acre sunken garden, a spacious flower exhibit, softball and tennis courts and a playground already have been constructed.

Games All Year Around.

The flower exhibit includes 1,200 shrubs and 8,000 plants. While many of these outdoor improvements will not be in use during the winter, motorists driving by the hospital grounds at 6500 Irving Park boulevard can see the inmates competing in games in the playground all through the year.

"The inmates really enjoy their games and appreciate their surroundings," Dr. Dombrowski said. "We have a baseball team out here that could put up a scrappy battle with a lot of other nines."

Elaborate Rock Garden.

The rock garden has an artificial brook running into a pond. It is decorated with rustic bridges, flagstone walks and shady coves.

A newly erected chapel will be ready for services by the end of this month, and a new main building, which will house 900 patients, will be finished next month. During 1936 the hospital cared for 4,564 patients, as many as 3,500 being there at one time.

New York Diamond Cutter Leaps 8 Floors to Death

New York, Jan. 7.—[Special.]—While a doctor hastily summoned was on the way to examine him, Herman Vollmer, a diamond cutter, today went to an eighth floor window in a building on Nassau street, leaped out and was fatally injured.

SEIZED

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Edna Thompson, 27 years old, of the Devonshire hotel, and Mrs. Ruth Meyers, 28 years old, 1132 Diversey parkway, were arrested yesterday at the bar of a loop hotel on complaint of Attorney Robert Graham of Monmouth, Ill. He charged they had taken $30 and a pen and pencil set from him during a drinking party last Dec. 30. This was denied by the two women who admitted they had attended the party.

NEW CRIME QUIZ ORDER ISSUED TO SUBURBAN POLICE

Police chiefs of all suburban towns in Cook county were notified in letters sent out by Sherif John Toman yesterday that hereafter the county highway police will take over the investigation of all major crimes in Cook county outside of Chicago.

"As the chief enforcement officer of the county," Sherif Toman wrote: "I hereby direct that the highway police be notified immediately of every act of violence in their jurisdiction, so that they can take full charge."

He directed also that the evidence in every important crime is to be left undisturbed until the county highway police reach the scene.

Sherif Toman said he issued his order because of complaints that local enforcement officials often bungled crime investigations and in some instances even shielded criminals by suppressing reports and evidence.

DIES OF HEART DISEASE.

Charles Marner, 50 years old, 3863 Flournoy street, employed in a restaurant in the Conway building, 111 West Washington street, was found dead yesterday, presumably a victim of heart disease, in a first floor washroom of the building.

ORDER NEGLECTED SYPHILIS CASES IN QUARANTINE

City Takes New Weapon in Fight on Disease.

Strict quarantine, emphasized by a red placard on the house door, will be the next weapon used by Chicago health authorities against those veneral disease patients who refuse to submit to treatment or flagrantly violate the precautions ordered by their doctors to prevent the spread of the disease.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the city board of health, announced this policy yesterday. He made it clear, however, that the placards would not be used indiscriminately. He said there would be a proper regard for the sensibilities and the privacy of innocent victims of syphilis and gonorrhea.

Like Any Communicable Disease.

"The eradication of venereal disease is a purely medical problem," said Dr. Bundesen. "We must treat it like any other communicable disease. As in the case of smallpox or scarlet fever, our problem is not only to cure, but to prevent its spread. And that means a certain amount of segregation.

"Of course, it would be ideal if we could get patients and even doctors to regard this disease as they do a case of measles. If we could remove the social and the moral taint from their thinking about it, our work would be easier. But we must take conditions as we find them.

Cases Reported in Code.

"The person who goes to a doctor and follows his orders need have no fear of quarantine. The health department will not even know his name, since the doctor is permitted to report the case by code. In our records the good patient will be represented merely by a number. But we must go after the infected person who refuses to submit to treatment or who has no regard for the health of others. If this type cannot be persuaded to act reasonably, we will nail up a sign."

Dr. Bundesen's announcement followed a statement made at Springfield yesterday by Dr. Frank Jirka, state health commissioner, who said he would ask the legislature for $300,000 to fight syphilis.

This statement was indorsed yesterday by Dr. Thomas P. Foley, 25 East Washington street, president of the Chicago Medical society, who said:

"I am in favor of treating syphilis like any other contagious disease, even to the extent of quarantine. However, I feel that there should be a little thought as to the nature of the placard that would be used in this event."

Will Publish City Rules.

Physicians often fail to report cases of venereal disease because they are unfamiliar with the city regulations requiring such a report, or out of consideration for their patients, Dr. Foley said. He indicated that he would be glad to publish an explanation of these requirements in the journal of his society.

Dr. Bundesen promised to send him such an explanation at once.

TRIAL OF TOWNSEND AND 2 AIDS SLATED TO BEGIN ON FEB. 8

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Trial of Dr. Francis E. Townsend and two associates in the old age pension movement on charges of contempt of the house was set today for Feb. 8 in federal district court.

Those indicted with Townsend were Dr. Clinton Wunder of New York and John B. Kiefer of Chicago, regional directors of Old Age Revolving Pensions, Ltd.

The contempt charges grew out of their refusal to testify before a house committee.

CRITIC OF COUNTY NURSES INVITED TO TELL CHARGES

Hospital Heads Aroused by Board Member.

County Commissioner H. Wallace Caldwell, who yesterday demanded wholesale dismissal of nurses at the county hospital, if necessary, because he said they "treat patients like swine," was invited by the executive committee of the hospital last night to meet with the committee in the warden's office tomorrow afternoon. There he will be asked, one spokesman said, to tell what his specific complaints are and "what's ailing him."

Mr. Caldwell made his charges at a budget meeting of the county board during consideration of a request from the Nurses Training service of the hospital that its appropriation for this year be increased to $1,800,000. Last year it was $1,348,900. The 1936 appropriation for the whole hospital in 1936, including the nursing service, was $3,209,319; the requested 1937 appropriation is $3,752,685.

"Defiant and Impudent."

"While on the subject of nurses," said Commissioner Caldwell, "I'd like to say there is a vital need for a shakeup among the nurses. They are defiant to physicians and interns, and they are impudent to patients. They treat the patients like swine."

Other commissioners, among them Maurice F. Kavanaugh, defended the nurses, Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, former warden of the hospital, took a middle position, and Commissioner John E. Traeger Jr. said the nurses probably were insubordinate because they falsely believed they were responsible only to the nursing service.

Nurses, doctors, and officials at the hospital were, however, aroused over the Caldwell accusations. Warden Michael Zimmer asserted that a blanket charge against the 900 nurses in the hospital could not be made to stand. Finally the officials gathered and invited Mr. Caldwell to a conference tomorrow. It is hoped that the hospital committee of the county board will attend.

Among those to be present will be Warden Zimmer, Dr. Karl Meyer, medical superintendent; Dr. Roger T. Vaughan, night superintendent; Dr. Frederick Tice, Miss Edna Newman, superintendent of nurses, and Miss Charlotte Landt, night superintendent of nurses.

Blames Minor Politician.

Dr. Vaughan charged much of the complaints against nurses to small fry politicians.

"They come in here as 'political big shots,'" said Dr. Vaughan. "They gotta drag, and they want service—with capital letters. The nurses have to put up with so much of that, and the doctors, too, that they get philosophical, and let the noise in one ear and out the other."

Dr. Vaughan said that out of 3,000 patients there are bound to be many who are irritable and these in turn irritate the nurses. In general, he declared, most patients are content and pleased with the nursing treatment, and most nurses are content and pleased with the temper of the patients.

Miss Landt, who went to the county hospital from the Presbyterian hospital, said Mr. Caldwell's charges were unfounded.

LAWYER TO COMPARE AMERICAN AND NEW SOVIET CONSTITUTIONS

A comparison of the new soviet constitution with the constitution of the United States will be made by Attorney Robert N. Golding before a meeting in the Bismarck hotel at 2 p. m. tomorrow. Justice Oscar Hebel of the Appellate court will preside at the meeting, which is one of a series of informal gatherings at which current affairs are discussed.

MORTON SCHOOL BOARD WILL HEAR STRIKERS TODAY

Members of the Cicero board of education were pledged yesterday to meet with union officials at the Cicero town hall at 10 a. m. today and hear for the first time as a body the grievances of 29 striking employés of the J. Sterling Morton High school and Junior college in Cicero.

The agreement was reached in the offices of Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney. Adolph Vlk and Joseph Mrizek, members of the school board, promised to have all of the board members present today. They said the board previously had been afraid the workers would make too many demands.

John A. Coleman and W. L. McFetridge, representing the strikers, said all they wanted was to ask the exact reason for the dismissal of three union men from the building staf.

ROBBED AS SHE LEAVES CAR.

An armed man robbed Miss Virginia Kimble, 20 years old, 6218 Greenwood avenue, of $9 Wednesday night as she alighted from an automobile in front of 7741 St. Lawrence avenue.

2. The name and address of the person submitting the entry must be clearly written or printed on the Entry Blank in the space provided. The name and address of your Food Merchant must also be written or printed.
3. Your recipe must never have been published before. It must be for one of the following products —CORNED BEEF HASH ... PORK SAUSAGE...HAM...BACON.. COLD MEATS.
4. Attach to the Entry Blank the recipe you are submitting, and a letter of 200 words or less in which you tell about your true experience using the recipe. Write the recipe at the top of the page and your letter below. Be sure to sign your name and address also on this letter.
5. Prize awards will be—Grand Prize—$5,000 for best recipe and letter ... 5 First Prizes—$800 each for best recipe and letter on each product mentioned at left. (Winner of Grand Prize to be selected from winners of this group)...5 Second Prizes —$100 for each product mentioned at left ... 10 additional prizes—$25 each ... 25 prizes—$10 each ... 100 prizes—$2 each...500 Prizes—$1 each.
6. Entries for this contest will be accepted up to midnight, February 10, 1937. No letter postmarked later than midnight, February 10, 1937, will be eligible for award. (Send your entry early to facilitate early judging.)
7. Contest is limited to housewives only. Wives of employes of Armour and Company and its advertising agents are not eligible. Send as many entries as you wish, but each recipe must be accompanied by a separate Entry Blank and a letter of 200 words or less explaining your true experience using the recipe. Additional Entry Blanks may be obtained from your local dealer or by writing to Armour and Company, Dept. N., Chicago, Illinois.
8. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of the merit of the recipe and the originality, interest and sincerity of the letter which accompanies it.
9. Judges for this contest will be: Miss Prudence Penny, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Miss Inez Wilson, Director of Home Economics, National Livestock and Meat Board, and Lloyd D. Herrold, Professor of Advertising, Northwestern University.
10. The decision of the judges will be final. No entries will be returned. All entries and their contents become the property of Armour and Company for Publication or other use.

Write Simple, Everyday Letters. You need not be a great letter writer to win a prize. Entries will be judged on originality, interest and sincerity—not on fancy letter writing. Just write down the recipe and tell about it in your own words.

Armour's Meal of the Month
FOR JANUARY
Armour's Star Pure Pork Sausage with Wheatcakes and Broiled Peaches

Here's a dish with real farm-fresh goodness. One that you'll want to serve your family time after time this January. It's the easiest meal you've ever prepared, and surprisingly thrifty, too. Simply add savory links of Armour's Star Pure Pork Sausage to a stack of gold-brown wheatcakes, and put a tangy broiled peach on the side. Serve it for breakfast, lunch or dinner. One thing is important . . . Ask your dealer for Armour's Star Pure Pork Sausage when planning this meal. It has a richer, fresher flavor, because it's made of 100% pure pork, expertly seasoned and prepared.

PRICE OF RETAIL FOODS CONTINUES UPWARD SWING

Advances Affect Items on Staple List.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

There is a tendency for retail prices of foods to advance, according to THE TRIBUNE'S weekly survey of neighborhood shopping centers in the city and surrounding suburbs. At least sixteen items on the shopper's regular list have been marked up this week compared with last. Comparatively few foods have been marked down.

Today and tomorrow housewives will find butter up 1 cent a pound. Prices of the lower and better grades of coffee are being brought closer together. During the last year the higher grades have been reduced. Merchants in most stores have raised the price of the lower grades of coffee 1 cent a pound; a few have advanced the cheaper brands as much as 4 cents a pound this week.

Lard Goes Higher.

Lard went up a cent throughout the metropolitan district. The lower grades of evaporated milk are up slightly in a few stores. Both old and new cabbage are generally cheaper, although a few retailers have marked up their prices on the new crop. Many stores do not have old cabbage.

Green grocers are asking a little more for celery and have put carrots up a cent a bunch. Grape prices are bobbing up and down, but the changes are only slight.

Green beans have almost doubled in price within the last week. Green peas, head lettuce, and lemons also are higher.

Potato prices continue to climb in line with wholesale advances. On the central market this week potatoes made a sharp advance in price—25 to 40 cents a hundred pounds above last week. The potato market was slowing down again yesterday, however. White turnips are higher in some stores.

Advances in Meats.

Higher prices are being paid farmers for live hogs, cattle, and lambs. Advances in the wholesale prices of fresh pork, beef, and lamb have not yet materially influenced the retail prices. Most butchers are asking about the same as a week ago for fresh meats.

They raised the price of rib roasts slightly. Chickens are up 1 cent a pound in a few shops. Leg of lamb is 1 to 2 cents a pound higher generally.

Butchers marked their prices down on comparatively few cuts. Pork loin is off about 3 cents a pound in some shops.

Heavy steers and yearlings of the good and choice kinds are up 50 to 75 cents a hundred pounds at the Union stockyards, according to federal reporters. Several loads sold at $13.85 a hundred, the top for the season's crop. Dressed beef from the good and choice steers is up 50 cents to $1 a hundred.

Farmers were paid 1 to 25 cents a hundredweight more for hogs this week than last. The top for the week reached $10.80 a hundred, the highest January price in the last ten years. Dressed pork is up 50 cents to $1 a hundred.

Fat lambs are 60 to 75 cents a hundred pounds higher than a week ago. Lamb carcasses were advanced $1 to $1.50 a hundred pounds.

On the local wholesale fruit and vegetable market green beans made a sharp jump in price, advancing 50 to 75 cents a bushel. Wholesale prices also are higher on carrots, cauliflower, celery, and lettuce. Cranberries still are reported high. Prices of cabbage and sweet potatoes are slightly lower, according to federal reporters.

APPLE WAFFLES ON A SABBATH MORN HIT SPOT

Try these apple waffles some Sunday morning when the entire family has ample time to admire your culinary skill.

APPLE WAFFLES.

2 cups cake flour
5 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup milk
1/3 cup butter, melted
⅓ cup grated raw apple [about 2 small apples]
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated

Sift the flour, then measure and resift with the baking powder and salt. Beat the egg yolks well, add milk and stir well. Add dry ingredients all at once and beat until smooth. Add melted butter and apple and mix until smooth. Beat egg whites until frothy, add sugar and beat until stiff. Fold into batter. Bake in hot waffle iron and serve with butter and brown sugar sirup, or powdered sugar, or a mixture of granulated sugar and cinnamon.

Add Roquefort Cheese to Steak in Broiler

DRESSINGS LIKE THESE MAKE POULTRY QUITE A DIFFERENT ARTICLE

1. One cup coarsely chopped Chinese water chestnuts.

2. One cup or more coarsely chopped olives—either green, ripe, or stuffed olives.

3. One cup nutmeats [almonds, hazel or hickory nuts, pecans, brazil nuts, or walnuts], fairly coarsely chopped. A finer flavor results if the nuts are toasted before adding.

4. Half pound mushrooms. Chop and cook slowly in 1 tablespoon of butter about five minutes before adding.

5. One cup or more drained oysters, either chopped or left whole if small. These may be added raw or preheated in 2 tablespoons butter until the edges curl slightly.

Wild Rice Requires More Time to Become Tender

Wild rice is cooked like white rice except that more time should be allowed. Wash rice and boil from 25 to 35 minutes or until tender.

Whipped Cream Filling Goes Well.

It seems that many housewives are in doubt about how to make banana fillings and frostings for their cakes, as many cook books omit these recipes from their pages.

A very simple way of filling the cake is to slice bananas over 1 layer of the cake, spread over them a little boiled icing, add the second cake layer and again spread with banana slices. To the remaining frosting add ½ cup of chopped nuts and ice the top and sides of the cake.

Another easy filling is made with banana slices and whipped cream. When the cake layers are cold put them together with sliced bananas and sweetened whipped cream. Whipped cream may be spread over the top of the cake, or banana frosting may be substituted. A good banana frosting is made as follows:

Banana Frosting.

⅔ cup banana pulp [about 1 banana]
2 to 2½ cups confectioners' sugar
Pinch of salt
1 teaspoon lemon juice
⅛ teaspoon vanilla

Mash bananas with a silver fork or a stainless steel fork in order to keep them from discoloring. Beat in the sifted confectioners' sugar until the mixture is thick enough to spread. Add the salt, lemon juice, and vanilla.

Still another kind of banana filling is of the custard type:

Banana Custard Filling.

3 tablespoons flour
⅓ cup sugar
Dash of salt
1 cup milk
1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
½ teaspoon vanilla
⅔ cup sliced bananas

Combine flour, sugar, and salt, add milk mixed with egg yolks. Place in top part of a double boiler and cook over rapidly boiling water for about ten minutes or until thickened, stirring constantly. Cool, add flavoring and bananas which have been dipped in pineapple juice and well drained.

POTATO BEEF ROLL IS TASTY DISH AND WILL SAVE MONEY

It takes skill and forethought to reduce meat bills by using cheaper cuts of meats, as these cuts are necessarily the less tender ones. Ground beef roll with a potato stuffing makes a dinner dish which is both economical and tasty. [This is a good way to use up leftover mashed potatoes, too.]

POTATO BEEF ROLL.

2 pounds lower part of the round
Salt and pepper
2 cups mashed potatoes
1 small onion, finely minced
1½ tablespoons butter, melted
1 slice bacon, minced
1 stalk celery, finely minced
⅛ teaspoon salt

Put the meat through the food grinder. Season it well with salt and pepper. Work the meat on a board into an oblong shape and spread with potato stuffing, made by frying the bacon slightly, adding the onion and celery and cooking in the fat until partly tender, then adding the rest of the ingredients. Fold the meat together, pinch the edges, turn into a baking dish, and place thin strips of salt pork or bacon over the top. Bake about 45 minutes in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F.

Lists Apples Adapted Best to Purposes of Cooking

These apples are best adapted for cooking purposes. In general they are the acid or subacid apples, namely, Winesap, Northern Spy, Greenings, Spitzenburgh, Fall Pippin, Gravenstein, Rome Beauty, McIntosh, and Jonathan. Of these the Jonathan, Northern Spy, and Spitzenburgh are also good for eating.

HOW ALL-BRAN SAFELY RELIEVES CONSTIPATION

This delicious cereal absorbs twice its weight in water

WITHIN the body, ALL-BRAN really absorbs more than twice its weight in water. Here is how ALL-BRAN works:

In the first place, common constipation is usually due to meals low in "bulk." Intestinal muscles lack the materials needed for their regular exercise. They get flabby.

Some "bulk" is found in fruits and vegetables. But Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has a great deal more. This cereal absorbs water. It passes through the system—with the fiber largely unchanged—gently sponging the intestinal walls as it goes along. It eliminates the listlessness, the "blues," the headaches that often follow common constipation.

ALL-BRAN also provides vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Isn't this natural food much better than the unnatural and sometimes harmful action of pills and drugs?

Eat two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily. Chronic cases, with each meal. Serve as a cereal, or cook in recipes. Sold by all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's
ALL-BRAN
FOR CONSTIPATION DUE TO INSUFFICIENT BULK

This simple test shows how ALL-BRAN functions: fill a glass 4/5 full of ALL-BRAN. Pour water up to the brim of the glass. Soak 15 minutes, and drain off excess water. Feel the water-softened mass. It's much like a soft sponge. In fact, laboratory tests show that ALL-BRAN absorbs at least twice its weight in water.*

Within the body, this water-softened "bulk" gently "sponges" out the system. ALL-BRAN also provides vitamin B to tone up the intestinal tract, and iron for the blood.

★ THE RULES ★

1. This contest consists of a series of "Roosevelt Crossword Puzzles." Beneath each puzzle will be found a biographical item representing an event in the life of Franklin D. Roosevelt. A certain word or words in such items will be missing. Such word or words will be found in the puzzle. You are invited to solve the puzzles, find the missing words and complete these biographical items.

2. This offer is open to everyone except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. It is free.

3. A new puzzle will be published in the Chicago Daily Tribune each weekday for 44 consecutive days. Puzzles are to be submitted only in complete sets. Do not send in each puzzle separately. Hold all until you have the 44. Then send them to "Roosevelt Crosswords," Chicago Tribune, Postoffice Box 1718, Chicago, Ill. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after puzzle No. 44 has been printed.

4. The Chicago Tribune offers TWO sets of cash prizes for the most nearly correctly solved, complete sets of puzzles submitted in accordance with these rules. (See the two prize lists printed here.) In selecting the winners the judges will choose first, the First Prize Winner for Prize List No. 1; next, the First Prize Winner for Prize List No. 2; next, the Second Prize Winner for Prize List No. 1; next, the Second Prize Winner for Prize List No. 2; and continue to alternate in this manner until winners have been chosen for all of the prizes enumerated in both lists. The total number of prizes to be paid hereunder will be 860 and the total sum of money $10,000.00. No contestant shall be entitled to receive more than one of the 860 prizes.

5. You do not have to solve ALL the puzzles correctly to win. Prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank highest.

6. No person may submit more than one entry. Entries should be sent by First Class Mail, Postage Prepaid. Each entry must be accompanied by a letter giving your name and address and stating, in 100 words or less, which event in the life of Franklin D. Roosevelt, in your opinion, is the most interesting and why. Letters will be considered only if two or more contestants submit equally correct solutions of the puzzles; in such event, letters will be judged on the basis of human interest and originality. Accuracy in solution of the puzzles will be the first consideration, however, in awarding the prizes.

7. You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the puzzles. The Chicago Tribune may be examined free at its offices or at Public Libraries. The judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. A condition of entry is that the judges' decision shall be final. In case of a tie for any prize in Prize List No. 1 or Prize List No. 2, duplicate awards will be paid to [illegible] contestants.

The Man on the Blue

[Copyright: 1937: By Luke Short.]

By Luke Short

SYNOPSIS.

Shamrock Ireland, wanted for shooting a town marshal in self-defense over a card game, reaches Arizona on his Blue and saves the life of Sherif Lobell, who is about to be shot by a girl, Nancy Hyatt. The Hyatts—Nancy and her brother, Mayo—have lost their ranch, the Double Diamond, to the bank. Mayo has threatened to kill any man who serves him with a dispossess. Because Shamrock believes it was Mayo who betrayed the man who brought him up, he accepts the dangerous task of serving the papers. He confronts Mayo at his ranch and learns he has misjudged him, but Nancy scorns him. She tried to shoot Lobell to save her brother, paroled on good behavior, from killing him. Shamrock bullies Lobell into appointing him deputy sherif. He convinces the Hyatts he is with them and persuades Mayo to leave the ranch till they can investigate. Shamrock rescues Maginnis, a young stable boy, wanted, according to Lobell, as a killer. The lad tells Shamrock that Lobell had conspired to have his father lynched because of a gold claim he'd found that Lobell was after. Shamrock sends the lad to Mayo's hiding place, then goes to call on the banker, Gillespie, for further information, and finds him killed. Lobell has planted Hyatt's keys in the bank's vault. A posse is formed to capture Mayo as the banker's murderer. Shamrock gallops off to warn Mayo. They piece together Lobell's villainy. Lobell wanted the ranch for water power to work the gold. Gillespie had double-crossed Lobell, so Lobell murdered him. Shamrock trails two of Lobell's men and is captured. Hyatt and Maginnis, following Shamrock, are also caught. Nancy and Scott, an honest rancher, arrive. The three are taken to jail. A mob collects intent on lynching them. Shamrock frightens Freed, their guard, into giving up the keys, then gains Scott's aid in helping him prove their innocence. They set fire to the office, the jail being adobe, won't burn. Shamrock hides in a desk, and Scott has the desk carried outside. Shamrock, with Scott, enters the room where Lobell is testifying at the banker's inquest.

INSTALMENT XLVII.

INNOCENCE PROVED.

"Freed told about your killin' Gillespie and throwin' the blame on Hyatt—about your tryin' to beef young Maginnis because he could give the game away." Shamrock paused, watching Lobell's face. "He even told how you planned to kill Nancy Hyatt because she's the only livin' person that could give you away."

"Prove it!" Lobell said, and his voice was strangely hoarse. It was Scott, standing there silently by Shamrock, that was so convincing, that raised the doubt in the sherif's mind. That, and the fact that Shamrock was free and had guns.

"I'm goin' to let Freed do that," Shamrock said softly. "The mob's down there now, gettin' the whole story from him. They'll want to see you, Pop."

Lobell's facial muscles moved just a little, and Shamrock saw it coming.

"Better come along, Pop. They want to hear you."

It was the mention of the mob that did it. Even as Shamrock ceased speaking, a roar welled up from the mob. Perhaps the roof had fallen. Shamrock laughed, and jerked his head.

"Hear them?"

Then Lobell exploded. With a sweep of his arm, he knocked the lamp off the table and threw the room into darkness. Shamrock fell flat on his face, off-cocking his guns. Three swift shots slammed into the wall behind him—Lobell's shots. The room was a madhouse. Shamrock heard someone drive into the stove, and the pipe crashed.

"The door!" Shamrock roared. "Watch the door for him!"

Then he lay there, grinning, watching the window. Men were cursing, afraid to shoot, afraid for their own lives, and wild with panic.

When Shamrock saw a figure bolt into the window and out of it, he rammed his guns in his belt and fought through to the window. He had seen enough. The man who went through had not slid down the roof. He had swung around the window and was crawling up to the ridge. Only Lobell, thinking Shamrock was watching the door for him, would think that fast.

Shamrock swung up through the window, and crawled slowly up the shingles. Lobell couldn't get down on the other side unless he moved up front, because the adjoining building was short.

He saw something move on the ridge pole, saw a big bulk crawling along it, but he did not draw a gun.

When he achieved the ridge he saw Lobell ahead of him, his form outlined by the light of the fire. Shamrock laughed softly and stood up, and started walking along the ridge toward the front of the hotel. Lobell had not even looked back.

Then Shamrock sensed what he was doing. The big false front of the hotel looked square before them. Lobell would reach it, work down the roof slope to where the false front of the adjoining building—much lower—nearly met the eave of the hotel. A jump to that false front, twenty feet along it, and he would reach the ridge of that roof. He could slide down the far side of it with only a ten foot drop to the ground.

Softly, softly, Shamrock followed him.

When Lobell reached the false front he stood up, so that he was silhouetted plainly against the light coming up from the street.

He turned to look back.

Then Shamrock laughed harshly. He had come up in his stocking feet so that only twenty feet remained between him and the sherif.

"Fill your hand, Pop," he said gently out of the night. "It's trail's end!"

With an oath, Lobell streaked for his guns, but Shamrock's hands were already on the downswing.

He whipped out his Colts with a savage laugh in a close swiveling arc and shot—shot nine times, fanning the hammer carefully in increasing tempo.

The first shot caught Lobell in the side and twisted him. The second drove him a step back along the ridge but he had a gun clear now and he shot.

The third, fourth and fifth drove him back step by step—then he teetered on the edge of the false front.

Then Shamrock let loose—a chattering smashing roar that drove him over the edge. A high siren of a scream trailed off and down into the street.

Slowly, Shamrock holstered his guns, walked to the edge of the roof and looked below. There, on the board sidewalk, face down, lay Lobell. Beside him was a black object—maybe a box. Scattered around him were what from that height looked to be leaves or paper.

Shamrock felt something rub his elbow and turned. It was Scott.

"You saw?" Shamrock said.

"I was behind you—saw you go out of the window. Yes. I saw it all."

"Do you believe me?"

"I do," Scott said.

They looked down at the sidewalk, just as the first juryman burst out of the hotel and stopped short, looking at Lobell.

"Thanks for lyin' for me," Shamrock said briefly.

"Hell, I never lied," Scott said gruffly. "I just kept my mouth shut."

"Let's go down. We've still got Hyatt and Maginnis to get out."

They worked their way down the roof to the eave where they could step to the false front of the next store. On the far slope of its roof, they dropped to the ground and stepped out onto the street.

Scott said: "Better give me a gun."

Shamrock complied. As they approached, the circle of men gathered about Lobell—mostly jurymen who had come down the stairs—gave way. Shamrock, arrogant, still faced, ignored them and walked over to the doctor-coroner kneeling by Lobell.

"Dead?" he asked.

The doctor nodded and stood up. Shamrock looked down at the walk on which the box lay. Banknotes were scattered like autumn leaves around Lobell. Five peppermint drops lay among them.

Scott knelt and examined the notes, then took out the sheafs of banknotes still in the box. The piles near the bottom were scorched. Scott turned the box over, and saw that the enamel on the bottom was burned off.

"Yes," Shamrock answered tonelessly.

Slowly, Scott stood up, and addressed the watching men. "Did any of you up in that room hear the stove crash?"

Several of the men nodded.

Scott pointed to the box. "The box was hid in the stove. Lobell must have killed Gillespie, robbed the bank, then come back and hid the loot in the stove—the last place anyone would ever look." He looked down at Lobell, then at the crowd.

"God! Do you understand what we've almost done?"

And without waiting for an answer he said: "Those two in the jail—Maginnis and Hyatt! They're innocent! Come on!"

He raced for the corner, the jurymen with him, leaving Shamrock alone.

RAISINS LEND FLAVOR TO PIES AND COOKIES

"What for Dessert? Thirty-two Answers," a booklet of answers to the dessert problem, is on sale at the Chicago Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

When he wasn't busy composing a hieroglyphic sonnet or taking after his enemy with a well sharpened spear, the ancient Egyptian tended his vineyards. And quite by accident an Egyptian grape grower discovered that a few scattered bunches of grapes which had been left on the vines at harvest had dried to a delicious sugary sweetness. He was the first raisin fancier!

But no Egyptian of long ago was privileged, as are we, to eat raisin pies and raisin cookies to heart's content. No Egyptian even dreamed of a thick, sweet raisin pie with a flaky, brown, lattice work crust!

How Cleopatra would have licked her pretty lips after a meal climaxed by a slice of puffed raisin pie or a toothsome wedge of raisin meringue pie!

Puffed Raisin Pie.

2 cups puffed raisins
1 cup sugar
2 cups water
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons cornstarch

Cook the raisins, sugar, water, salt, and butter together for five minutes. Dissolve the cornstarch in 3 tablespoons of cold water, add to the raisin mixture and cook for five minutes more. Remove from heat and add lemon juice. Pour into a pastry lined pie tin and make a lattice top crust from narrow strips of the pie pastry. Bake the pie for twenty-five minutes in a 400 degree oven.

Raisin Meringue Pie.

1⅓ cups seedless raisins
¼ cup butter
3 tablespoons flour
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
2 cups milk
1½ cups brown sugar
2 eggs
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon vanilla

Wash the raisins in hot water, drain them and chop. Melt the butter in the top of a double boiler and stir in the flour and cornstarch. Add the milk gradually and stir until thickened. Allow to cook for fifteen minutes, stirring constantly. Add the sugar and, when it has dissolved completely, remove the cooker from the fire and add the beaten egg yolks, lemon juice, raisins, and vanilla. Pour the filling into a baked pastry shell, cover with a meringue made by whipping the two egg whites stiffly and folding in 4 tablespoons of sugar. Bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees] for fifteen minutes, until the meringue is browned. Cool and chill before serving.

Old fashioned raisin oatmeal cookies may be made easily and quickly by this recipe:

Raisin Oatmeal Cookies.

1 cup seedless raisins
1 cup sugar
⅓ cup shortening
2 eggs
¼ cup milk
1⅔ cups oatmeal
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt

Wash raisins in hot water and drain. Cream the shortening and sugar together and add beaten eggs and milk. Combine with the oatmeal and raisins. Mix well. Add flour stiffened with soda, salt, and cinnamon. Beat well, drop by spoonfuls onto a greased cookie sheet, and bake for twelve minutes in a moderate [350 degrees] oven.

ADVISE BUYING FOREQUARTER CUTS OF LAMB

The forequarter cuts of lamb—shoulder chops, breast, and shoulder roasts—are recommended to Chicago housewives as the most attractive meat buys over the week-end by the committee on marketing information of the Meat Council of Chicago.

CHOPPED NUTS ARE TASTY TOUCH TO POTATO PUFFS

Top sweet potato puffs with marshmallows, to be sure. But further glorify them with the addition of chopped nuts. To make these nut-marshmallow-sweet potato puffs, whip up the boiled sweet potatoes, and add salt and pepper to taste. Form into mounds on a greased cookie sheet, and make a slight indentation in the top of each. Sprinkle with chopped walnuts or pecans, and top with a marshmallow, pushing it slightly into the mound. Put into moderately hot oven, around 375 degrees F., to brown the marshmallow.

ADD CELERY SALT TO STEW OR SOUP FOR NEW FLAVOR

Celery salt is one of the most useful of the seasoners. A little added to a stew or cream sauce gives a pleasing flavor which merely hints of the spicy addition. A sprinkling of the salt on a sort of cooked egg breakfast is an unusual variation. A teaspoonful added to the soup takes the place of fresh celery, in case the grocer has forgotten this item in the morning order.

When celery salt is used, the amount of ordinary salt should be reduced or it should be omitted altogether, for, as its name implies, celery salt is a combination of pulverized celery seed and salt. The amount of this seasoning to be used in cooking varies according to the intensity of celery flavor that the dish requires.

When celery salt is added to gravies, the amount must be regulated by the saltiness of the meat juices. It is usually preferable to sprinkle a roast with a teaspoon of celery salt before putting it in the oven. Enough of the flavor will trickle into the gravy to permeate it to just the right degree.

TRIBUNE RECIPES

BAKED APPLES WITH CHESTNUT STUFFING.

1 cup shelled chestnuts
¼ cup seedless raisins
¼ cup date meats
5 tablespoons brown sugar
Juice of ½ lemon
6 baking apples

Put the first three ingredients through a food chopper and mix with the sugar and lemon juice. Core the apples and stuff with the mixture Sprinkle tops of the apples with a sugar and cinnamon mixture, add a little hot water to the pan, and bake in a moderate oven at 350 degrees Fahrenheit, for three-quarters of an hour, or until the apples are puffy and tender. Serve hot or cold.

BOILED SALAD DRESSING.

4 level tablespoons flour
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
1½ teaspoons mustard
3 tablespoons sugar
4 egg yolks or 2 eggs, well beaten
⅓ cup vinegar
1½ cups milk
3 tablespoons butter

Blend the seasoning, flour and sugar in the top of a double boiler, add the eggs and stir until smooth. Add the milk, then the vinegar carefully, mixing constantly. Cook over hot water until thick, stirring to avoid lumps. Add the butter and chill before using. To serve, thin with cream.

WILTED LETTUCE.

1 small onion, sliced thin
1 hard cooked egg
1½ teaspoons sugar
3 slices bacon, diced
¼ cup vinegar diluted with 2 tablespoons water
Salt and pepper

Wash lettuce thoroughly and drain well. Place the bacon in small frying pan and fry it until crisp. Add the sliced onion, the sugar, and the diluted vinegar, stir until well heated. Pour this dressing over the lettuce and toss gently until blended. Each serving should be garnished with slices of hard cooked egg.

ALMOND MARMALADE MUFFINS.

2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 cup milk
1 egg
2 tablespoons melted shortening
⅓ cup orange marmalade
⅓ cup chopped, toasted almonds

Mix and sift dry ingredients and add chopped, toasted almonds. Mix milk, beaten egg, melted fat, and marmalade. Combine two mixtures, stirring barely enough to dampen dry ingredients. Bake at 400 degrees F. about 25 to 30 minutes.

Curiosity Sign of Growth of Child's Mind

World Is Mysterious New Place to Him.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Are you one of those mothers who knows she shouldn't be made nervous and irritable by almost all the things her 2 or 3 year old does—perfectly natural things, too, and yet is?

If you are, you probably have followed rather closely the two articles preceding this one, which attempt to answer the question asked by one of these mothers:

"Can you tell us what we ought to expect of our little children? Mine is 2½."

The first part of the answer, already given, explained that constant activity must be expected and why.

The next thing to be prepared for is curiosity in the young child. All of the things that are familiar or stale to our senses, are new and stimulating to hers. The run about child has sharp eyes for detail, sharp ears for sound, sometimes [not always] a sharp nose [even if tiny and snubbed] for smells, a desire to try the sense of taste on almost every object, especially inedible ones, but particularly does the run about child have a craving to satisfy the sense of touch.

"He can't keep his hands off of things. I slap him but it does no good."

Don't I beg of you. This sense of touch is a marvelous revealing thing residing in the delicate, sensitive instrument of a human being, his hands. Don't deny your child the gratification of his sense of touch. Don't think he's meddling when he wants to touch things. He's learning about shapes and surfaces and textures and heat and cold.

Of course you will use judgment in satisfying your child's desire to touch. A few fragile things are best put out of his reach, also things dangerous to him, like shears and razor blades, and poison and guns!

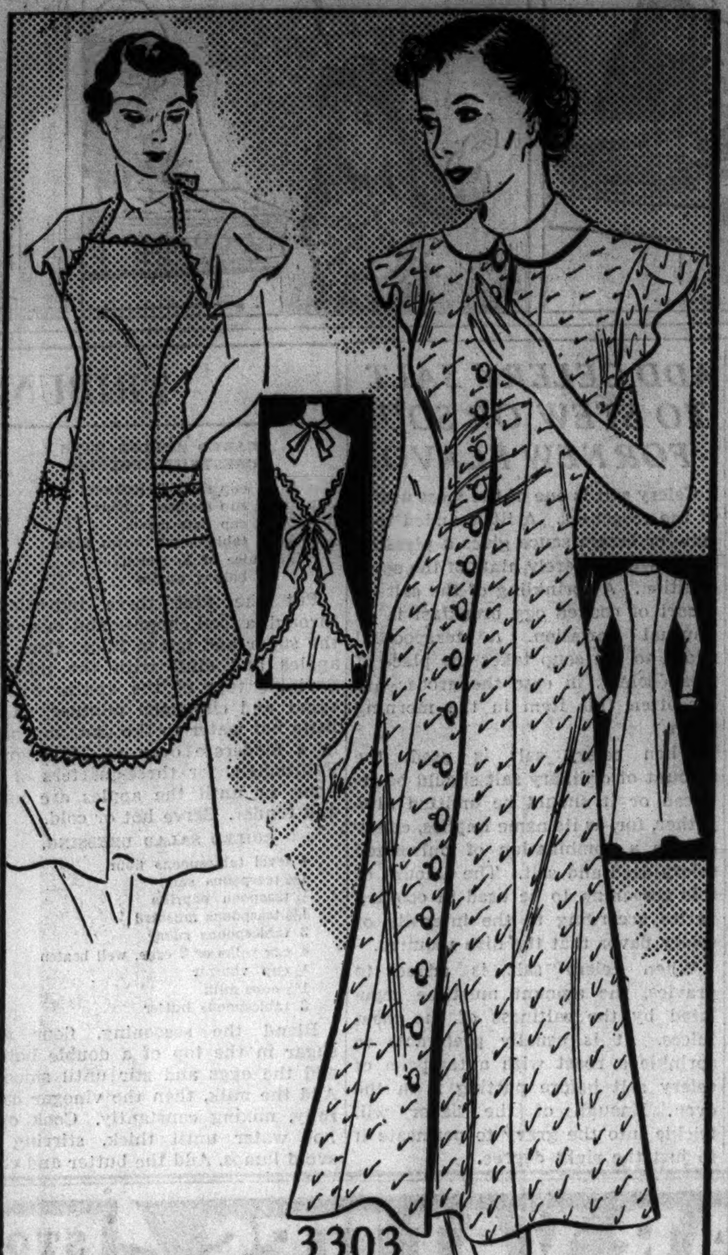
Home Ensemble, Princess Lines



WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOME ENSEMBLE.

Princess lines have invaded the realm of the house ensemble. These lines are flattering to the figure, comfortable to wear, and delightfully easy to launder and press. Besides, they are dressier than the average lines of attire for home wear, and any housewife may wear this ensemble with pride when unexpected callers arrive as she is in the midst of her tasks.

The harmonizing apron ties at both neckline and waist, and is easily taken off when the doorbell rings. Rickrack braid is colorful trimming, easily sewed on.

By the way, the sleeves of this frock may be either long or short, the latter being, perhaps, the most practical for general wear. Buttons lend interest to the entire length of the dress, and provide opportunity for intriguing color schemes.

Any of the sturdy, washable, and bright cotton fabrics available in wide variety are perfect for this model.

Style No. 3303 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material, with ¼ yard of 35 inch contrasting for the dress. The separate apron requires 1⅝ yards of 39 inch material, with 5 yards of braid.

By Believing You Are Lovely You May Be So

Self-Assurance Often Key to Woman's Beauty.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

I ran across a line in an article the other day that arrested my attention. It read: "Declare yourself healthy, and you may become so!"

Paraphrasing the line so that it would apply to beauty, I wondered how it would work: "Declare yourself beautiful and you may become so!" Or, let's modify it and say "Declare yourself good looking and you may become so!" To be good looking is enough to ask. So, fortified today, you can get about everything out of life that you need or want. The beauties still are rare and still owe their distinction to the hand that fashioned them originally, I think. But good looking women, attractive women, charming women are among the commonest products we have today. There are thousands and thousands of them and still more thousands.

But to get back to the line of self-declaration. How would it work as an impetus to bigger and better beautifying work? I think it would work magnificently. I base this on the fact that so many women are not better looking because they are victimized by that tiresome old ogre, the inferiority complex. If these women would adopt the declaration line, it would be the best lift they could give themselves. As you have met the type, so I have met, and frequently, the woman who is so cocksure that she is good looking, I'll be panhandled if she doesn't make every one else think she's out of the ordinary.

I have one in mind who accomplishes this effect without antagonizing people with a super-egoism. In fact, she isn't a vain person, just gorgeously poised and sure of herself. It's doubtful, however, if she ever nurses a grudge that her hair isn't thus or so, her eyes not as large as they might be, her figure not as perfect. She just puts all that behind her, polishes off what assets she has, and spreads charm. That's exactly what she has, really, because her own self-assurance puts other at ease with her.

The line suggested above is offered as an antidote to those girls and women who always are belittlin' themselves, really thinking they've been short-changed.

College Alumnae Find Men Give Four Times as Much as Women

Gifts and bequests of Chicago men in the interest of the public were more than four times greater than those of Chicago women in the five years from 1931 to 1935 inclusive, according to a survey completed yesterday by the alumnae committee of seven colleges.

The men gave 44½ million dollars and the women 10¾ million, the survey showed. Reform came first on the list with both men and women, men's contributions to reform aggregating 24½ million and women's more than 2¼ million. Education was next, with contributions of 6 million from men and ½ million from women.

The committee making the survey represents Barnard, Bryn Mawr, Mount Holyoke, Radcliffe, Smith, Vassar, and Wellesley.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A frantic mother has written us asking what in the world to do with her 12 year old daughter, who gnaws at her nails in spite of bribes, beatings, and bitter comment.

And it is something to get fairly frantic about. Nails bitten to the quick are ugly to behold—and they tell tales of emotional instability that are rather disturbing. Psychologically they're possessions any young woman would be happy to dispense with.

There are preparations, bitter ones, that can be used to paint the nails. Their use won't cure the urge, but the taste is so repellent the teeth usually won't clamp down. Antoinette Donnelly has a formula for such a lotion, which she sends to her readers at the drop of a stamped, addressed envelope.

But just recently we had an interesting experience with a nail biter. One young woman we know—all of 20—had been chewing at her nails as long as she could remember. The nails looked it. And she gave us the jitters. Every time our eye fell on her she was gnawing off a good corner of cuticle—a sight that always makes our flesh creep.

So we, more or less as a selfish measure, sold her on the idea of a course of corrective manicures. Gave her a great buildup on how easy it was to have beautiful finger tips, and made her pay in advance for a series of six professional manicures at a good salon. Having paid for them, she went to her treatments regularly.

In a month she began being proud of her nails, though the improvement in their appearance had shown itself long before that. Eventually her nails were so handsome, even to her eyes, that she thought twice before she bit—and didn't bite. Occasionally, of course, when her nerves were ragged [she's a nervous gal, as most nail biters are] she would fall by the wayside and gnaw a bit, but in less than three months pride in her nails had wiped away the habit.

We suggest to the frantic mother that she try this. A course of professional manicures, designed to correct nails in bad condition, might kill two birds with one orangewood stick. The nails themselves will benefit—and the psychological effect on the biter might be all you could ask.

Several Orthodox Churches Celebrate Their Christmas

Yesterday was Christmas for members of several branches of the Greek Orthodox church including the Russian, Serbian and Croatian, which still follow the eastern practice of observing Christmas on Jan. 6, the day known to western churches as Epiphany. Discrepancy between the old Julian and modern Gregorian calendars accounts for the observance of Jan. 7 instead of Jan. 6. Principal services yesterday were held at Holy Trinity Russian cathedral, 1121 North Leavitt street, with the Rt. Rev. Bishop Leonty presiding.

Movie Comic Not Sure Home Is on Right Lot

Butterworth Too Busy to Watch Building.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Charles Butterworth is building a new home, one in which he hopes he will be able to live. Charlie has had a number of Hollywood homes since he began his highly successful movie career, back toward the end of the silent reign, but he always has been so busy he couldn't enjoy them. Now he owns a modest but fine looking little place in Palm Springs. He would like to be there enjoying the winter resort season but he can't. Too many movie studios keep shoving him into rôles.

At present this shy actor is working days in "Swing High, Swing Low" with Fred MacMurray and Carole Lombard at Paramount. Nights he writes his scripts for radio appearances with Fred Astaire. He always has written most of his comedy dialogs.

"It keeps me mighty busy all the time, but I like it," he said. "Although I am building a new home in Holmby Hills, I haven't had a chance to see if the contractor is erecting it on the right lot."

Butterworth worked on newspapers at South Bend, Ind., where he attended Notre Dame university [class of 1924, law], and later did some newspaper work in Chicago and New York. Although he had wanted to go on the stage he studied law four years. After college law he tried vaudeville. "But I couldn't find enough jobs to keep me busy and I doubled up in newspaper work. Gradually I got better as a comic and then I was able to leave newspaper work alone. That wasn't hard to do."

He finally was called to Hollywood and found an immediate interest in his portrayal of the overmodest, fuddling Mr. Mouse kind of fellow. The socially active portion of the picture colony once tried to engulf him. "That was when I learned a lesson," he says. "We had rented a home with a swimming pool and a tennis court. We didn't have such a good time because people were always stepping in to play a game of tennis and have a swim."

Butterworth didn't say it but the people who drop in like that in Hollywood for an informal hour of exercise always overlap on the host's hospitality for victuals and beverages also.

Butterworth explains, "my wife and I decided to get rid of the accessories. The people who had been dropping in just drifted away. We realized we had been playing second fiddle to a court and a pool. However, I love to play tennis so I now belong to a couple of tennis clubs."

As for being a successful movie comedian Charlie isn't sure himself that he is funny. He says he never has been able to think out a formula—even for himself—about how to be funny. The biggest handicap, he says, is that no matter what he does, casual acquaintances always greet it with a smile. "I am quite sure if I walked into a room and excused myself because I had to be removed to a hospital they would all roar with laughter."

Mrs. Butterworth [the former Ethel Kenyon, actress] doesn't think Charlie is very funny, either. But she isn't going to quarrel about it with the producers who pay him around $2,000 a week.

The mustache that has been a part of Jean Hersholt's stock in trade for the last eight years is gone on orders of Director Henry King of "Seventh Heaven" at Twentieth Century-Fox. King is the man who made Hersholt grow the mustache in the first place. That also was because of a movie rôle—"Hell's Harbor," in 1928, at Tampa, Fla.

Harpo Marx and Fred Perry, tennis champion, have agreed to a novel athletic competition when Perry returns from his professional tennis tour. Perry and Harpo will vie in ten sports, the winner of most events to receive a new golf bag and set of clubs from the loser. The sports are golf [eighteen holes], swimming [in Harpo's pool], tennis, ping-pong, croquet, pocket billiards, bowling, handball, badminton, and horseshoes.

RKO-Radio studio sent to New York and signed Onslow Stevens, now playing with Margaret Sullavan in "Stage Door" after having used Stevens in a series of motion pictures here recently but not signing him to a permanent contract. RKO has acquired film rights to "Stage Door," but will use Burgess Meredith in Stevens' rôle and Katharine Hepburn and Ginger Rogers will have the feminine leads.

Martha Raye and Shirley Ross both were hurt in film location accidents at Balboa Beach, Cal., yesterday. Miss Raye was riding in an automobile which stopped too fast. Her head was bruised in a bump against the side of the car. Miss Ross fell down the stairway of the yacht Hoa Aloha and sprained both arms.

Guy Kibbee has joined the film group of horse fanciers. Kibbee will raise saddle horses on his new ranch in San Fernando valley. The ranch adjoins that of Lew Stone.

Edmund Gwenn, who has just finished a rôle in "Parnell," has left for England to attend the coronation of George VI.

Edna May Oliver, who pieces quilts for her own amusement, is going to have a historic quilt when she completes the next one. Clark Gable donated twelve silk ties he didn't care to wear, most of them, he confessed, being Christmas gifts; Myrna Loy gave Miss Oliver a scarf, and John Stahl, who is directing all of them in "Parnell," turned up with a purple tie with red stripes and a silk handkerchief to match. Miss Oliver will use no other patches for this quilt.

A Debutante in Furs

Miss Dorothy Brown (left) and Miss Barbara Totman look rather like sisters in the photograph, but the similarity is due to their attractive fur coats. Miss Brown is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Brown, and Miss Totman is the daughter of the Arnold W. Totmans, and a debutante of the season. She attends Sarah Lawrence college.

"Snow Crystal" Is Applique Quilt Long a Favorite

Snow Crystal.

BY NANCY CABOT.

As a child one of the first quilt patterns I could recognize was the old "Snow Crystal." This applique pattern was not the simplest of all the patterns, but it was such a favorite that it ranked among the best known. The first quilt in this branch of the Cabot family was made of red figured "chints" against a white ground. More modern usage finds every shade of blue used against a white or blue ground. Green runs the blues a close second, and the popular red of years back is obsolete. These blocks are small, measuring 10 inches square, and are set together in an alternate arrangement with plain white ones.

Chicago Tennis Fans Will See Perry Match

Number to Give Parties Tomorrow Night.

BY JUDITH CASS.

WHAT cost New Yorkers $9.00 at top price will cost Chicagoans $5.50, for that is the top for seats at the Chicago Stadium morrow night when Fred Perry and llsworth Vines will play a profes- onal tennis match. Mr. Perry's pro- ssional debut in New York Wednes- ay night drew record crowds.

Good times are back, indeed, when ch a considerable number of tickets e disposed of at so high a price. he brilliant new tennis personality, e English Mr. Perry, matched with merica's Mr. Vines, was more suc- essful in point of view of attendance well as financially than the match etween William Tilden II. and Mr. ines in 1935.

Two of Lake Forest's most enthusi- stic tennis fans, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wat- n Armour III., have taken a box for morrow night's sporting event. The rmer Jean Schweppe's cousin, Mrs. ohn P. Bent, is another of the On- entsia leading players, and so is rs. Franklin G. Clement. Miss Eve- n Bouscaren, one of Winnetka's best nown feminine tennis players, will tend the matches with a group in- uding the Bruce Thornes and the ymond O. Mitchells.

The John Wentworths are other box- olders. Solomon A. Smith, Mrs. uice de Koven Phelps, and James Norris all have taken boxes, as well Nathan B. Swift, Maj. Frederic Mc- ghlin, and Harold Foreman, among hers.

Chicagoans Enter New York Needlework Exhibit.

Ever since it became known a few ars ago that former King Edward, en prince of Wales, was almost as ept at embroidery as in the hunting eld—and the rider is no expert who asn't been thrown at least three mes, as the saying goes—the art of eedlework has been increasingly in e news.

In this country perhaps the most im- ortant event of the sort is New York's nnual exhibition of amateur needle- ork of today, to be held next week W. & J. Sloane's on Fifth avenue. number of Chicagoans are sending ntries to the show at the invitation Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr., vice hairman of the exhibition. Mrs. oosevelt was among the most en- usiastic of the visitors to the Chi- go show which the Needlework and extile guild staged so successfully rlier this winter at the Art institute.

Picture by Mrs. Ely Will Be Shown.

Another unusually fine example of raftsmanship to be entered in the ow is Mrs. C. Morse Ely's duplicate an antique French picture of the 's XV. period, worked on black ta. Both the original and the which show a garden scene with cians and skirted ladies, will be bited.

Allen M. Reed is sending east reen on which a blue bowl of rs is worked against a beige back- und. This and two beige pillows ed in bouquets of flowers by Mrs. rd Morris will help to furnish "House of Needlework" that is be the setting for the exhibition.

A tray cloth of cream linen done in e black work that Catherine of Ara- on is said to have introduced into ngland will be shown by Mrs. M. G. pencer, and Mrs. Maurice Mandel-

Truant Officer—
Query—
Meanest Man—
Stars—
Retort.

A YOUNG teacher from the mountains of West Virginia spent her holiday vacation in Chicago. Reciting some incidents of her school life to a group of Chicago school teachers, she told them about her truant officer—a six-foot-two mountaineer named Tom Farley, who wears long mustaches and glares fiercely at the children. Once each year he visits her school. When he comes into the room he leans upon her desk, and pushes back his long tailed coat, nonchalantly revealing a two foot gun and a pair of handcuffs. The little third graders gaze on him in terror.

* *

RECENTLY the county superintendent, who is a woman, came to visit the West Virginia school and made a talk. She talked long, and her discourse was of the kind that high school seniors might have understood, but which left the third graders uncomprehending and round-eyed. When she left, a little thing with big eyes and an awed expression, called out loudly, "Lord God, miss—who was that? Was she Tom Farley's wife?"

* *

PERHAPS the meanest man in the world is, after all, the father of three children who took his shotgun out on the back porch on Christmas eve, fired once into the air, then went back and told the children that he had just killed Santa Claus.

NAZIMOVA is playing in town, and so is Jane Cowl, and Katharine Hepburn is imminent in "Jane Eyre." Six years ago the Theater Guild presented Nazimova at the Blackstone in Turgenev's "A Month in the Country" and the rôle of the maid, Katia, was played by a slender, intense girl, who also acted as understudy and nightly sat or stood in the wings following every movement and syllable on the stage. She was Katharine Hepburn.

When Jane Cowl was dissatisfied with the various ingénues who read for "Art and Mrs. Bottle," she was told of a striking girl who might do. She was reached, came and read the part, and slipped away before she could be told she was hired, then was brought back and engaged. She was Katharine Hepburn. The critics remembered her after that, but they did not associate her with the maid in "A Month in the Country." Now Miss Hepburn returns to Chicago as a lead in a Theater Guild presentation six years after her unnoticed appearance, also in a Theater Guild presentation.

BEFORE Mrs. George Clayson departed for her hair dresser's she said to her niece, who is 16, attends a convent day school in town, and wears uniforms she despises, "I'm going to have my hair done a new way, quite different, and when I come out I'll look so young and beautiful people who see us walking down the street together will say, 'See that young woman with her sister. I wonder who she is?'"

"No, they'll say, 'Who is that old hag in the uniform?'" flashed back the 16 year old.

Hard to Judge Voice Quality by Penmanship

BY MURIEL STAFFORD.

[Copyright: 1937: By Muriel Stafford.]

Many letters have reached me asking whether the writer would be successful as a singer. This is a question that I cannot always answer because voice is a physical gift just as much as a beautiful face. Yet the qualities of personality that appear in handwriting can make a beautiful voice or a beautiful face effective or otherwise.

The handwriting of Rosa Ponselle, the opera star, illustrates this very well. If you have ever heard Miss Ponselle sing, you will realize there is much more than just her exquisite voice. This is her handwriting:

The first outstanding quality in this

Sincerely
Rosa Ponselle

handwriting is generosity of the open-hearted, unselfish type. When you listen to Rosa Ponselle she is pouring out to you all the riches and depths that her voice can touch. She loves to sing and to make others happy, so she combines her voice gift with her natural generosity with extraordinary results, as we all know.

The writing is large, heavy and slanting to the right. Such writers have affectionate, warm-hearted natures. They are sociable and suffer from even temporary isolation. They must express themselves and they just naturally dominate. Also notice the "r" made almost like an "i." What a restless, fuss-detesting person! A truly artistic temperament, all right.

Since the pressure shows plenty of passion, I should hate to be around when Miss Ponselle becomes indignant or restless. There are no indications of a mean temper but the combination of passion, frankness and restlessness could make many fireworks.

Your Handwriting Analyzed

Any Tribune reader can obtain a personal graphology chart showing his or her assets, handicaps, talents, and emotions, by following these rules:

1. Send a sample of handwriting to Muriel Stafford, Chicago Tribune.
2. Inclose 10 cents [carefully wrapped] for each sample of handwriting you wish analyzed.
3. Inclose a self-addressed STAMPED envelope folded once.

Grace Moore Has Flu; Cancels Opera Dates; Disease Hits Studios

New York, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Grace Moore, screen and opera star, has canceled current engagements at the Metropolitan Opera company because of influenza, Manager Edward Johnson announced tonight.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—The film debut of Mary Rogers, 20, daughter of the late Will Rogers, as a leading woman, was halted today. The actress has influenza. It was feared the film company producing "The Last Slaver" with Warner Baxter and Wallace Beery would be unable to wait for Miss Rogers' recovery.

Because of Fred MacMurray's case of makeup poisoning and Carole Lombard's influenza production has been shelved temporarily on their million dollar co-starring movie "Swing High, Swing Low."

Pupils in city and county public senior high schools who intend competing in the Union League club's annual George Washington poster design contest must submit entries by noon Jan. 16. Two art school scholarships will be awarded the creators of the best posters. The club will conduct a George Washington public speaking contest beginning Feb. 15.

Show Depicts Angarola Role as Art Prophet

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Anthony Angarola was a picturesque and significant figure in Chicago art circles some ten years ago. He was one of our most purposeful pioneer-moderns. Waves of criticism washed his paintings at each new exhibit of his work. His early death at the age of 36, in 1929, lost to the middle west one whose possibilities have been ranked in many minds with those of George Bellows, another American painter of distinction whose career was ended untimely.

A retrospective exhibition of Angarola's paintings is on view in the Katharine Kuh gallery, Diana Court building, and will continue through January. It is an interesting show attesting to the far-reaching qualities of his talent and setting him firmly in place as a disciple of Cezanne, with Cezanne's passion for form and pattern.

Color is a negligible quantity so far as Angarola is concerned. A melancholy gray pervades most of his compositions. One reads him as a sad man, a man of troubled heart. There are few gay attacks upon circumstance in the score of paintings bearing his name.

However, there is beauty in many of the landscapes and a studied tranquillity that is invigorating. The solid feel to his buildings and hills, even to his figures, is refreshing. You feel that here is a painter with ideas and ideals, a man with a goal towards which he is making a steady and successful way.

Anthony Angarola should retain a place in our Chicago history of art on the merit of what he did and what he tried to do. As a prophet he spoke with a golden tongue. Modern painting has come along the road he pointed out.

⁂

The All-Illinois Society of the Fine Arts is sponsoring the delightful exhibit of landscapes and still life arrangements by Dolly Hellweg which is current in the mezzanine galleries of the Drake hotel through January. The paintings are colorful and decorative; many of them are extremely well handled.

One of the most attractive is "Brass," a stunning group of samovar, fruit, and flowers. The "Flowers for the Dining Room" is lovely, and "Flower Arrangement" is a beauty.

Mrs. Hellweg is successful in portraiture and her several studies of young women are thoroughly pleasing. "Harmony" is a fascinating medley of objects; "Stiegel Glass" is gorgeous.

This is one of the attractive exhibitions which no one who enjoys pleasant pictures should miss.

WPA Art Project Exhibition Will Be Opened on Sunday

An exhibition of art done under the federal art project of the Works Progress administration will be opened Sunday in the Garfield Park Art galleries at 100 North Central Park avenue. The exhibition, called "New Horizons in American Art," includes 60 oil paintings, water colors and sketches for murals, and comes to Chicago from the Museum of Modern Art in New York City.

In discussing the exhibition, Holger Cahill, national director of the federal art project, said the entire program of the project has been an attempt to "bridge the gap between the American artist and the American people."

The Chicago exhibition is being sponsored by the Chicago park district and the Art institute.

Annual Thomas Concert Given by Symphony

Orchestra Honors Memory of Founder.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra honored its founder and first conductor last night in the annual Theodore Thomas Memorial concert. The program was played under the baton of Frederick Stock, who was a violist in Mr. Thomas' orchestra and later assistant conductor, and who succeeded to the directorship in 1905 upon the death of the founder.

Another link with the past is that fact that this concert, like all the regular concerts of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, was played in Orchestra hall, which the first conductor, with the unstinting help of the citizenry, labored so mightily to build, and which represented a sort of fruition of his dreams. Ironically, he lived to direct only one program in the new building, but knew before his death that his work had been successful and that the orchestra was on a sound basis and its permanence practically assured.

Since his death the Chicago Symphony orchestra has weathered three depressions and a world war. There is every reason to believe that the founder's optimism was not ill placed.

Mr. Stock does not try to make these tributes elegiac. He strives rather to honor Theodore Thomas by planning a program of those monumental works for which the earlier conductor first won a wide audience in the west, and whose dignity and essential worth fit them to the somewhat solemn character of the memorial concert.

Thus he chose the Beethoven Fifth Symphony, a staple item of the répertoire throughout the entire history of the orchestra, and Strauss' "Ein Heldenleben" which was introduced to Chicago by Theodore Thomas only a year or two after its completion. The one scheduled number which had no explicit connection with the Thomas era was Mr. Strauss' own transcription for modern orchestra of the Bach Passacaglia and Fugue.

It would be good to say that last night's performance was fully worthy of the music which the program contained and of the man whom it was designed to honor. But the truth seems to have been that the cramped rehersal time of the busy middle of the season made it necessary to slight the Beethoven Symphony in favor of "Ein Heldenleben."

So, the brasses which were solemn and awe inspiring in the tone poem were often merely loud, and not invariably accurate, in the symphony. The latter work lacked the delicacy and subtlety [notably in the middle section of the scherzo, where the strings, not the brasses were at fault] which only generous rehersal can insure.

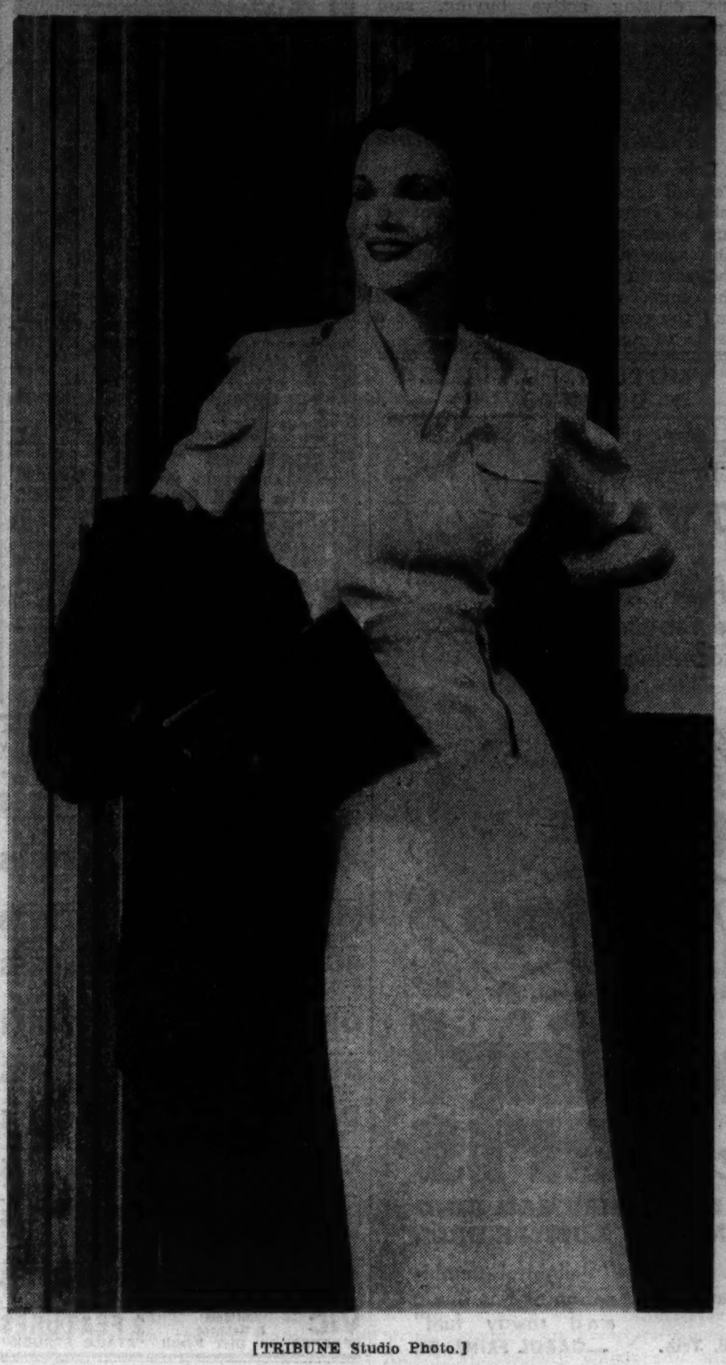
Singer Changes Name.

Mrs. Margaret Dudley Grover Tagmose, 52 years old, a concert singer who lives at the Seneca hotel, was given permission by Circuit Judge Joseph Burke yesterday to change her last name to Winston. The singer's daughter, Diane, 16, also will use the name.

Soft Wool in Creamy Beige



[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

From a Chicago shop: Two piece outfit in creamy beige soft thin wool. This makes the ideal dress for wear under all brown or black fur coats. Two black zippers fasten the skirt smoothly over the hipline, the sleeves are short in the vee neck blouse and a small tailored chest pocket with a flap is the only accent on the blouse.

Producer in City to Seek Reopening of 'Tobacco Road'

Jack Kirkland, who dramatized "Tobacco Road," and Sam R. Grisman, who produced the play, arrived in Chicago yesterday with the intention of finding a theater for a second engagement. The play's run in Chicago a year ago last fall was interrupted by Mayor Kelly's cancellation of the license of the Selwyn theater because he regarded the performance as obscene.

The "Tobacco Road" management is hopeful that Mayor Kelly may have changed his mind because his example has not been followed elsewhere. Mr. Grisman states:

"Since leaving Chicago "Tobacco Road" has appeared in every major city in the United States without interference by the authorities. In Washington, D. C., it had two engagements, of one and two weeks, without official opposition."

The company which Crisman hopes to bring into Chicago has Taylor Holmes, veteran star, in the rôle of Jeeter Lester, formerly acted by Henry Hull.

The New Shoes Are Naturals of Smart Style

Shadow Kid in Blue Shades Scores Success.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Neat new footgear about the shops! Previews of spring stuff, all kinds of stunning new things to go south, and the prize collections of good looking footgear for immediate wear. Top-rating goes to the new showings of a fine superpliable soft kidskin called shadow kid. It looks like colored kidskin with a silver haze over the color. And grand news for the blue addicts—there are three knockout new shades of this popular color.

These new blues take the place of regulation navy, which has been used beyond any special thrill any more, and are going fast. A slate blue, royal blue, and a deep cornflower blue. You'll find these blues especially effective with blue and beige background prints, with thin wools and suits. But the same lovely flattering shadow kid also comes in brown, black, and gray.

Other timely footnotes include the new, long wearing gabardine, the ideal street shoes for comfort and smartness. And when you see the patent lether and gabardine combines you really see things. Such slippers, street oxfords, and dress parade pumps take inches away from the longest foot.

Heels are higher and more feminine, flat heels being used only in sports shoes. But street low-high heels are miracles of foot comfort; any one can walk or shop for hours without any sign of fatigue. Open toes will be popular in future designs, and colors—strong, bright, and cheerful—in a good dozen different tones, are what every one will wear as soon as they dare. Straps, patent lether trim, multi-colored stitchings in rows, bands, and decorative patterns, do everything to keep this high fashion footgear snappy, trim, neat, and slender, and small looking.

⁂

Fashion photograph. . . . Short sleeved, fresh, and springlike, creamy caramel beige is the most popular colored dress to wear for midwinter contrast, under all brown or black fur coats. This model has a very soft flattering neckline, a flapped chest pocket, and two shiny black zippers in the front panel of the slightly flared skirt. The material is a thin soft wool and it is one of the snappiest two piece new dresses in town.

Jenny, Movie Elephant, Is Victim of Pneumonia

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Jenny, the 50 year old, four ton elephant you've seen countless times on the screen, has played her last movie rôle. Stricken with pneumonia yesterday morning, the animal failed to respond to Trainer Joe Netcalfe's treatment of whisky and quinine—three pints and sixty grains per day—and died late last night. Jenny's pal, Anna, a 28 year old elephant, stood guard over the huge body throughout the night and today refused to eat. The Los Angeles museum will mount the body of Jenny.

Expect Coronation to Accent Furniture Trend to Victorian

The coronation of King George VI. in May is expected to give accent to the already noticeable trend to the Victorian in home decoration, a manufacturer's representative at the furniture trade show in the Merchandise Mart said yesterday. Both the show in the Mart and that in the American Furniture Mart finished the fourth day of their two week's markets yesterday with heavy attendance.

The reign of Queen Victoria, who assumed the throne in 1837, was characterized by a regard for "lavender and old lace," and Victorian lavender plays a prominent part in the new colorings being introduced. The mulberries, fuchsias, and magentas of the era also are well in the forefront of fashion in home decorating, experts said.

In woods, mahogany in old English finish, and in the new light blonde treatments will be in demand, with the Victorian woods of cherry and French walnut and some rosewood.

Registrations at the American Furniture Mart yesterday neared the 6,000 mark at closing time. The threat of rising prices and the potential demand for new products, together with the replacement needs, are causing active buying, said Frank S. Whiting, vice president of the mart.

Number to Give Parties Tomorrow Night.

Mrs. John W. Gary is going east to be a hostess at the show next Thursday, which has been designated as Chicago day. Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift, Mrs. Barrett Wendell Jr., and Mrs. C. Morse Ely also were invited to be hostesses, but none is planning to go, and neither is Mrs. Kent S. Clow, who is Illinois chairman of exhibits.

Berry-Rudolph Nuptials Tonight.

Just the immediate families will be present at the marriage of Mrs. Marion Blatchford Berry and Charles D. Rudolph at 8 o'clock tonight in the Winnetka home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Frank W. Blatchford. The Rev. Samuel D. Harkness of the Winnetka Congregational church will read the ceremony, and there will be a small reception following.

Mrs. Berry will be attended by her sister, Mrs. Ludlow S. Fowler of New York, and by her daughter, Joyce Berry, 11, who will be flower girl. Malcolm Stevenson will be Mr. Rudolph's best man. After a brief wedding trip Mr. Rudolph, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Rudolph of Winnetka, and his bride will make their home in Glencoe.

Give Reception Today for Mr. Chrysler.

Mrs. James Ward Thorne, chairman of the reception committee at the Arts club, has invited several members to assist in receiving and at the tea tables this afternoon at the reception the club is giving from 4 until 6 o'clock for Walter P. Chrysler Jr. The reception will open an exhibition of Mr. Chrysler's collection of modern paintings.

Mrs. Leslie Wheeler, Mrs. Walter P. Paepcke, Mrs. William B. Hale, Mrs. Tiffany Blake, Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Mrs. Arthur Cable, Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr., Mrs. William H. Mitchell, Mrs. Edward H. Bennett, Mrs. Cecil Barnes, Mrs. John Root, and Miss Lucy Hartrath will assist Mrs. Thorne.

Foreign Relations Luncheon Today.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter L. Lichtenstein, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. McPherson, the Fowler McCormicks, the Clarence B. Randalls, and the Charles S. Deweys will sit at the speakers' table today at the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations luncheon at the Palmer house. Adlai E. Stevenson, president of the council, and Mrs. Stevenson also will be at the table, where Samuel N. Harper will occupy the seat reserved for the especial guest.

Mr. Harper will speak on "A Fifth Visit to Soviet Russia." He has just returned from that country. Among those who have made reservations for luncheon are Mrs. Henry M. Dawes, Mrs. Solomon B. Smith, Alan C. Dixon, Graham Aldis, Mrs. Charles F. Spalding, Stuart H. Otis, Mrs. William A. Nitze, Col. George Voevodsky, George A. Richardson, and Mrs. William G. Hibbard.

Mrs. James R. Offield will go east for the wedding on Jan. 16 of her youthful cousin, Miss Anne Graham Shrigley, to Otho Herron Morgan in Jenkintown, Pa. Miss Shrigley, daughter of Mrs. Leigh Hunt Shrigley, and Mr. Morgan, who formerly lived in Chicago, will be married at 4 o'clock in the Church of Our Savior. Charles Peter Jaeger of Highland Park will be Mr. Morgan's only Chicago usher.

Mrs. Samuel Morse Jr. Guest in Lake Forest.

Mrs. Samuel F. B. Morse Jr. is here for a visit with the George A. Richardsons of Lake Forest. Next Wednesday she will return to California with Mrs. Richardson, who will spend a week with her daughter, Mrs. Rodman Lent Hooker. Then Mrs. Richardson will meet Mr. Richardson in New Orleans, where they will embark on a five weeks' cruise to Guatemala.

Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland has returned from Boston, where she went to welcome a new grandchild, Audrey, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barton Plimpton [Beatrice Borland]. The baby was born on Dec. 17. The Plimptons are at home in Bermingham Center, where they recently purchased a new house.

Miss Harriet and Miss Martha Borland are sailing Jan. 19 in the Stella Polaris for the South Sea Islands.

Beverley Comptons Parents of Son.

Relatives and friends here have received word of the birth of a son to Dr. and Mrs. Beverley C. Compton yesterday in Baltimore, Md. The baby is the first child of Dr. Compton and the former Cynthia Wilson, who have lived in Baltimore since their wedding in July, 1935. Mrs. Compton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Wilson.

Friends of the Gordon P. Kelleys have received invitations in the form of subpenas commanding them to appear on "The Night of January 16" before the City court of Shoreacres to testify in the cause of Hortense Henry Kelley, plaintif, and Gordon Phelps Kelley, defendant.

Since the subpenas are signed by an orchestra leader it is presumed that the affair will be a dinner-dance. The party will celebrate the Kelleys' fifth wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Thomas W. Swan Returns East Tomorrow.

Mrs. Thomas W. Swan of New York, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Albert B. Dick, is returning east tomorrow.

Mrs. John S. Coonley Jr. and her son, Billy, have come from Honolulu to visit her sister-in-law, Mrs. Thomas I. Underwood. Mr. Coonley is arriving around Jan. 20 to be here on business until spring, when he will return to Hawaii with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira J. Couch had rather a lonely Christmas, for their sons spent the holidays with their wives' families. Mr. and Mrs. Ira L. Couch are settled in a new apartment in East Delaware place. Mrs. Johnson Couch still is in Texas with her family, but will return at the end of the month to join her husband in Winnetka.

The Couches are hoping that their daughter and her husband, the Alfred N. Mitchells, will come from India next autumn for a visit.

The Nathan William MacChesneys and their son, Brunson MacChesney, will be at home in Hawthorne place Sunday from 4 until 6 o'clock. Young Mr. MacChesney will be here until Jan. 17 on a visit from California, where he teaches in the law school of the University of California.

The annual meeting of the Arden Shore association will be held at 11:30 o'clock this morning at the Chicago Athletic association.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Moses of 5479 Hyde Park boulevard announce the marriage on Jan. 2 of their daughter, Marion Jane, to Paul Morton Moses, son of Julius Moses, 5490 South Shore drive. Mr. Moses and his bride are at home at 21 West 58th street, New York.

Foes of Blindness Report 1936 as Year of Greatest Activity

On a budget of only $19,000 the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness accomplished more work during 1936 than in any previous year, with the help of the Works Progress administration, the society's annual report showed yesterday. There were 2,020 new members enrolled, 200 more than in any other year.

Under one WPA project sponsored by the society the eyes of 127,500 school children were examined. Defective vision was found in 22,240 cases and was corrected in 4,428 cases. Five trachoma clinics were operated in southern Illinois by WPA, greatly improving the situation as regards this eye disease.

The report stated that only one child in 113,000 lost its eyesight at birth in Illinois last year. This record was credited to legislation sponsored by the society which requires medical treatment at birth.

Woman's A. C. Likes Songs by Louis Sudler

Yesterday's musical at the Woman's Athletic club was of special interest because it introduced a popular young business man as a singer. Louis C. Sudler, who shared the program with Mildred Dilling, harpist, displayed a baritone voice capable of great variety of expression in two groups of songs ranging from Wagner's "Evening Star" to Negro spirituals.

Mr. Sudler's lower register was especially rich and full, and his delightfully clear enunciation enhanced the humorous value of the folk songs. He studied piano as a boy, but first sang as a member of the Yale Glee club. He is now studying voice twice a week and usually plays his own accompaniments.

Mrs. Caroll H. Sudler, Mr. Sudler's mother, and his wife, smart in a black suede tam, heard him sing, and afterward joined him outside the concert hall, where numbers of friends besieged him with congratulations.

Mellon Buys Two More for Gallery; One from Chicago

New York, Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Two more important art purchases by Andrew W. Mellon for the collection which he will give the nation for a national gallery were disclosed today.

One of the purchases formerly belonged to the Metropolitan Museum of Art. It is the "Portrait of a Man with an Arrow," by Hans Memling of the Flemish school [circa 1430-1494].

The other purchase is "La Maitresse d'Ecole," a work by the 18th century French artist, Jean Baptiste Simeon Chardin. The picture formerly was in the collection of the late Frank D. Stout, Chicago capitalist, who died in October, 1927. The painting was lent to the exhibition of the Art institute of Chicago during A Century of Progress in 1933. The painting portrays a young school mistress instructing a child.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mrs. Oscar F. Rydell of 7400 Merrill avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Clara H. Rydell, to Edwin H. Fellinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Fellinger, of 6700 Crandon avenue. Mr. Fellinger is a graduate of the University of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cooper of 4950 Chicago Beach drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Lillian, to William Charles Philips, son of Mrs. Hattie Philips of Cincinnati.

An announcement of interest to Chicago was made recently in Marinette, Wis., where Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Skidmore revealed the engagement of their daughter, Jane Stephenson Skidmore, to J. Kennard Lusty of Hove, Sussex, England. Miss Skidmore, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson J. Ludington of Chicago, is a granddaughter of the late United States Senator Isaac Stephenson. She is a senior at Ferry Hall in Lake Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Price of 400 South Kensington avenue, La Grange, announce the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Lucille, to Robert L. Schock of 4528 Washington boulevard. The wedding will take place in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Butler Craver of Harvey announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret, to Harold Newcomb Savage. Miss Craver is a graduate of the University of Illinois.

Mrs. Mildred K. Halvorsen of 105 15th street, Wilmette, announces the engagement of her daughter, Mildred Eileen, to Richard L. Uifers, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Uifers of Madison, Ill.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Radio is such fun—sometimes! Helen Hayes tripped on a line the other evening making it, "What the hell—heck." . . . Neal W. Hopkins, who writes those Sunday "Your Unseen Friend" sketches, has resigned because of the demand that the program, which is intended for adults, be written for "6 year old minds." . . . Minnie Mouse, the warbling Woodstock rodent, has a couple of nibbles. Fibber McGee's sponsors want to use her, but they haven't bid enough, according to NBC, her manager. Minnie will sing for precisely $500 now that she is a prima donna. The Chicago theater has also made some inquiries. Minnie's agents have turned down the suggestion that she broadcast in person from the cat show Saturday night.

While on the animal subject, Mrs. William Harkness plans to interview Sulin, the baby giant panda she lately fetched from China, on Vincent Lopez' CBS Speed show at 8 p. m. tomorrow. . . . And on Joe Cook's program at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night [WMAQ] Jean Lussier will explain how and why he went over Niagara Falls in a barrel.

Radio can also be disappointing—sometimes: On Tuesday nights you now hear Jack Oakie, a chap with real radio personality, one that could be made to click on the air if it weren't for the tawdry material he is given.

For one week now Rex Chandler and Al Pearce each have been trying to fill a shoe apiece left behind by Fred Waring when he departed from Henry Ford's [radio] roof. Chandler has a good chance at doing it with a bright 42-piece rhythm orchestra geared to just about as sprightly a pace as is suggested by 1937 motor cars. This tempo was considerably slowed, however, by the comedy interludes between the English butler and milady.

Pearce's show entitled, "Watch the Fun Go By," was not up to his gang's standard of other days. Arthur Boran, the impersonator, did a convincing takeoff of Eddie Cantor, wobbled a little on Lionel Barrymore and Ed Wynn. We shall wait until next Tuesday with the hope that the second instalment will be funnier.

Comings and goings: Ella Logan, the Scotch lass from Hollywood who did a guest turn with Ben Bernie from the coast Tuesday, flew here yesterday to open an engagement at the Chez Paree. Henry Busse, by the way, rounds out two years there with an anniversary broadcast at 11 p. m. Sunday over NBC.

Carlton Kelsey, just out of the hospital following an appendectomy, is to become the local CBS musical director, succeeding Billy Mills, who is to free lance. Kelsey handled the late "Then and Now" show. . . . Attilio Baggiore, W-G-N tenor, starts on an extended southwestern concert tour next Tuesday which will take him all the way to Mexico City. . . . Sally Smith, W-G-N dramatic starlet, leaves today for Hollywood and a Warner Brothers screen test.

Women Often Candid About Money Goal

But What Is the Average Suitor to Do?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

When a poor chap falls in love with a girl who tells him frankly that she'll marry money or nothing, he is in the fix in which Moody finds himself this minute.

Moody is crazy about the girl, but the most she will do for him is to give him a Saturday evening every other week. She tells him frankly that she does not want her name tied to his as a steady suitor. She enjoys his company when she does see him, she admits. She admires his principles, appreciates his kindness to his own people and all that. But her way has got to be the way of money until time proves to her that there isn't any rich man in the cards for her.

"I admire her honesty," the young man tells, "but I don't see where she is going to find this rich man. Her people are not well off. She, in fact, is the main support of her household, has been contributing to the home since she was fourteen!" Of which facts she reminds Moody, telling him that, after nine years of it, the only escape she can see is to hitch her star to a golden chariot. There's a young brother of whom the girl is passionately fond. She wants him to be seen through college. She sees herself, in her present earning capacity, as unable to meet the college expenses alone. Her mother's invalidism would be relieved with certain medical attention that cannot be afforded, and even dad, the girl thinks, might be boosted into a position that pays more than his present $10 a week when he gets work to do.

The tragedy is that this type girl is not the type the rich one chooses with frequency. When he does offer her the security for her family she craves, it usually is an old friend of the family, a bystander completely familiar with the girl's sacrifices. But even these cases happen more often in novels than in real life.

Fate marks so many of these home sacrificers for continuance in the rôle they have adopted. Maybe your girl, Moody, will learn these cold blooded facts of life in time to give you the full encouragement you crave.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

EXCEPTIONS TO FORCING BIDS.

2. When a player has passed originally, and then responds to his partner's opening suit bid with a double raise or a two no trump take-out, it is not forcing.

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 heart	Pass
3 hearts

or

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 heart	Pass
2 no trump

North can pass, but only if he did not have a genuine opening bid. If he had a real bid he now should bid again.

3. When the opening hand makes a jump rebid in the same suit he bid at first, or gives a double raise in the responder's suit, it is not forcing.

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
3 hearts

or

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 spades

North may pass these bids only if he has less than one-plus honor trick and no distributional strength. Provided North has not made a super-shaded response on the first round, these bids are, in effect, forcing bids.

TODAY'S HAND.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	6 clubs	Pass
6 spades	Pass	7 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

South's bidding was too bad to deserve comment, and resulted in a contract the fulfilment of which required not only amazing luck but a bad slip by a defender.

West opened the king of diamonds, which was taken by the ace. A club was led and the double finesse of the ten was taken successfully. Accepting this as a matter of course, declarer led the queen of spades; East played low and, with a fine contempt for percentages, declarer, who obviously had intended to finesse, exercised her womanly prerogative and banged down the ace instead. The king fell, and South looked quite pleased. Two more rounds of trumps removed the adverse spades, and then the jack of hearts was led. Of course the declarer would have guessed this finesse correctly anyway, but East cinched matters by covering the jack. The two other heart tricks and the remaining trumps were then dashed off, until only three cards were left. On the last trump West could not bear to part with his high diamond and, even in the face of dummy's remaining ace-queen-seven of clubs, blanked his king of clubs. A club lead toward dummy and another finesse completed the rout. The thirteen tricks were harvested!

Slightly dazed by it all, North heard his partner patter something about the beautiful squeeze play she had made. Feebly, he pointed out that West could have let go a diamond and merely guarded the club suit. To this quibble she retorted with a charming toss of her head: "Well, [illegible] hard luck it was for me that the clubs didn't break three and three!"

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: What is the rule of two and three?

Answer: When making a defensive bid, count your winners and be certain that you have in your own hand within two tricks of your contract if you are vulnerable, and within three tricks of your contract if you are not vulnerable. Then you never can take a set of more than 500 points.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Our poor Blackhawks, as eager and tireless a lot of lads as ever were deluded into taking up professional hocky as a career, utterly unskilled withal, took another plastering last night as they rounded out the first half of their home season. The Boston Bruins, a none too colorful ensemble, either, whipped them, 2 to 0, before 10,000 fans who had no place else to go.

The Hawks never quit trying, and on several occasions during the evening distinctly showed they fully understand the object of the great Canadian winter game.

Hawks Never Close.

But their efforts, so carefully schemed of mornings when no one is around to intercept their fancy cross the rink passes, always were frustrated most cruelly. They never came close to scoring and even when not checked by physical contact, found trouble keeping the puck on their sticks.

The Bruins, whose manager has had much to say this season about wide open hocky and the good of the game, ordered his men to bat the puck the distance of the rink whenever possible, after the Bruins had scored their first goal. Visiting hocky teams are not interested in road attendance, for they get nothing away from home.

The Bruin manager, getting revenge for drab hocky the Hawks are alleged to have played in Boston, appeared to have lost sight of showmanship. The loyalty of the Chicago customers to the Hawks this year has been a sports miracle and scarcely deserves any chill from within the business. But professional sports people are stupid that way, even when they have a soft touch like the Hawks.

It's Eleventh Chicago Defeat.

It was the eleventh defeat for the hapless Hawk and put them seven games behind the Detroit Red Wings, six behind the Rangers, and 5½ back of the Bruins. No announcements were made as to whether any way has been thought up to give Chicago, the best hocky town on the North American continent, major league hocky during the remaining half of the season.

The Bruins' first period goal came in a rather surprising manner seconds after Wieland, then Goldsworthy, had threatened from just off Karakas' boots. Wieland stole the puck from Gottselig near the Hawk blue line and skated in a clear path for the cage. Mike had to make a miracle save to beat this one and immediately afterward Goldsworthy bore down on him in a similar occasion, only to be thwarted by lightning work by the Hawk goalie.

Clapper Scores for Bruins.

Then, in 14:30, Clapper carried the puck across the blue line. Levinsky and Burke, Hawk defense men, posed quite statuesquely, waiting for Clapper to charge. Instead, Dit steadied and whizzed one right between the two immobile defense men. Karakas got in front of the long shot, but it was of such great force that it caromed off Mike's pads into the cage.

The Hawks tried hard to do something on two penalty opportunities, first, when Getliffe was off, and again when Clapper was an enforced absentee.

The Bruins' second goal was made in 13:30 of the second period. There was a face off in the Bruins' defense zone after Shore and Palangio had bristled in a near fight off the end boards. Sands, Cowley, and Getliffe, gliding three abreast, carried the puck the length of the rink to the Hawk end boards, then started a series of zig-zag maneuvers behind the Hawk cage. When the see-saw had dizzied and fascinated the onlooking Hawks, Cowley jabbed out to Sands at the corner of the cage and Sands batted home the goal. The Hawks developed two fairly warm threats during the twenty minute interval. They were hampered in their third period zeal by the fact that the Bruins golfed the puck half the length of the rink or father no fewer than 19 times.

SILVER SKATES DERBIES MOVED TO LA FOLLETTE PARK

WARM WEATHER SHIFTS SCENE TO SHALLOW RINK

1st Races Tomorrow if It's Cold.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Silver Skates derbies have been shifted to La Follette park. All arrangements have been completed and if Chicago has freezing weather tonight the preliminaries and championships will be held tomorrow and Sunday afternoons.

Because of the high temperatures yesterday it became apparent immediately that the derbies could not be held at Garfield park as originally planned. Nathan Balter, of the Chicago park district, then completed arrangements for the transfer of THE TRIBUNE's derbies to La Follette park, which is located at 1333 North Laramie.

The original schedule for the races will be followed. All boys in the midget, juvenile, and junior classes—which included all boys under 16 years of age—must report at La Follette park tomorrow between the hours of 11 a. m. and 1 p. m. for their racing numbers. The first preliminary in these divisions will start at 2 o'clock.

Full Programs Ready.

A loud speaker system has been arranged so that spectators can follow the progress of the races. This system also will be hooked up inside the building so that all can hear the instructions of the clerks.

Contestants in the boys' midget men's senior, and the girls' junior, juvenile, and senior divisions must report at La Follette park for their racing numbers on Sunday between the hours of 10:30 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. The first preliminary in this program will start at 1 o'clock. The eight championship derbies will conclude the program on Sunday.

Programs containing the racing numbers of all contestants will be distributed without charge at La Follette park.

More than 3,000 boys and girls from Chicago and adjacent towns in Indiana, Wisconsin, and Illinois, with a few from Iowa, have entered the races. Nearly half of this total is registered in the boys' midget, juvenile, and junior classes.

Eight Laps for Preliminaries.

An eight lap track to the mile will be surveyed by Paul Staff for the preliminaries tomorrow. On Sunday the contestants will use a six lap to the mile track.

If weather does not permit holding the preliminaries tomorrow it will be possible to combine all derbies and hold the races Sunday. Otherwise postponement will be made until Jan. 16 and 17. Announcement will be made tomorrow on final arrangements.

CHICAGO C. Y. O. BOXERS DEFEAT SOUTH BEND, 7 TO 5

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—A team of Chicago C. Y. O. amateur boxers defeated the South Bend C. Y. O., 7 to 5 in an intercity match tonight.

After 10 matches had been fought and the score was deadlocked at 5 to 5, victories by Joe Howe, Chicago light-heavy, and Tom Kenneally, Chicago heavy, turned the tide in favor of the visiting team. Howe pounded out a decision over John Humphres, of South Bend and Kenneally outpointed Alex Kettles, of South Bend. There were no knockouts.

SOX HOLDOUT TRIO SINGS AGAIN DESPITE RAISES

Bonura, Hayes, Appling in Harmony.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

For the time being, J. Louis Comiskey, who owns the third place White Sox, suspects he might have a few holdouts on his hands. It's a bit early in the year to mention this variety of ball player, but the south side magnate, in the course of a corned beef luncheon yesterday, revealed that three of the contracts which he had mailed out had come back minus signatures and that one man hadn't even been heard from.

ZEKE BONURA.

Three of those who thus far either have rejected or remained silent about proffered pay for work they haven't yet done are playing return engagements. One is Zeke Bonura, who has balked every year since the Sox obtained his services. Another is Minter [Jack] Hayes, a second baseman. Shortstop Luke Appling hasn't responded favorably or otherwise. The other holdout is Thornton Lee, the Cleveland pitcher obtained in a trade last month.

No Pay Reductions.

Comiskey, while slightly annoyed at all times by those who reject his terms, is not worried. None of the men who served under his banner last season was subjected to a pay cut. Some were given increases, hence the rapid return of the majority of contracts with signatures attached.

Bonura, having developed the holdout complex to the 'nth degree, made a study of last season's official averages and decided to write a letter to the home office. He mentioned that the figures made him look like a pretty fair country first baseman and hitter. He neglected to mention that he appreciated being boosted to $10,000, with a possible bonus for next season's work. Last year, after doing his holdout act, Zeke finally accepted $8,500, which exceeded the pay of most of the league's first basemen.

Wants Bonus in Contract.

Hayes, not unlike Bonura, bases his salary demands on last season's performances. His value to the team during the second half of the season when the big third place spurt developed was recognized by Comiskey when the pay roll was made up. The bait mailed to the southern lad was a $10,000 contract, with bonus clause attached, but it wasn't acceptable. Hayes prefers not to gamble on a bonus based on club earnings. He wants his boss to include the bonus with no strings attached in the contract. Bonura has the same ideas about the bonus.

The case of Appling, champion batter of the American league last season, is different. Luke never has been able to make use of the mail service, preferring to keep quiet until training time and then come into camp with a signed contract in his pocket. Last spring when he did not show up as usual, Appling was called on the long distance phone and after a discussion was assured something like $12,000 for the year. Presumably he was given an increase this year, but whether he is satisfied is not known. No word has has been received from his Atlanta, Ga., home.

Lee, a southpaw in whom Manager Jim Dykes has a lot of faith, won only three games while losing five with the Indians last season. Two other athletes, Catcher Luke Sewell and Outfielder Larry Rosenthal, also made minor complaints, but were satisfied by the addition of a few hundred dollars.

U. of Illinois Alumni Start Drive to Attract Preps

A system whereby athletic material may be attracted to the University of Illinois without violating Western conference regulations is one of the major phases of a plan of coördination announced yesterday to members of the Illini club of Chicago at their regular luncheon in Mandel's. K. J. T. Ekblaw, president of the Illinois Alumni association, and Frank Rokusek, president of the club, made the announcement.

"This plan," Ekblaw said, "is the biggest project the alumni ever undertook, and the most significant of university actions. Under it, Illinois will take its rightful place in athletics.

"But they are going to be handled on an ethical basis, and maintain the ideals of George Huff. We can arouse interest without sacrificing the prestige which resulted from his loyalty to those ideals."

Acting Director of Athletics Wendell S. Wilson will explain the athletic side of the plan in detail at next Thursday's luncheon. The general plan, designed to revitalize the entire alumni-university relationship, is the result of conferences among officials of the 130,000 graduates and former students who constitute the Illinois Alumni association.

Faculty Support Given.

In indorsing the athletic program, Wilson has made it plain, after explaining what cannot be done with respect to Big Ten rules, what can be done without in any sense or in the slightest degree abandoning the principles by which the athletic program at Illinois always has been guided. He is convinced that it is possible to attract desirable athletic material without violating conference rules.

Further support for the plan was given by Prof. F. E. Richart, Illinois' faculty representative on the Big Ten board. "The proposal is an honest and sincere one," he said. "It is not a 'front' by which undercover recruiting or subsidizing of athletics is to be conducted."

Another booster for the plan is Prof. F. A. Russell, president of the board of directors of the university's athletic association, which, he said, "will be glad to observe any proper movement among the alumni designed to bring our coaches a finer type of athlete."

"If we can keep this movement open and sane it should prove a fine thing for Illinois," he added.

Although the athletic program of the coördination plan was not explained in detail yesterday, it was understood that Director Wilson's ideas call for a committee of five in each Illini club or group. Duties of that committee would include the following:

Discuss with high school students of character, scholastic and athletic ability their future aims in life, and then advise them what Illinois has to offer in their prospective fields; convince them that they should choose a university for its educational opportunities rather than any "proposition" which may be offered; have them visit the campus and talk with the faculty men with whom they will come in contact if they enroll;

Check their high school credits to ascertain whether they can enter Illinois, and explain the costs of attending the university; promote banquets and other functions whereby students, coaches, and citizens may become acquainted with Illinois' coaching staf; deny rumors that "Illinois does not want big men on its football teams," that "the profs like to flunk athletes," and that "it costs more to go to Illinois"; make certain that whatever is done to encourage athletes in enrolling at Illinois is within the letter and spirit of Big Ten rules.

Nine Other Points.

Nine other points in the alumni plan of coördination were brought out at yesterday's luncheon. They were:

1. Encourage superior high school students to enter the university.
2. Establish more valuable scholarships, based on competition of merit.
3. Promote a sound program for a new Illinois Union building on the campus.
4. Set up new Illini clubs in every Illini community, in or out of the state.
5. Give better coöperation to existing Illini clubs by furnishings them with speakers from various university departments.
6. Work with the University of Illinois foundation in obtaining gifts and endowments, large or small, for the university.
7. Promote better student housing facilities at the university.
8. Establish a central alumni employment bureau on the campus to handle routine calls for employers to develop greater opportunities for Illinois alumni.
9. These plans also apply to the colleges of medicine, dentistry, and pharmacy in Chicago, which have some problems peculiarly their own.

TENURE OF COACHES.

GREATER security in their jobs for football coaches is a desideratum of that school of gridiron thought which also wishes to minimize proselyting, direct or indirect rewards to students for athletic prowess.

While not agreeing with all premises and conclusions of the ultraconservatives of college athletics, The Wake sympathizes heartily with the principle of greater security in positions of college sports instructors. Of all those different fields of intercollegiate competition that of football coach is most uncertain.

One must recognize that basically the same causes which cause improper proselyting and improper subsidization are almost always the same as those which cause demands of "Fire the coach." It is the cry of victory-demanding alumni and undergraduates.

Now, we see no heinous fault in wishes for victory. In fact, from a sports viewpoint, indifference to results against natural rivals also may go too far. That, however, is rare, although one might cite several conspicuous examples if one wished to mention names.

On the other hand we often see men of definitly proved coaching ability heckled out of their jobs because of several victory-lean years in which material, for some reason, is scarce. No coach, over a series of years, can produce results without material. Our coaching profession is too proficient and too well grounded in recognized procedure for that.

The generally accepted suggestion to make coaching jobs more secure is faculty ranking. With such standing, at least theoretically, a holder of the post cannot be discharged except for cause, like any other member of the teaching staf.

Even with this protection, so much criticism may develop, so much friction may arise that a coach will resign to save his self-respect. That fact makes us all the stronger for faculty recognition after a preliminary tryout tenure. It is protection against permanent barnacles.

This frequent demand for change of coaches, frequent actual change of coaches reaches far deeper, in The Wake's opinion, as a football evil, present and potential, than most of us realize.

HOWARD JONES REPORTED IOWA COACHING CHOICE

May Be Named Within 48 Hours.

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—A report that Coach Howard Jones of Southern California might sign a contract at Iowa within 48 hours was being discussed here tonight.

HOWARD JONES.

It was reported that Jones, a former Iowa coach, is seriously considering the Hawkeye job and is waiting to see whether Iowa officials meet his terms.

At the same time, the Iowa athletic board went into a secret huddle, but Prof. C. M. Updegraff, board chairman, announced no statement would be issued when the meeting was concluded.

Updegraff declared, however, that a statement might be forthcoming tomorrow, leading to a belief that Hawkeye officials are nearing the selection of a successor to Ossie Solem, who is leaving next month for a position at Syracuse university.

Jones is believed to be jockying both with Iowa and Southern California officials, but the fact that he still owns his home in Iowa City and that Mrs. Jones comes from Mount Vernon, Ia., twenty miles from here, and would like to return to her home state, led observers to declare tonight that Jones is in earnest in his reported negotiations with Iowa.

Jones was football coach at Iowa from 1916 to 1933 and piloted the Hawkeyes to the only Big Ten titles they have won since 1900.

ASKS NEW CONTRACT

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Howard Jones, football coach at the University of Southern California, has asked the university for a new contract to supplant the one that expires at the end of the 1937 season, it became known here tonight.

Efforts of the University of Iowa to secure the services of Jones as football coach to succeed Ossie Solem, are reported to have been the reason for Jones' action. His record at Southern California shows 97 victories, 26 defeats, and seven ties.

University of Southern California recently adopted the policy of placing athletic instructors on an academic professor basis. This precludes athletic coaches from receiving long term contracts, but Jones said today, "I have asked the university for a contract other than one on a one year basis."

Remember Him?—

Doc White Is a Dentist, But with White Sox He Wasn't Painless to Cubs.

[This is the eighteenth of a series of articles on famous headliners of other years whose careers and contributions to sports have perhaps become obscured by time and the exploits of more widely publicized successors. All of them rank among the greatest in their respective fields.]

BY ARCH WARD.

THE name of Dr. G. Harris White doesn't mean much to the present day big league baseball customer. But the man who always preferred to use his middle name and let the world guess what the G. stood for staked out a few claims in the book of diamond immortals and then went his way.

Doc, as he was known in baseball, could sing a good song and even wrote a few in collaboration with the late Ring Lardner. He could coax a lot of music from a piano.

For four years he practiced dentistry before baseball called him. It was his strong left arm which helped to pitch the White Sox into a pennant and world championship in 1906.

To White fell the honor of pitching the sixth and deciding game in that memorable series in which the victims were the supposedly invincible Cubs.

From College to Big Leagues.

White is one of the few youths who jumped from a college campus to the big leagues with little or no minor league seasoning. He was born in Washington, D. C., on April 9, 1879, and attended Georgetown university in the capital. In 1898, 1899, and 1900, while studying dentistry at Georgetown, he pitched for the varsity nine and was good enough to warant a summer job in 1900 with a team known as the Mountain Athletic club. One of his mates on that squad was Red Dooin, later a big league catcher. Another was George Rohe, whose bat boomed with devastating effect against the Cubs in the 1906 series.

GIANTS MAIL OUT CONTRACTS; GIVE PAY INCREASES

New York, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Horace Stoneham, New York Giants' president, today mailed 1937 baseball contracts to his players and announced "a general increase in pay."

The only players signed are Manager Bill Terry and Rookie Pitcher Cliff Melton. Terry has a long term contract, and Melton, who won 23 and lost 14 for Baltimore last year, came in for a talk with Terry and put his name on the line.

Congress May Get Around to a Bill for Horse Betting

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Once the hustle and bustle of getting away from the barrier has quieted, the 75th congress may get down to the comparatively light topic of sports. It probably will consider several bills affecting District of Columbia sportsmen and indirectly touching other thousands.

One measure likely to be introduced would legalize pari-mutuel betting in Washington and open an avenue for reintroduction of horse racing.

Benning, a famous old race track where society gathered years ago, lies unused on the edge of town. Weeds have grown where the thoroughbreds ran, but it could quickly be put in shape.

One successful racing plant operator wants to build a modern track and grand stand here and awaits only the word from congress in the form of a mutuel betting measure. However, some legislators from nearby Maryland, where there are several race tracks, have been cold to the idea of a track here.

Another bill may authorize a huge new stadium. The capital has no sports plant capable of handling big crowds. Enthusiasts vision the Army-Navy football game as a fixture, if the stadium is built.

Certain lawmakers urge that funds for erection of a Thomas Jefferson memorial be used for a stadium instead.

GARDEN REFUSES TO ALLOW LEWIS TO MEET THOMAS

Forces Stadium to Halt Show Until Jan. 22.

Matchmaker James J. Johnston of Madison Square Garden yesterday ruined one of the most attractive bouts arranged at Chicago Stadium in the last year when he refused to sanction Harry Thomas as the opponent of John Henry Lewis at the west side building a week from tonight.

Johnston, who holds an option on the light heavyweight champion's services, informed James C. Mullen, Stadium matchmaker, that Thomas was too strong, punched too hard and carried too much weight for Lewis. Thomas weighs 200 pounds, an advantage of approximately seventeen pounds.

The barring of Thomas has forced Mullen to postpone the show until Jan. 22, in order to have additional time to find a suitable substitute for Lewis.

Davey Day and Jimmy Garrison, two of the best lightweight boxers in the central states, have been signed in a ten round co-feature.

Amateur boxing shows will be held tonight at Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison street; Franklin Park gymnasium, 14th street and Kolin avenue, and Johnny Coulon's gymnasium, 1154 East 63d street. Pat Schoenberger and Joe Taziola, Highland Park middleweights, will meet in the five round feature at the Madison club. Another will bring together Martin O'Gradney and Ryder Linberg, also middleweights. Barney Ross, welterweight champion, will be a ringside guest. The card at Franklin Park, which is being presented under the auspices of Yarmo De Vere post, No. 469, American Legion, includes fights involving Sherman Edwards and George Franzen, and George White and Harry Peck. Owen Woods tackles Le Roy Petersen, and Howard Miller faces Dennis Jones in two of eight battles at the Coulon gymnasium.

◆

Additional teams from Trafton's gymnasium, Unity Athletic club, and Hull house have joined representatives from Summit and Mount Vernon, Ill., and Savoy Athletic club and Franklin Park in the fifth annual amateur boxing tournament which opens at the Illinois Athletic club next week. Preliminary matches will be held Tuesday and Wednesday and semi-final and final competition is scheduled Jan. 20. Frank Noto, William Thomas, Martin O'Gradney, Webster Epperson, Ryder Linberg, and Lou Campbell will compete for Trafton's gymnasium. Among the candidates from the Hull house are Andrew Sofiakis and Nick Boulahanis and members of the Unity club include Theo Taylor, Lem Collier and Eugene Davis.

◆

The Owl Indians Athletic club has entered eight boys in the Italo American Youth organization amateur boxing meet at the Coliseum Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday. . . . Entries for the Sons of Italy Youth organization tourney at the Ashland auditorium will be accepted until Jan. 27 at 201 North Wells street. Preliminary encounters will be held Jan. 28, with semi-final and final contests scheduled Jan. 29.

Inevitable Gift.

I said to our cashier [feminine]: "I've been around the stores all this noon trying to buy a present for an old lady with a wooden leg, but couldn't strike the right thing. What would you suggest?"

She looked blank and evidently was thinking [but not very hard—they don't]. Finally she said: "Why not buy her a box of candy?"

Time, 1:12 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Little Duke, $23.60 straight, $10.80 place, $7.10 show; Over Yonder, $13.80 place, $9.90 show; Good Dame, $6.00 show. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 2:30. Off at 2:35. Winner, b. f., 5, by Infinite-Blatona. Owner, W. L. McCue. Trainer, same.

LITTLE DUKE, well ridden, moved up and into lead entering stretch and was drawing away at end. OVER YONDER finished with a good burst of speed on inside. GOOD DAME had plenty of early foot but weakened in last sixteenth. OUR CREST had no mishap. REGULA BADDUN had speed for three furlongs, then quit.

Time, 1:12 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Lotofus, $11.00 straight, $6.10 place, $5.20 show; Shepherd Boy, $14.80 place, $9.90 show; Dixie Princess, $11.60 show. Start good. Won easily, place driving. Went to post at 3:05. Off at 3:08. Winner, blk. f., 4, by John P. Grier-Lotus. Owner, Mrs. G. C. Winfrey. Trainer, G. C. Winfrey.

LOTOFUS, showing her usual early speed, ran into lead soon after the start and rated along, won nicely in hand. SHEPHERD BOY handled his weight well, came with a rush on inside in final furlong. DIXIE PRINCESS ran a good race. BROTHER NEWT was kept on the outside in early part, finished fast. JUSTA PLAY ran a fair race. LIGHTHEELED was allowed to go very wide on stretch turn. ZEVANAID stopped badly.

FOURTH RACE—Purse $700. Claiming. Three year olds. Six furlongs. Net value to winner, $525; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

†Disqualified. Time, 1:13 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Talleyrand, $5.30 straight, $3.70 place, $2.80 show; Touche, $5.20 place, $3.50 show; Flickering, $5.30 show. Start good. Won driving, place easily. Went to post at 3:34. Off at 3:39. Winner, ch. c., 3, by Gonfalon-Lucy Grier. Owner, Maxwell Howard. Trainer, E. Sande.

PRINCESS BULL liked the going, followed pace to the top of the stretch where she moved into lead, but in doing so interfered with FLICKERING, for which she was disqualified for foul. TALLEYRAND broke good, was kept on the outside to stretch, where she closed gamely. TOUCHE was unable to keep up in early part but finished gamely. FLICKERING was running gamely when she was bothered and knocked back. LADY DAY had no mishap. ODDESA BOY never a factor.

FIFTH RACE—The Marlin handicap. Purse $800, added. Three year olds and up in class C. Six furlongs. Net value to winner, $665; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Went to post at 4:09. Off at once. Winner, b. c., 4, by High Cloud-Miss Tony. Owner, Mrs. E. Denemark. Trainer, B. S. Mitchell.

HIGHER CLOUD was hard ridden around the turn, finally caught VOTE BOY at the furlong pole and, taking command, won going away. VOTE BOY, showing splendid speed, set a sizzling pace and held on well. RIDGE MOR was miserably ridden. He was on the inside and was allowed to drop far out of it going into far turn, made up some ground in run through stretch. FINISHER made a game effort.

SIXTH RACE—Purse $1,000. Three year olds. One mile. Net value to winner, $700; second, $175; third, $85; fourth, $40.

Vines, Perry Fight Colds; Play Tonight

Fred Perry of England and Ellsworth Vines, who opened their tennis tour in New York Wednesday night, were reported recovering from their heavy colds yesterday. They will meet in their second match tonight at the Cleveland Municipal auditorium and will appear at Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

New York tennis experts are recovering, too—not from bad colds but from the shock of finding that there is a tennis player who can beat Ellsworth Vines, world professional champion.

The program at the Chicago Stadium starting at 8:30 tomorrow night will present George Lott and Bruce Barnes in a best two out of three singles match, which will be followed by the Perry-Vines encounter, best three out of five sets. In the concluding match Perry and Lott will oppose Vines and Barnes in doubles, best two out of three sets.

British Star at Peak.

In his 7-5, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 victory over Vines on Wednesday, Perry was at the peak of his game, while the tall Californian was clearly off form in the two final sets. Vines' blistering service did not baffle the British champion as expected, chiefly because Vines was wild.

One victory does not settle the supremacy between the two stars, and the New York tennis experts who were solidly predicting that Vines would sweep the opening match think that it will be a different story in another day or two when Ellsworth has shaken off his cold.

Again Rises to Heights.

Perry, winner of the last three Wimbledon championships, three out of the last four United States amateur championships, and of eight straight singles matches in Davis cup final challenge rounds, always has been known to rise to great heights for important matches. Playing in New York before a record crowd that paid $58,000, Perry again was superb. However, in the long run Vines may prove the steadier, according to tennis experts.

Stadium officials announced yesterday that the ticket sale had passed the $15,000 mark.

Golden Eyes Winter Here and Like It

BY BOB BECKER.

Unmindful of ice, cold water, and low temperatures, the golden eye ducks that are spending the winter on Lake Michigan consider the big water near Chicago an ideal winter resort. Sharing this opinion are the mergansers which often may be seen with the golden eyes.

We see golden eyes and mergansers near our home close to the shore of Lake Michigan nearly every day. Early in the morning we can watch them flying back and forth much like mallards do on their after sunrise flights in the marshes. Some days ago we sat on an eight foot pile of ice and snow close to the shore and watched about 150 of these birds while our Labrador retriever unconsciously helped decoy the birds quite close to us.

Binoculars Valuable Aid.

When we sat down on the ice and snow at the water's edge the flock of ducks [several gunshots distant in the lake] began to swim away from us. Our binoculars showed there was just one merganser in the flock. All of the other birds were golden eyes, with the males easy to pick out because of the circular white patch at the base of the bill.

Because our binoculars are 8 power and thus able to give us close-up views of the birds we didn't worry about the dog scaring the birds nor restrict his movements. The dog ran around as it pleased—sliding and skidding on snow and ice that in some place was 8 or 9 feet above the water's edge.

Dog Intrigues Ducks.

Apparently the ducks were quite intrigued by this galloping black animal. They began to swim toward us instead of away. The more Mike, the Labrador, cavorted around the closer the ducks approached us. He was a perfect decoy. Soon the flock wasn't more than a couple of gunshots from us, with new birds joining it as it moved in.

Finally they were close enough for us to hear the male birds utter their curious high pitched notes—a sort of "peep" that always was given with a peculiar backward twist of the bird's head. Every time a bird threw its head back it looked as if its neck were out of joint and it were trying to correct the trouble.

OPEN CAMPAIGN TO BRING 1938 A. B. C. MEET HERE

Nation-wide efforts to bring the American Bowling congress back to Chicago in 1938 have been started by the Chicago Bowling association, the leaders among local alley proprietors and the Chicago Association of Commerce. The boosters for Chicago as the place of next year's tournament have started publicity to win national support for the campaign that will end when the A. B. C. convention committee goes into executive session at the annual meeting and tournament at New York City next March.

As part of their vote gaining effort the Chicago committee is distributing thousands of posters setting forth the city's facilities for contestants and spectators and emphasizing the fact that the tournament alleys will be located almost immediately adjacent to Chicago's hotel district. A delegation of several hundred bowlers will go to New York just before the meet closes there to plead Chicago's cause.

The American Bowling congress last met here in 1929.

COLLEGIANS PLAY INDIANS.

The Oklahoma All-American Indians basketball team will play the Colored Collegians tonight at White City. In the other game the Chicago Majors will meet the Cicero Merchants.

MR. CAREY HAS A TIME LOCATING TRACK OWNERS

So He Takes Hint and Goes South Himself.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Peter B. Carey, chairman of the Illinois Racing commission, whose salary, like that of every member of the commission, amounts to exactly nothing, is really a very agreeable man.

There is nothing he would rather see gathered about him during the summer months than one big happy family of race track operators.

He realizes that this idealistic state of affairs did not exactly prevail in his domain last year. With all the affection usually shown in a cat and dog fight, some of the family group periodically broke out into argument. The bone of contention was always the same—who was to have what racing dates and how many.

Mr. Carey Does It.

Something had to be done about it and Mr. Carey did it. He prescribed a little self-governing principle—"Fix your own dates," said Carey, "and we will approve them."

Since that time Mr. Carey has been sitting with his ear near the telephone. At every jingle he has hopefully lifted the receiver—had the race track boys come to an amicable conclusion?

"Wasn't I smart when I thought of this way of handling the problem," Chairman Carey would say to himself.

Mr. Carey began to check up.

Col. Matt J. Winn, the boss of Lincoln Fields, is in Lower California visiting old time friends.

Robert S. Eddy, chief of the Aurora Jocky club, is thriving on the oyster and the pompano in New Orleans.

"Let's make it unanimous," says Chairman Carey, philosophically, as he picks up the silent telephone and orders himself a reservation on the night train for St. Petersburg.

$8,000 Golf Meet Opens on Coast Today

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Outstanding golfers of the nation took over the city tonight on the eve of a four day attack on par in the 12th annual Los Angeles open.

The 72 hole tournament, strung out over the week-end with the final 18 holes Monday, carries a purse of $8,000, with the winner getting $2,500. As the only major golf attraction in southern California's usually crowded winter calendar, it has aroused widespread interest.

Mac Smith Ill, but Ready.

Every former winner except Bobby Cruickshank is on the scene and ready to try for a repeat. Heading the list is the veteran MacDonald Smith, four time winner, who has been ill with influenza, but promises to be in fair fettle.

Find It Tough in Practice.

Yet golfers such as Horton Smith, Paul Runyan, George von Elm, Ghezzi, and Jug McSpadden found it hard to shoot under par 71 in practice earlier this week.

Olin Dutra of Los Angeles, former national open champion and a distinct threat in the meet, will not be able to play. He has influenza.

Winnetka and Glencoe to Hold Ice Meet Jan. 16

The fourth annual inter-village Winnetka and Glencoe ice meet will be held at the South pond in Glencoe on Jan. 16. It is sponsored by the Winnetka Post, No. 10, of the American Legion.

416 BOXERS GET GOLDEN GLOVES ENTRIES IN EARLY

Instructions Will Go Out When 800 Is Reached.

Four hundred and sixteen entries for the tenth annual Golden Gloves amateur boxing tournament in Chicago have been received. All are individual entries and the total represents approximately one-tenth of the number which probably will enter the Chicago sectional tournaments before midnight Jan. 30.

This first group, when it totals 800, will receive letters of instruction, and will be informed of the date of the first physical examinations at Trafton's gymnasium, 180 West Randolph street. Each letter will contain a parental consent card. This card must be signed by each contestant's father, mother, or guardian, if he is a minor, and brought to the physical examination. No boxer will be examined unless he brings this consent card to the examiners.

Tribune Pays Novice Fees.

All Golden Gloves boxers must be members of the central association of the A. A. U. Membership fee for the sectional tournaments for the novice boxers is paid by THE TRIBUNE. Open division boxers must obtain one year registration cards. Registrations with the A. A. U. may be made at the time of the physical examinations.

While entries will be accepted for three more weeks, it is to the advantage of the boxers to send in their entries now. Not only will they be examined in the earlier groups, but they will have choice of the four Chicago sectionals. Later applicants will be assigned arbitrarily in order to balance the sectional tests.

Four Qualify in Each Class.

Four novice boxers in each of the eight weight classes will qualify for the semi-finals of the tournament which will be held in conjunction with the Tournament of Champions at the Chicago Stadium on Feb. 22. Novice boxers are not eligible for the Tournament of Champions, which will be held for three days, Feb. 22, 23, and 24. The Chicago Novice championships, eight bouts, will be held on Feb. 24.

This is the year, however, when Chicago boxers will have a splendid opportunity to win qualifying positions in the Open division for the Tournament of Champions. At no other time in the ten year history of Golden Gloves has there been so few experienced amateur boxers. This is true of all of the cities which will send teams to Chicago Feb. 22.

One Pound Allowance Permitted.

Each boxer when he sends in his entry is asked to specify his weight class, or as near to it as possible. He will be weighed at the time of his first physical examination. This is not final, however. His weight at the time of his second examination on the night of his first bout will determine the weight class in which he will box.

While one pound allowance will be permitted in each class, which means that a boy weighing 113 pounds may compete in the 112 pound class, it is better if the boxer is not that close to the limit.

Team entries for the Golden Gloves sectionals may be submitted in a group by the coach or trainer. The age, weight, and home address of each contestant must be given so letters of instruction can be sent. No boy under 16 years of age is permitted to compete under the rules of the A. A. U., which sanctions the tournaments.

RED WINGS BEAT AMERICANS, 4-2; TAKE CLEAR LEAD

New York, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The Detroit Red Wings gained the undisputed lead in the American section of the National Hockey league tonight by whipping the reinforced New York Americans, 4 to 2, in a fast, clean game before 6,000, the smallest attendance of the season here. The victory sent Detroit a game ahead of the idle New York Rangers.

Slump in Gate Perils Harvard SportProgram

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Fear that Harvard's "athletics for all" program was threatened by decreasing football gate receipts today prompted the student council to draw up a resolution calling for a thorough study of the university's extensive sports program.

Those appointed to the committee were Joseph P. Kennedy and Charles W. Kessler of the varsity football squad, Perry J. Culver and Thomas W. Stephenson, manager and member of the varsity basketball squad.

The recent financial reports of the Harvard Athletic association revealed that it had an excess of income over expenses of $2,306.18 on June 30, 1935, and profits amounting to $4,746.59 on that same date last year.

During the 1934-'35 sports season, the Harvard Athletic association reported gate receipts totaling $554,150.05 and $520,173.82 for the twelve months ending on June 30, 1936. During 1934-'35 it spent $81,639,99 to support minor sports and the physical education department, but it was able to reduce that budget to $57,529.53 during 1935-'36 because the university assumed the expense of compulsory physical education for freshmen, approximately $24,000, an expense which had been borne previously by the athletic association.

Remember? How White Fooled Cubs

recommended to the Philadelphia National league club, but the dentistry idea was still in his head and the 1901 season had almost elapsed before he reported. He didn't stay there long.

The American league, making the move that established it as the second major, was riddling the National league ranks. White was one of those who leaped in 1902, his landing place being the late Charles A. Comiskey's Chicago White Sox. Meanwhile he had earned his dental degree at Georgetown.

Cubs Pick on Doc in Second Game.

White's first appearance in the 1906 series wasn't a success. In the opening battle the Sox had triumphed, 2 to 1, behind the southpawing of Nick Altrock, so the Sox manager, Fielder Jones, decided to give the Cubs more of the same medicine in the second game. Under the strain of base hits and errors White fell apart in three innings, the Cubs scoring four runs during his term.

In the fifth game of the series, played Oct. 13 at the old west side park, Ed Walsh fell into difficulties and White went to the rescue. He allowed only one hit in two and two-thirds innings, the Hitless Wonders winning by 8 to 6. Then with that relief effort as a warm-up White came back the next day to end the series. He won, 8 to 3, yielding only seven hits. The Sox gave him a seven run lead by shelling Mordecai Brown in the first two innings.

The 1906 season was only one of White's good years with the Sox, but it probably was his best. With 18 victories and 6 defeats, he was outranked in percentage only by Eddie Plank, another left hander. White was removed from only two of his starts all season. Six of his victories that season were shutouts, two of which were one-hit games. He pitched one two-hitter, one three-hitter, one four-hitter, and three five-hitters. This was the same season in which the Sox, weak offensively, reeled off nineteen straight victories, the arms of Ed Walsh, Nick Altrock, and Frank [Yip] Owen, as well as White's, being the potent items.

From Majors to Minors to College.

White left the Sox at the close of the 1913 season. He and Walsh were the last of the 1906 world championship team to depart. White was released to the Venice, Cal., club of the Pacific Coast league. In 1920, after managing the Muskegon, Mich., team, he said good-by for good and set forth in a new field. He became a physical education instructor in Central High school at Washington. He's now teaching and directing athletics at Wilson Teachers college in the national capital.

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.

OUR congratulations to Dutch Clark, newest of the coaches in the National Professional league. . . . As the back field star of the Detroit Lions he added class to the league. . . . This department ventures the hope he will be equally as successful as a coach. . . . Jimmy Phelan of Washington says Pittsburgh's Rose Bowl squad was stronger than the Minnesota team that whipped the Huskies 14 to 7 at Seattle last September. . . . Some of his players, notably Ed Nowogroski, full back, do not agree with him, however. . . . Nowogroski believes it was Washington's letdown as much as Pitt's strength that accounted for the 21 to 0 lacing they took at Pasadena. . . . This will be a blue year for Sonja Henie. . . . In 1936 she bought a white car, a white house and wore white costumes almost to the exclusion of all others. . . . Now she has a blue automobile and a complete blue wardrobe. . . .

Jimmy Austin retired as White Sox coach last year because of the illness of Mrs. Austin, but he has been notified that his job is still open if he cares to return. . . . Austin was so popular with the players that he was voted a share of the city series money last fall, though he was not with the team. . . . Cap Anson of the old White Stockings was one of golf's first scoffers and also one of its first converts. . . . The change occurred during the national open in 1900, played at the Chicago Golf club. . . . Cap was induced to attend the meet and he chose to follow Harry Vardon, who ultimately won. . . . The Englishman hit a drive about 220 yards and Cap yelled, "Good boy! She's a homer!" . . . Cap then followed Vardon to the end of the tournament. . . . Foray, a gray son of Tetratema-Black Ray, owned by Marshall Field, has been ranked at the top of the 2 year olds which raced in England last season. . . . This, no doubt, will make him the early favorite to win the English Derby next June. . . . Foray is rated a pound better than Lord Astor's Early School and two pounds better than the Aga Khan's Grand Duc. . . .

D. X. Bible, football coach and athletic director at Nebraska, is a member of the faculty with the rank of a full professor. . . . Tom Robinson, starting his 28th year as Northwestern swimming coach, has a veteran squad headed by Dan Zehr, national intercollegiate backstroke champion. . . . Cricket has been a recognized sport at Haverford college in Pennsylvania for 101 years. . . . Burleigh Grimes suggests that second division clubs after June 15 be permitted to carry two extra players. . . . Babe Ruth spent $1,200 for Christmas toys and distributed them himself at settlement houses in New York. . . . Willis Ward, Michigan's former all around athlete, studies law at night in Detroit after a day of labor in an automobile factory. . . . Amateur boxers from St. Norbert's college are expected to make the Green Bay team a strong contender for the championship trophy in this year's Golden Gloves tournament. . . . Among the school's fistic ambassadors are Savior Canadeo and Tom Keneally, who distinguished themselves in both the C. Y. O. and Golden Glove meets a couple of years ago. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—Judge Walter P. Steffen denied that he was signed to coach Northwestern's Wildcats. . . . It was revealed that Rogers Hornsby was going to receive $40,000 a year from the New York Giants.

4,000 SEE SWIM STARS ON SECOND NIGHT OF SHOW

A crowd of 4,000 aquatic fans cheered the troupe of professional swimming stars now touring the country as they put on the second show of their Chicago stay at the Coliseum last night. The show will be concluded tonight in the portable pool which the troupe carries with it. This tank, 75 feet by 25 feet and seven feet deep, holds 72,000 gallons of water.

Last night's audience saw Art Highland, Arthur Lindegren, Leonard Spence and Maiola Kalili provide the speed thrills of the performance in a number of races. Mrs. Leonore Kight Wingard, Josephine McKim, and Margaret Hutton did their water ballet number, while Bill Lewin of Los Angeles supplied the comic touches. The diving was handled by such stars as Mrs. Dorothy Poynton Hill, Mrs. Jane Fauntz Manske, Mrs. Georgia Coleman Gilson, Dick Degener, Marshall Wayne, and Alf Phillips.

HUFFMAN WINS NEW INDIANA FOOTBALL HONOR

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Vernon R. Huffman of Newcastle today was chosen to receive the annual Balfour award at Indiana university "for bringing honor and distinction to the university in football."

The award, given each year by L. G. Balfour, former Indiana university athlete, is one of the university's highest athletic honors. Huffman will receive a gold football and his name will be engraved on a plaque.

Tilden Quintet Rallies, Beats Manley, 49-34

The senior division of the City High School Basketball league swung into action in three of the four sections yesterday with Tilden defeating Manley, 49 to 34, in the most important game.

Tilden came from behind in the first half to lead Manley. The latter led, 22 to 17, at one time, but the Techs began to click and scored 32 points to Manley's 9 in the second half.

Lucius Thomas, Tech forward, dropped in twelve field goals and three free throws for a total of 27 points, the outstanding performance thus far in the circuit.

George Hoffman registered 18 of Wells' 33 points in Wells' four point victory over Kelvyn Park. Erwin Ruklic notched fourteen points to help Harrison win from Lindblom, 34 to 20.

A field goal by Emmet Taylor in the last 10 seconds won a 36 to 24 decision for DuSable over Kelly.

C. D. G. A. Opens New Quarters at La Salle Today

The Chicago District Golf association will open its new luncheon quarters on the eighteenth floor of the La Salle hotel with a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today. A number of association officials, including several past presidents of the organization, are expected to attend. An 18 hole putting contest will be held for all members present.

The new quarters will provide more space and better accommodations for Chicago district golfers than any other meeting place in its history.

Larry Rutherford, chairman of the C. D. G. A. golf committee, has called the first meeting of the committee in the new quarters for 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Kid Chocolate Scores Another Comeback Victory

New York, Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Kid Chocolate, the former world's featherweight champion, scored another victory in his comeback campaign by outpointing Joey La Faucia in an eight round bout tonight at the Star Casino. Chocolate, weighing 128¾ pounds to 133½ for La Faucia, dropped his opponent three times, two of the knockdowns occurring in the third round, easily the best of the fight.

N. U. SEEKS 2D BIG TEN VICTORY AGAINST IOWA

Three Other Conference Games Tomorrow.

Northwestern's basketball team will seek its second straight Big Ten victory of the season tomorrow night when it meets Iowa at Patten gymnasium in one of four games that comprise the week-end conference card. The other engagements consist of Indiana at Chicago, Michigan at Purdue, and Illinois at Wisconsin.

The Wildcats flashed championship form in upsetting Illinois, 47 to 38, Monday night, but expect to be extended to cope with a veteran Iowa five that held Indiana, last year's co-champions, to a 28 to 24 score on the same night.

Sticks to Same Lineup.

Coach Dutch Lonborg will stick to the same combination that has started all of the Wildcat games this year. The fight for the center position, however, between Jean Smith and Jake Nagode is waxing hot and furious. The latter was inserted into the Illinois game in the second half and whipped in four field goals in quick order to clinch the game for the Wildcats. On this showing alone he becomes a likely possibility for a starting assignment.

Coach Rollie Williams was well satisfied with the showing of the Hawkeyes against Indiana and contemplates sending the same group of veterans against the Purple.

Stephens Clinches Berth.

Ben Stephens, the only sophomore in Iowa's starting lineup, clinched a regular job on the strength of his showing against Indiana. He will team on the front line with Wally Gaddis and Jack Drees, the latter a 6 foot 6 inch center from Eau Claire, Wis. Stephens is the leading Hawkeye scorer with 77 points in eight games. Following tomorrow night's game, Iowa will hop back to Iowa City to meet Purdue Monday night.

Louis Boudreau, Illinois' sophomore star forward, who sustained a hip injury in the Northwestern game, will be able to play against Wisconsin, Coach Doug Mills announced yesterday.

Vopicka to Start at Guard.

Jim Vopicka is slated to start at guard for the Illini with Harry Combes in reserve. The remainder of the starting lineup will consist of Henry, guard; Riegel, center, and Nisbet, forward.

Indiana is a heavy favorite to win its second straight game of the race when it meets the Maroons on the Midway. The Hoosiers have set a furious scoring pace in the games thus far, having compiled 323 points while holding their opponents to 172 points. In piling up this total the Crimson players have hit 137 out of 416 field goal attempts and 49 out of 83 free throws.

An improved Michigan team will invade Lafayette for the first of two games with the title defending Purdue five. Led by John Townsend, lanky 6 foot 6 inch forward, the Wolverines are regarded as a real threat in this year's sweepstakes. The game will be the first conference start of the season for Michigan, while the Boilermakers got away to a successful beginning by defeating Wisconsin last Monday. The Boilermakers have been undefeated in seven games thus far this season.

HENDRIX UPSETS PARKER IN MIAMI BILTMORE TENNIS

Coral Gables, Fla., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., upset Frankie Parker of Milwaukee, the country's second ranking tennis star, in the quarter finals of the Miami Biltmore tennis tournament today.

Pulling out the first set, 8-6, Hendrix dropped the second, 1-6, but captured the third, 6-2, to win the right to meet Bryan M. Grant of Atlanta in the semi-finals tomorrow. Grant was none too impressive in a 2-6, 6-3, 6-3 victory over Gardnar Mulloy of Miami.

In the upper bracket top ranking Donald Budge of Oakland, Cal., set down Wayne Sabin of Los Angeles in two 7-5 sets while Charles R. Harris of Palm Beach, last year's winner, was disposing of Ricardo Morales of Havana, 6-2, 6-4. Budge and Harris meet tomorrow.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 7.—A brisk advance in secondary railroad bonds which carried prices up fractions to more than four points in heavy volume featured a generally better tone in bond trading today. This movement, however, was directly influenced by the upturn in stocks. The main body of high grade corporate bonds held steady to firm.

The trading pace quickened substantially due to the activity among the rails and certain other of the more speculative corporate loans. Transactions totaled $21,833,000, compared with $15,172,000 on the preceding day.

Federal List Irregular.

The market for United States government obligations hardened in spots after its extended decline, but prices closed irregular on a relatively light turnover. Net changes showed gains of 1-32 to 5-32 of a point and declines of 1-32 to 9-32 point.

Prices of most of the recently favored South American dollar bonds were further depressed today with declines ranging from fractions to more than two points. Weak spots included the issues of Antioquia, Chile, Colombia, and Rio Grande do Sul. Narrow and mixed trends ruled elsewhere throughout the foreign list.

Average Is Higher.

The advance in the rail issues, although centered in the secondary liens, carried the price average higher. St. Paul issues were particularly active and strong, with the Adjustment 5s standing out as the most active issue on the list on a turnover of $1,020,000.

The more sensitive industrial convertible issues recorded only moderate improvement. In the utility list International Telephone and Telegraph loans continued their advance, rising two to four points in fairly active trading.

Brunswick-Balke-Collender.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate greatly any information you could give me on stock of Brunswick-Balke-Collender.—A. P.

Answer: This company has been the leading manufacturer of bowling alleys, billiard tables and accessories for many years. Prior to the prohibition era, it was the world's largest maker of bar fixtures. It has reentered this field as a major activity since repeal, revamping its line completely to meet the modern demand for glass, chromium, upholstery, and more tables and booths. The feminine influence and the movement to curb serving of drinks at bars and the abuses of the old saloon have brought replacement of the traditional mahogany equipment.

As complementary lines to its major activities, Brunswick has begun making soda fountains, beverage coolers, equipment for squash and for lawn bowling, and a home billiard table.

Between depression curtailment of spending for recreational purposes and existence of prohibition the company operated in the red continuously from 1928 through 1934. In the several years up to 1929, sales averaged better than $25,000,000 annually and net income averaged about $2,000,000 a year

Sales sank to a low point of $3,946,000 in 1932, when net loss was $1,056,000. Sales improved to $4,009,000 in 1933, $5,391,000 in 1934, and $6,173,000 in 1935. Losses amounted to $769,000 in 1933 and $344,000 in 1934. Benefiting from general business improvement the company reported net income of $47,000 in 1935 after profit on sale of securities and non-operating profits. Operating loss was $184,000.

Further progress was made during 1936. Thanks to third quarter profit of $652,000 the company showed net income of $534,000 or 94 cents per common share in the first nine months of the year, compared with $64,000 or a loss of 24 cents a share on the common in the corresponding 1935 period. Sales were $6,130,000, compared with $4,369,000.

Preferred dividend arrears [$29.75 as of Jan. 1, 1936] were eliminated late in 1935 through issuance of one and one-quarter shares of new $5 dividend preferred stock and $4.75 cash for each share of $7 preferred previously outstanding. Capitalization now consists of 33,114 preferred shares and 437,565 common shares of no par value.

The preferred stock is considered medium grade. The common still rates as a speculation.

DAWES HOLDING COMPANY TO PAY BANK STOCK LEVY

Will Not Join Other Groups in Appealing Ruling.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Dawes Brothers, Inc., Dawes family holding company and largest single stockholder in the old Central Republic Bank and Trust company, will pay off the assessment of $1,156,000 for which it is liable under the recent decision of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson and will not join other stockholders in an appeal from the ruling. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, head of the investment company and former Vice President of the United States, made the announcement that the company will pay its assessment as soon as the final decree of the court is entered.

The lawsuit against the bank's stockholders, instituted by the Reconstruction Finance corporation as the sole creditor of the bank, is one of the largest on record. Judge Wilkerson held the stockholders were liable for the full par value of the bank's shares totaling $14,000,000 under the double liability clause of the Illinois constitution.

Other Holders to Appeal.

The decision of the Dawes concern to clear up its liability will not prevent an appeal from the federal court's decision. Other stockholders' groups who fought the case on the ground that the RFC loan to the bank was illegal are now preparing to carry the District court's decision to the Circuit Court of Appeals and, if necessary, to the United States Supreme court.

Before such an appeal may be made it will be necessary to clear up the "special defenses" which were made in the case by some defendants. Involved are a number of instances in which stockholders claim that the records do not correctly reflect their true liability and others in which estate executors are claiming exemption on special grounds. These are now pending before a special master in chancery and the final decree against stockholders will not be entered until the court has acted on these matters.

Dawes Personal Levy Paid.

Gen. Dawes, who was chairman of the Central Republic at the time the $90,000,000 RFC loan was negotiated, held only 52 shares of stock in his own name. His principal interest and that of his family were through the family investment company. Gen. Dawes paid off the $5,200 liability on his personal holdings before the suit was decided by the federal court.

Gen. Dawes is the largest stockholder in Dawes Brothers, Inc. He is reputed to own more than half of the common stock. Other members of the family are credited with substantial holdings. The other brothers are Henry M., president of the Pure Oil company; Rufus C., former president of A Century of Progress, and Beman, Columbus, O., chairman of Pure Oil.

The company is generally regarded as a closed corporation, although some stock is held by individuals other than members of the Dawes family. The preferred stock, which was quoted below $5 a share in 1932, was quoted yesterday in the unlisted market at $30.

HEAVY, PERSISTENT BUYING CARRIES COTTON UPWARD

Heavy and persistent buying of cotton futures yesterday carried prices up sharply. Part of the buying was attributed to hedging on the part of manufacturing interests against large sales of cotton cloths for deferred delivery. Closing trades in Chicago were 11 to 17 points higher. Other American markets were 2 points lower to 16 points higher, the former on January in New York. [A point equals 1-100 cent a pound or 5 cents a bale.]

Large sales of print cloths were reported yesterday in New York after an estimated 40,000,000 yards the two previous days. Buying was said to have been stimulated by fears that the government would attempt to regulate wages and the hours of labor in the spinning and textile trade.

Spot cotton closed 10 to 15 points higher, with New Orleans at 12.95 cents; New York, 13.05 cents; Houston, 12.70 cents, and Galveston, 12.60 cents per pound. Prices follow:

RESERVE BANK EARNINGS FALL IN LAST YEAR

CentralUnitsAlmost Stop Rediscounting.

The curtailed banking operations of the federal reserve system were reflected in a sharp decline in the earnings of the 12 central banks of the system reported yesterday in Washington the governing board. Net operating earnings of the 12 banks combined amounted to $8,086,000 as compared with $12,235,000 in 1935.

The virtual cessation of rediscount operations of the central banks has brought about a drastic curtailment in income. The tremendous idle reserves now held by the member banks of the system make it unnecessary for them to go to the central bank to rediscount commercial paper. As a consequence, the central banks are functioning chiefly as investment trusts for United States government securities.

Chief Income from Bonds.

The gross earnings figures of the system clearly show the situation in which the central banks now find themselves. Of the total earnings of $37,898,000, more than $35,000,000 was received from interest on government securities held and only $2,718,000 on bills discounted and purchased.

Total discounts of the 12 banks now amount to only $3,041,000, compared with $1,056,466,000 at the end of 1928 and $632,421,000 at the close of 1929.

The member banks of the system have on deposit with the central banks $2,010,000,000 more in reserves than are legally required. Instead of needing to borrow money from the central banks they are faced with the problem of finding profitable employment for the surplus funds they have on hand.

Bond Sales Yield Profit.

The net earnings reported by the board do not include profits of $8,900,000 realized by the banks on the sale of government bonds. This, together with other minor credits, gave the banks an additional $9,484,000 with which to meet heavy assessments. Out of their earnings the banks turned over $2,008,000 to apply on the cost of the new building in Washington to house the board of governors. An additional $2,523,000 was turned over to the retirement fund. After miscellaneous appropriations of $315,000 for other purposes there remained $12,664,000 available for special reserves, charge-offs, and dividends.

Out of the remaining surplus the banks paid dividends to their stockholders [member banks] of $7,829,000 at the statutory rate of 6 per cent.

Other Deductions Made.

Another $226,000 was turned over to the federal treasury under the amendment to the reserve act dealing with loans to industrial enterprises. Special charge-offs on bank premises took $734,000 in addition to regular depreciation and $3,418,000 went to build up reserves for contingencies. After these various distributions there remained only $457,000 to add to the surplus of the various banks.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago transferred $178,272 to surplus at the end of 1936 after providing for reserves and other charges. In the preceding year the bank transferred $584,000 to surplus. The paid in capital of the bank increased $189,750. This reflected new subscriptions by member banks necessitated by increases in capital funds or by new banks admitted to membership. The bank added $425,606 to its reserves for contingencies.

New York Bank Statement.

The statement of the New York Reserve bank showed an addition to surplus of $649,000, compared with $860,758 at the end of 1935. The bank added $411,000 to reserve for contingencies and reported a gain of $579,000 in paid-in surplus.

The reserve board reported an increase of $20,000,000 in monetary gold stocks for the week ended Wednesday, bringing the total to a new high figure of $11,271,000. Under the new "sterilization" policy the new gold did not result in any increase in gold certificate holdings of the reserve system.

Commercial loans of Chicago banks rose $6,000,000 for the week, but the New York banks showed a decline of $27,000,000. Loans of New York banks to brokers and dealers dropped $38,000,000.

NEW SEC RULES SPEED ISSUE OF ANNUAL REPORTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—Operating under authority granted by the last congress to use the securities act of 1933 as a means of keeping current financial information on the operation of companies whose securities are not fully registered on a stock exchange, the securities and exchange commission has promulgated a form for annual reports. Among other things, it ruled that the annual report must be filed not more than 120 days after the close of each fiscal year.

The ruling will apply to companies which file new securities under the 1933 act after Aug. 26 of this year. The effect of the ruling will be to cover practically every major security issue. The securities exchange act of 1934 required filing of annual reports by companies which already had securities listed on a stock exchange.

RFC Control in Continental Bank to Be Cut

Stockholders of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company at their annual meeting today are expected to ratify amendments to the bank's charter which will result in lessening the nominal control over the affairs of the institutions held by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. At the same time announcement is expected of the retirement of an additional $10,000,000 of preferred stock.

If the latter step is taken it will cut the RFC's stock interest in the institution to $35,000,000 and raise that of the common stockholders to $40,000,000. It will result in no change in the total share capitalization of $75, 0,000, which will be maintained through issuance of common stock in an amount corresponding to the preferred stock redeemed.

Plan to Limit RFC Powers.

The most important charter amendment to be voted on today is that restricting the power previously granted to the RFC to pass on the eligibility of directors and the salaries of executives. The government agency will have no power to pass on eligibility of officials or salaries unless the bank defaults on two successive semi-annual dividend payments.

Certain other changes defining the terms on which dividends are to be paid and preferred stock retirements are to be made will also be passed on.

The proposed amendments already have been approved by the controler of currency, the RFC, and the directors of the bank. Under the change the present 3 per cent dividend rate on the preferred stock will be maintained providing the bank retires a specified amount of the preferred stock each year.

First Big Bank to Act.

The Continental was the country's first large bank to sell preferred stock to the RFC. The charter revision made at that time included a number of provisions, inserted at the request of the government agency, which were not subsequently included in agreements entered into by the RFC with other banks. The proposed revision will bring the Continental's charter into line with the standard form which has since been evolved.

The new provisions dealing with dividends on preferred stock have, in effect, been in operation since Oct. 1, 1935, when the rate was cut to 3 per cent, and today's action will merely put the terms of the agreement into permanent form.

Retire Stock from Earnings.

Under its original agreement with the RFC the bank is required to put 40 per cent of its net earnings into the preferred stock retirement fund with a maximum annual limit of $2,500,000. In addition, it is required to use funds saved through the reduction in dividend rate to make additional retirements.

Furthermore, under the agreement to be ratified today, the bank will retire $500,000 additional each year up to 1940 and $1,000,000 annually thereafter as a condition of maintaining the 3 per cent dividend rate on the preferred stock as long as there is any outstanding in the hands of the RFC.

The bank already is ahead of schedule on retirements and at the current rate of earnings is expected to continue redemptions at a faster rate than required.

Cabs Carry 63 Million Without Fatal Injury

Thomas B. Hogan, president of the Yellow Cab company, announced yesterday that his company's vehicles carried 63,436,589 passengers without a fatal injury during the last four years. The cabs covered 166,948,970 miles during that period, he said.

COMMODITY PRICES RISE SHARPLY; COCOA HIGHEST SINCE 1928

Commodity prices throughout the country rose sharply yesterday, led by cocoa futures, which touched the highest levels since August, 1928. The Associated Press commodity index price set a new peak for 1936-'37 at 90.28, compared with the 1926 average of 100.

Demand by manufacturers and a scarcity of contracts lifted cocoa futures at New York 10 to 19 points, with closing prices near 12 cents a pound.

In Chicago cotton futures, along with the advance in grains and potatoes, rose 11 to 17 points. There were similar gains in other parts of the country. Gray cloths were selling in heavy quantities at rising prices. Lard futures in Chicago jumped 15 to 20 cents per 100 pounds.

In New York cottonseed oil rose 10 to 14 points, crude rubber futures gained 31 to 40 points, raw hide futures 20 to 30 points, coffee futures were 9 to 15 points higher on foreign demand. Raw silk futures advanced 1 to 1½ cents a pound. Metals firmed, with export copper at 11.95 to 12 cents a pound, up 5 points on the average. Foreign bar silver rose ½ cent to 45½ cents an ounce. Silver futures in Montreal were 40 points higher.

BANK CLEARINGS DIP IN SHORT BUSINESS WEEK

New York, Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Bank clearings in twenty-two leading cities during the five day business week ended Jan. 6 decreased 2.7 per cent to $6,538,195,000 from $6,720,840,000 a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. The dip was due in part to the fact that the 1936 period had six days' business.

Outside centers reported a gain of 3.9 per cent, clearings rising to $2,383,096,000 from $2,292,863,000 a year earlier. New York City showed a drop of 6.2 per cent in its turnover, clearings totaling $4,155,099,000, against $4,427,977,000. Clearings at Chicago totaled $342,300,000, a gain of 4.2 per cent over $328,500,000 reported last year.

Increases predominated at large centers throughout the country and most of those reporting a decline showed only minor losses. Principal gainers included Pittsburgh, 37.1 per cent; Richmond, 29.1 per cent; New Orleans, 21.6 per cent, and Dallas, 16.9 per cent.

Directors of the Metropolitan Trust company yesterday voted a 100 per cent stock dividend, raising the present capital from $200,000 to $400,000. An additional $100,000 was added to surplus. The company reported 1936 earnings of $144,360, equal to $72.18 a share against $114,340, or $57.17 a share, in the preceding year. The company also announced the election of Daniel J. Healy as trust officer. He was succeeded as secretary by William S. Dahl.

Sales Records Set by Ward and Walgreen

Walgreen company and Montgomery Ward & Co. yesterday reported the largest sales for December in the history of the companies. This reflected the general large increase in Christmas sales.

These records brought Walgreen's twelve months' sales and Ward's eleven months' [of fiscal year] sales to new high records.

Walgreen's December sales totaled $7,218,590, against $6,117,515 a year ago, up $1,101,075, or 18 per cent. The previous all-time record was established in December, 1934, when sales amounted to $6,154,934. For the twelve months of 1936 sales were $63,919,525, compared with $58,515,870, an increase of $5,403,655, or 9.2 per cent.

Ward's Gain Is Large.

Montgomery Ward reported December sales amounted to $51,789,337, compared with $39,474,902 in December, 1935, an increase of $12,314,435, or 31.20 per cent. For the 11 months ended Dec. 31 total sales were $354,366,602, against $287,593,356 in the corresponding period last year, a gain of $66,773,246, or 23.22 per cent.

Abbott Laboratories of North Chicago reported that sales during 1936, exclusive of foreign subsidiaries, were 27 per cent ahead of 1935. Net sales were $6,118,463, including all subsidiaries, in 1935 and net income for that year totaled $1,135,501.

S. H. Kress' Sales Larger.

S. H. Kress company reported December sales of $14,748,356, an increase of 6.9 per cent over 1935 when sales totaled $13,789,277. For the 12 months sales were $86,767,531, the largest in many years. They compared with $78,479,130 for the like 1935 period, an increase of 10½ per cent.

J. J. Newberry sales for December totaled $8,264,824, compared with $7,198,056 for December last year. Sales amounted to $48,372,884 in the 12 months ended Dec. 31, a rise of 11.5 per cent.

Sales of S. S. Kresge company in December were $24,350,698, against $21,551,894 in December, 1935, an increase of 12.98 per cent.

INT. HARVESTER ADAPTS HOURS TO GET U. S. ORDERS

Only slight changes will have to be put into effect by the International Harvester company's motor truck division in order to comply with the Walsh-Healy act so that the company's trucks may be sold to the government, officials said last night.

In the past, it was said, employés in the motor truck division were on a forty hour week established under the NRA code, but in order to let workers have a full forty hour week the practice was to permit averaging of hours. Now the workers go on a straight forty hour basis, with overtime paid on a basis of time and a half for work done over eight hours in one day. The same rate for overtime has been in effect since the NRA code was set up.

NEW TRADE GAIN INDICATED BY RAIL CAR NEEDS

Quarter Trafic Rise Set at 9.1 Pct.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Shippers in the territory served by the Mid-West Advisory board will use approximately 67,000 more railroad cars in the first quarter of this year than they did in the first quarter of 1936, an increase of 9.1 per cent, according to the official estimate of shippers' car needs submitted yesterday at the thirteenth annual meeting of the board at the Palmer House.

M. J. GORMLEY. [Assoc. Press Photo.]

It is estimated that 802,593 cars will be required for shippers in the territory served by the board—Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, and Wisconsin—compared with 735,569 actual loadings in the first quarter of last year, 647,911 in 1935, and 660,670 in 1934. A preliminary estimate, made last year, put the first quarter gain this year at about 10 per cent, but this was later revised downward.

Regarded as Good Barometer.

The forecasts made by the various advisory boards are regarded as among the best business barometers available. Instead of giving a record of the past, as in the case of most business reports, the shippers' boards look into the future and usually their estimates are accurate. During the last two years in eight quarterly forecasts the Mid-West board has been less than 1 per cent off in their forecasts on seven occasions. In one case it was off about 2½ per cent.

Increases in various classes during the current quarter are expected to range from 5 to 65 per cent and only in a few commodities, mostly agricultural lines, are decreases expected.

Among the estimated percentage increases are: Salt, 65 per cent; brick and clay products and fertilizers, 40 per cent; iron and steel, 30 per cent; ore and concentrates, 25 per cent; lumber, machinery, paper, paper board, and roofing, and chemicals and explosives, 15 per cent.

Consider Rail Bills.

About 300 shippers and railroad officials attended the meeting yesterday. Among the subjects brought up for discussion was proposed legislation affecting railroads, including the 6 hour day, or 30 hour week. A resolution was passed condemning such legislation on the ground that it will seriously cripple the railroads and pass on new expenses to the public without increasing the efficiency of the roads.

M. J. Gormley, executive assistant to the Association of American Railroads, urged an educational campaign to inform the public as to what the thirty hour week bill, which railroad labor is expected to push in congress this year, and other legislation, will do to transportation.

"The interstate commerce commission tells us that on the basis of trafic at the 1930 level, the thirty hour week would increase railroad operating costs $547,000,000 annually," Gormley said. "It means that every time you ship a carload of grain it will cost $15 more than it does now, and that it will add $10 to $15 to every car that is loaded. It will add nothing to efficiency or service. It is purely a make-work proposition."

SEC to Open Quiz of Chicago Corporation Next Tuesday

Those painful experiences which the managers of all boomtime investment trusts encountered during the long deflation of security prices which began in 1929 will be lived over again by officials of the Chicago corporation when they take the stand next week in Washington at the Securities and Exchange commission hearing on investment trust affairs.

CHARLES F. GLORE.

David Schenker, SEC attorney in charge of the investigation, announced yesterday in Washington that public hearings on the Chicago corporation will open Tuesday. The concern is one of a number of large investment trusts whose affairs have been publicly scrutinized by the commission in recent months.

Expect Glore to Testify.

Charles F. Glore, president of the company, and others are expected to testify. Chicago corporation is the successor of three Chicago investment companies which were organized in 1929 just in time to get in on the market collapse.

One of those was a concern of the same corporate title of the present company which was formed in February, 1929, by Field, Glore & Co., with Glore as its president. It was taken over a year later by the Continental Chicago corporation, another investment trust, which had been organized in September, 1929, by Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company interests. The latter concern was headed by Arthur Reynolds, then president of the Continental bank. In 1932 the Chicago Investors corporation was brought into the consolidation and the company assumed its present name.

Investment Shrinks Sharply.

All three of the companies incurred drastic depreciation on their investment in their earlier years. Before the merger with Chicago Investors the assets of Continental Chicago had dropped in value approximately $24,000,000 within two years after the organization of the original companies.

One of the biggest losses was taken on the common stock of the Willys-Overland company. The two original companies had purchased a total of 300,000 shares of the stock from the late John Willys at $14 a share, a total investment of $4,200,000. The automobile company subsequently was placed in receivership. The Willys-Overland deal is one of the early operations which is expected to come under the spotlight when the hearing opens in Washington.

Finance Stock Flotations.

The present directors of Chicago corporation in addition to Glore are Ralph Bard, formerly head of Chicago Investors; Harold Beacom, attorney; H. A. Behrens, E. A. Cudary Jr., James O. McKinsey, D. R. McLennan, and C. R. Messinger.

The company reported assets of approximately $31,000,000 on June 30, 1936. The original Chicago corporation began business with assets of approximately $60,000,000. Continental Chicago's initial capitalization was $65,000,000.

Chains Plan SalesCampaign by Newspaper Advertising

Retail food merchants operating chain store systems throughout the country have joined forces in a newspaper advertising campaign and an organized merchandising program to move surplus farm products, according to an announcement made yesterday by the National Association of Food Chains. Lamb and grapefruit are to be handled under a policy which contributed largely to the success of sales of domestic beef, turkeys, canned peaches, dried fruits, and other products at the request of co-operative farm groups.

STEEL WORKERS OUST MALOY, AID OF LEWIS GROUP

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 7.—(AP)—District employé representatives of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation tonight ousted Elmer J. Maloy, outspoken champion of John L. Lewis' drive to unionize the steel industry, as their chairman.

By a 25 to 11 vote—two more than the necessary two-thirds majority—the delegates from eighteen plants declared the office of chairman vacant after two days of stormy debate. Maloy continues to be a delegate, representing his plant.

The representatives will meet again tomorrow to elect a new chairman and "to consider any additional business which may come up."

Hupp Motor Approves Plan to Resume Operations

Richmond, Va., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Stockholders of the Hupp Motor Car corporation adopted a resolution today recommending adoption of a plan of recapitalization to enable the corporation "to resume active participation in the automobile industry."

STOCKS STAGE BROAD UPTURN IN HEAVY TRADE

Early Settlement of Strikes Expected.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 7.—Exhibiting the best strength that it has shown since the advent of the new year, the stock market was buoyant today as equities in every section of the list registered gains ranging from fractions to several points.

Volume rose to 3,067,670 shares, making it the busiest session since the middle of December, and closing prices were at or near their best levels of the day. Frequently the ticker lagged behind actual operations on the floor as buying orders flowed into brokerage offices at increasing speed.

Prices Strong All Day.

Strength was apparent at the opening gong and maintained with only minor setbacks throughout the session. The financial community seemed convinced that the serious labor difficulties in the automotive industry would be ended sooner than had been expected. As a result traders hastened to "beat the gun" in the belief the strike would be settled before the week-end.

While all groups of stocks took part in the advance the best showing was made by motors, steels, farm implements, utilities, and a batch of miscellaneous industrials. Also playing an important part in the upturn was covering by shorts.

After overnight study of the President's message to congress the street found it less antagonistic than usual to business. While some traders reëntered the market late yesterday many more of them came back today.

Rail Stocks Prominent.

At times railroad stocks were prominent in the rally. A number of railway executives spoke optimistically over earning prospects, and hearings were begun on the railroads' application to the interstate commerce commission for higher freight rates.

Automobile shares made wide advances. Chrysler was the bellwether of the division with a leap of nearly 4 points. General Motors responded to urgent buying and posted a plus 3 after its final quotation. Mack and Yellow Truck each gained more than 2 points. Motor accessories were strong.

Steel shares had their best day in some time. Big Steel moved ahead nearly 3 points, Bethlehem 1⅞, Youngstown 3½, Gulf States 4, and Republic 1⅝.

Public utility issues were one of the features of the market. The impressive performance of the group tended to confirm reports that long pull buying was taking place.

FORECAST NEW PEAK IN INLAND STEEL EARNINGS

Expect Income for 1936 to Exceed 1929.

Net income for 1936 of the Inland Steel company, large Chicago independent steel concern, on a basis of estimated return for the fourth quarter is expected to exceed the total for the previous banner year of 1929, according to estimates made yesterday in La Salle street. However, because of the acquisition of subsidiaries there is more common stock outstanding now than in 1929, so estimated per share earnings of about $8.01 for 1936 will be below the $9.76 per share earned in 1929.

Estimating net income for the fourth quarter of 1936 at $3,000,000, a conservative figure when compared with the second and third quarter returns, it is indicated net income for the entire year 1936 will total approximately $12,021,000. For 1929 net income was $11,712,374.

Operations at High Rate.

Operations at the company's plants were reported to be at as high a rate in the fourth quarter of the year as they were in the second and third quarters, when net income was $3,298,191 and $3,788,199, respectively.

For the first three quarters of 1936 the company had net income of $9,021,022, equal to $6.02 a share, indicating that a $3,000,000 estimate for the last quarter of the year will not be unreasonable. In the fourth quarter of 1935 net income was $2,749,309, equal to $1.91 a share.

Large Rail Orders Received.

Operations of the company currently are at a high rate, with substantial orders being received from the railroad industry.

Subsidiaries acquired by Inland Steel since 1929 include Joseph T. Ryerson & Son, Inc., distributing and warehousing company, and the Milcor Steel company, Milwaukee.

Final 1936 earnings figures of the company are expected to be affected to a minor degree by adjustments.

STRENGTH IN GRAINS HELPS LARD PRICES TO ADVANCE

Commission house buying of lard futures yesterday was stimulated by the strength in grains, and while packing interests were free sellers to hedge cash product, the close was at net gains of 15 to 20 cents. Deliveries on January contracts aggregated 500,000 pounds of lard and 120,000 pounds of clear bellies. Shipping demand for cash lard was again reported slow. Clear bellies [salt pork] closed 12½ to 17½ cents higher.

Despite the limited export demand for lard so far this season, cash lard closed yesterday at $14 per 100 pounds, compared with an average price of $10.35 for live hogs. A year ago cash lard was $11.05 and hogs $9.85 per 100 pounds. Loose lard yesterday was quoted at $13.25; leaf, $13, and clear bellies at $16.40 per 100 pounds. Prices follow:

POTATO FUTURES TRADING REACHES ALL-TIME PEAK

Prices Dip After Spurt, but Close Higher.

A new all-time record for trading in Idaho potato futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange was established yesterday. Prices rocketed early in the day but backed down to close only a few cents higher than Wednesday's close as many traders took profits and sold heavily.

The picture of the market is complicated for the average individual inasmuch as trading is done in two different futures contracts for delivery in March. "Old March" contracts call for U. S. grade No. 1A, which is a potato of approximately the same quality but smaller than the jumbo called for in "New March" contracts for U. S. extra No. 1.

Price Up 61 Cents in Week.

Old March contracts soared to a high of $4.23 per 100 pounds, but closed at $4, a net gain of 3 cents for the day. At the top, prices had rocketed 61 cents within a week.

Other Idaho potato futures closed from 8 cents higher to 2 cents lower, the latter being for "new March" contracts which ended at $3.73 per 100 pounds.

Spot trading was done between $3.20 and $3.40 per 100 pounds, compared with $2.90 a week ago.

The price spurt and heavy trading was attributed to good consumer demand and reports of cold weather in the west, with Idaho farmers asking relatively high prices for the unsold portion of the 1936 crop.

As a result of the advance, some commission houses raised their margin requirements yesterday to $150 per car, compared with $100 normally.

Butter and Eggs Active.

Trading in butter and egg futures was fairly active with the former closing ⅛ cent lower to ½ cent higher while eggs were ⅛ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher. January butter closed at 33⅛ cents a pound and eggs at 22¾ cents a dozen. Sales of butter futures aggregated 114 cars and of eggs, 142 cars. Deliveries of 25 cars butter, 15 cars eggs, and 32 cars of potatoes were made on January contracts. Prices follow:

PLAN TO EXTEND RFC, ROOSEVELT DOLLAR CONTROL

New Legislation Mapped by Congress Leaders.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—Legislation to extend for two years the lending functions of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and its agencies, and the President's power to maintain the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund and alter the gold content of the dollar was agreed upon at a conference of treasury officials and congressional leaders today.

The provisions of the act of 1932 under which government obligations may be used as collateral for the issuance of federal reserve notes also will be extended for two years, Senate Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson announced. Three different measures covering these subjects will be introduced in both houses prior to Jan. 31, when the RFC lending functions and the President's stabilization and devaluation powers expire, Robinson said.

Robinson Explains Measures.

"In one bill will be embraced the extension of the RFC and its agencies, the Commodity Credit corporation, the Export-Import bank and the RFC mortgage corporation," he added.

Robinson said this measure probably would carry a clause giving the President power to issue proclamations discontinuing the activities of the lending agencies "if he finds at any time that sufficient private credit is available."

It was suggested to Senator Robinson that private credit, to an unprecedented extent, is already available and he was asked why the administration deemed it necessary to extend RFC and its lending agencies for two years.

"They want to be continued and it is felt that it is advantageous to continue them for the present," he said.

Asked if all the lending powers of the RFC would be continued, Senator Robinson said they would be.

Besides Robinson, the conference was attended by House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn; Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau; Herman Oliphant, treasury counsel; Daniel W. Bell, acting director of the budget; Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board; William B. Bankhead, speaker of the house; Robert L. Doughton, chairman of the house ways and means committee. Senator Pat Harrison, chairman of the senate finance, and other congressional leaders.

TENNESSEE PAPERS, ONCE CONTROLED BY LEA, SOLD TO DAVIS

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 7—[Special.]—The two year fight for control of the Nashville Tennessean and its afternoon edition, the Evening Tennessean, once published by Col. Luke Lea, former United States senator from Tennessee, ended in front of Davidson county's temporary courthouse today, when they were sold under the hammer to Paul M. Davis, Nashville banker and brother of Ambassador Norman H. Davis, for $850,000.

The sale is subject to confirmation by United States District Judge John J. Gore, under whose orders it was held. Davis made the only bid, doubling the upset bid of $400,000 which he made when the sale first was ordered. He offered $800,000 for the properties, franchises and good will of the Tennessee Publishing company, former publisher of the Nashville newspapers, prior to the receivership under which the company has operated since March 3, 1933. He also bid $50,000 for the properties and accounts receivable acquired since the receivership.

Since March 3, 1933, the Nashville papers have been operated under Lit J. Pardue, a receiver appointed by the federal court. Davis first came into the picture when he obtained $250,000 of the publishing company's bonds from the RFC in a transaction which attracted nation-wide attention.

A. T. & T. DEFENDS TOLL SYSTEM AS TIME SAVER

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—(AP)—A contention by a communications commission engineer today that the American Telephone and Telegraph toll line system was "overbuilt," brought a company reply that the network was necessary to speed long distance telephone connections.

Cyrus G. Hill, federal communication engineer, testified at a commission hearing that 25 per cent of the $433,000,000 book value of the company's long line department "would remain permanently idle, even after making general allowances for future growth."

Company officials, who have not been called to the stand, told reporters that expansion of toll facilities has reduced the average time for making a long distance connection from 3.9 minutes in 1929 to 1.9 minutes last year.

SECURITY LAW IS ATTACKED BY FIRM IN BOSTON

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—(AP)—A Boston firm launched a twofold attack in the Supreme court today on the federal social security act and the Massachusetts unemployment insurance law.

Howes Brothers company contended that the state law was ineffective because the federal statute, which it supplements, was unconstitutional.

It appealed from a ruling by the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial court in Suffolk county, which held the federal act did not violate the constitutional rights of the petitioners.

Whether the Supreme court will review the controversy will be announced in a few weeks.

General Household Plans Big Advertising Increase

General Household Utilities company in 1937 will spend from 25 to 50 per cent more on advertising than in 1936, dealers and distributors, holding a two-day meeting at the Stevens hotel, were told yesterday. Approximately 1,500 newspapers will be used in addition to other advertising means.

Two Banks Re-elect All Directors and Officers

Officers of the East Side Trust and Savings bank, 10101 Ewing avenue, were reëlected last night at the annual meeting of the directors who were reëlected earlier by the stockholders. Directors and officers of the Wilmette State bank also were reëlected.

NAVY IS FORCED TO BUY COPPER IN OPEN MARKET

Producers Twice Refuse to File Bids.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Forced by the reluctance of copper producers to reply to advertisments for bids, the navy department during the last two days has bought two lots of copper of 200,000 pounds each on the open market.

The first order was placed yesterday with the Kennecott Sales corporation of New York City at 12.175 cents a pound, and the second order was placed through the Calument and Hecla Consolidated Copper company of Boston at 12.205 cents a pound. Half the purchased metal will be delivered to the Washington navy yard, and the remainder to the Portsmouth navy yard at Portsmouth, N. H., the navy department said today. The consignment will be sufficient to keep the yard here supplied for thirty days.

Fails Twice in Month.

Twice during the last month navy officials have advertised for bids for 2,600,000 pounds of copper, but on each occasion no bids were filed. Naval officers refused to attribute the lack of bids to operation of the Walsh-Healey act, which requires that prevailing wages be paid to workers on government contracts in excess of $10,000, and also that other stringent labor conditions be carried out by the contractor. Officials who discussed the situation appeared to believe that the commercial demand for copper was responsible for the failure of the producers to offer bids on navy requirements.

Under the terms of the law government departments, "in an emergency," can make necessary purchases of materials without the seller complying with the provisions of the act. It was under this provision that the copper purchases were made.

COMPANIES' SHARES RISE.

Shares of companies dealing in copper and copper products were strong yesterday. Gains were attributed to the steady increases in copper prices, largely influenced by European purchases of the metal for armament purposes.

Among the shares to show substantial gains in New York today were: Anaconda, up 1⅝ to close at 54⅝; Anaconda Wire and Cable, 3½ at 93½; Calumet and Hecla, ½ at 16⅜; Cerro de Pasco, 1 at 73½; American Smelting, 3⅛ at 96⅝, and Kennecott, up 1⅛ at 62¼.

GRAINS RESUME UPWARD TREND AS EUROPE BUYS

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Wednes.	Wk.ago.	Mo.ago.
Wheat	$1.33⅝	$1.31¾	$1.35¼	$1.24
Corn	1.10⅛	1.09¼	1.08¾	1.03⅝
Oats	.53½	.52⅝	.51⅞	.49
Rye	1.14	1.12¾	1.15⅝	.99⅝
Soy beans	1.60⅝	1.57¼	1.55¼	1.45

Grain markets yesterday resumed the upward movement which was interrupted earlier in the week by heavy profit taking sales. May oats advanced more than a cent a bushel to a top of 53¾ cents and May soy beans rose to an extreme of $1.61 to a new high level for the season.

Closing trades in all pits were within fractions of a cent of the best prices of the day with wheat gaining 1⅜ to 1⅞ cents a bushel. Corn, oats and rye gained a cent or more. Soy beans were as much as 3 cents a bushel higher.

Resumption of aggressive buying of cash wheat by European countries for the first time since the holidays furnished the basis for increased activity and sharply higher prices for that grain.

Italy Buys Argentine Wheat.

Italy was reported to have purchased 500,000 bushels of Argentine wheat, while the United Kingdom was said to have taken more than 750,000 bushels of southern hemisphere grain. In addition, there were sales to the continent but the amounts were not given.

A drastic slash in import duties on wheat, rye, and other grains into Germany, came as a surprise to the grain trade, but failed to have much effect on the market, as there was no evidence of aggressive buying by that country.

Liverpool wheat futures reflected the reëntrance of Italy as a buyer of grain in the world market by advancing as much as 3 cents a bushel. Winnipeg was up as much as 2 cents.

Reports of sleet storms in Kansas, where the new winter wheat will be materially benefited by the additional moisture, tended to increase pressure on the July and September deliveries. At the close yesterday May wheat on the Chicago Board of Trade was 4⅛ cents a bushel under the high point of the season established on Dec. 28.

Corn and Oats Strong.

Corn and oats markets showed a strong undertone from the start, and bullish sentiment in the former was increased by reports indicating there is a very small territory from which it is possible to draw supplies of cash corn. Missouri river markets were reported to be outbidding Chicago in central Illinois.

Veteran traders said yesterday that the movement of cash corn westward is probably the heaviest since 1894, when the crop west of the Missouri river was extremely small. A similar situation prevails this season.

Buying of oats futures was said to be based on the belief that the grain is selling too low in comparison with corn and other feedstuffs. No. 1 white oats in the sample market sold at 57½ cents a bushel, a new high for the season. Only three times in the last 16 years has a higher price been quoted in Chicago during January.

CHICAGO, BURLINGTON & QUINCY RAILROAD COMPANY REQUEST FOR BIDS.

Pursuant to regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company hereby requests bids for purchase of $7,080,000 par value equipment trust certificates, to be known as Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Equipment Trust, Series B 2% Serial Certificates, to be issued by The First National Bank of the City of New York, Trustee under a proposed Equipment Trust Agreement and Lease, dated as of December 1, 1936, such certificates to mature in equal annual instalments from December 1, 1937, to December 1, 1951, inclusive, and dividend warrants thereon to be payable semi-annually on the first days of June and December in each year. Such certificates and the dividends thereon will be unconditionally guaranteed by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company.

The equipment to be covered by said Equipment Trust Agreement and Lease will be 10 steam locomotives, 3250 freight cars and 300 refrigerator cars, all of which will be new standard gauge equipment, consisting of unused material except in the case of certain classes of cars, steel ends, axles and door locks from retired cars. The inclusion of such used material is permitted under the interchange rules of the Association of American Railroads defining a new car and the value thereof is properly chargeable to investment account under the rules of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Each bid must state the name and address of the bidder and, if a corporation, the names and addresses of its officers, directors and general manager and purchasing or selling officer or agent in this transaction, and if a firm, partnership or association, the names and addresses of each member and of the manager and purchasing or selling officer or agent in this transaction. Each bid must be enclosed in a plain envelope securely sealed, bearing no indication of the name of the bidder or the amount of the bid, and shall be marked: "Bid under proposed Contract No. 30," and addressed to C. I. Sturgis, Vice-President, of the undersigned at Room 1601, No. 2 Wall Street, The City of New York. Bids must be filed before noon [Eastern Standard Time] on the 25th day of January, 1937, at the above office of the undersigned. Bids will be opened at 12:30 P. M. [Eastern Standard Time] on the 25th day of January, 1937, by N. Terhune or N. Stockhammer, designated for that purpose and notice of acceptance of the successful bidder will be sent on January 26, 1937.

Persons desiring to bid may obtain form of bid and may examine detailed description of equipment and other papers, including the proposed Equipment Trust Agreement and the Lease and proposed Purchase Contract No. 30, copies of which are on file at the principal office of the Railroad Company, No. 547 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois, and at the office of the Railroad Company, Room 1601, No. 2 Wall Street, The City of New York.

Bids for only a part of the issue will not be accepted and the Railroad Company reserves the right to reject any and all bids. A certified check, payable to the Chicago Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company in New York funds, for 2% of the par amount of the Equipment Trust Certificates must be furnished with each bid, such checks to be returned except to the successful bidder, in whose case it will be applied on the purchase price. The successful bidder will be required within ten [10] days after receipt of notice of the acceptance of his or its bid to enter into and execute the proposed Purchase Contract No. 30, and all bids are subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Dated January 4, 1937.

— — — NORTH SHORE MEN! — — —

The men whom I employed in 1934, '35 and '36 were men who had living standards requiring from $50 to $80 a week. Such men are dependable workers and embrace an age range from 28 to 45 years. Our company is financially very strong, and our 1937 program of North Shore expansion in this electric unit field calls for a few more men of the right type interested in high percentage earnings. I shall be here to interview you at 10 a. m. or 2 p. m., and no other time—Friday, Jan. 8, Room 201 [2d floor], at 905 Chicago-avenue, Evanston, just north of Main-street.

HOW YOU CAN BORROW.
1. If you can make monthly payments you can qualify for a loan.
2. You do not need co-makers or endorsers.
3. No inquiries made of employer or friends.

HOW YOU CAN REPAY.
1. Payments on all loans are small. For example payments on a $200 loan are $10 per month plus interest charges on a 20 month schedule.
2. Monthly rate is 2% on the balance above $100, 3% on $100 or less. This is substantially less than the lawful maximum on loans over $100.

LIQUIDATING $140,000 STOCK OF FINE USED CARS!

STUDEBAKER

SALES COMPANY OF CHICAGO, is overloaded with the largest array of nearly new and slightly used cars in their history! The Boss has given orders to liquidate the entire stock at give-away prices—and he has authorized this sensational arrangement—

FREE CARRYING CHARGES PLUS FREE INSURANCE AND NO INTEREST TO PAY

over an 8 month period if you buy on time payments. This is only made possible because Studebaker has its own finance dept. and handles its own paper.

ALSO THIS AMAZING OFFER

Any car purchased at this sale can be driven up to April 1st, 1937. If you are not convinced by then that the car you bought was a REAL BARGAIN, or if for any other reason you are dissatisfied—you can return the car (providing it is in the same condition as when purchased), and have the entire price you paid apply on the purchase of any new model 1937 Studebaker automobile.

L-O-O-K!

over 300 cars to choose from—It's Chicago's biggest selection. Many of these are recent models, practically all have been renewed and will give you new car satisfaction today. All popular makes.

$1,000 CARS LOW AS $785.
$600 CARS LOW AS $445.
$400 CARS LOW AS $265.
$200 CARS LOW AS $125.
$100 CARS LOW AS $35.

YOUR OLD CAR will be liberally appraised and may make the entire down payment.

Dr. Frank Ousted by Wisconsin Regents—Violence Flares in Auto Strike—Dutch Princess Is Married

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

SIT DOWN STRIKERS ENTERTAIN SELVES WITH MUSIC—Group occupying Fisher body plant No. 1 in Flint, Mich., in defiance of injunction as they whiled away the hours in song and instrumental music. Flint was the center of the strike crisis yesterday as violence developed and six persons were injured. (Story on page 1.)

[Associated Press Radiophoto.]

ACTING HEAD—Dean George C. Sellery, named to office of President Glenn Frank. (Story on page 1.)

FORMER MINISTER WHO IS LEADING STRIKERS—Camera studies of Homer Martin, head of the United Auto Workers of America, as he appears in Detroit directing union battles. Born near Marion, Ill., he was a college athlete before entering Baptist ministry. (Story on page 1.)

[Associated Press Radiophoto.]

MURKY WINTER DAY IN CHICAGO—Looking south across the Wabash avenue bridge with the Pure Oil building looming out of fog and smoke which settled over downtown area. Forecast for today is more of the same.

ABEL DAVIS DIES AFTER TWO YEARS' ILLNESS—The chairman of the board of the Chicago Title and Trust company, a soldier in two wars, and leader in many of city's affairs, died last night. He was 58 years old.

CECILE READY FOR AN ORDEAL—One of the famous Dionne quintuplets with Dr. Dafoe at home in Ontario as the doctor supervises cleaning and examination of teeth, a regular procedure.

[World Copyright: 1937: NEA Service, Inc.]

"SEE, IT DOESN'T HURT"—Emilie Dionne isn't so sure she likes the instrument Dr. W. G. Thompson, dentist from Toronto, is going to use in teeth cleaning. Nurse Noel lends steadying influence to the situation.

[World Copyright: 1937: NEA Service, Inc.]

"NOW THIS WILL BE FUN"—That's the word from Dr. Dafoe to Yvonne of the Dionnes as he sets about the business of the teeth. Yvonne likes the buzzing sound made by the instrument in hands of doctor.
